Dear Sirs:

Please change my address from Lakeview, Oregon, to 2254 N.W. Glisan street, Portland. Dear Alumni Secretary:

Your letter and the OLD OREGONS were most gratefully received just a short time before we left Africa. But in all the rush of leaving they didn't get acknowledged. So I thought it was very kind of you to write again.

I wish I did have time to give you an account of our three years in Northern Rhodesia, it was an interesting experience. But I'm soon to be on the move again so will have to postpone it awhile.

We are home on six months leave and it is still uncertain as to our returning. We came home by way of Australia where we spent some time and liked all we saw, New Zealand, Fiji, Samoa, and Hawaii. It took us just two months from Nkana to Los Angeles. If we return we plan to go from New York to Cape Town.

If we do decide to go to some other far off place I will let you know.

I can always be reached at my home address here in Portland, which you will please note is changed.

Sincerely yours,

MRS. W. ARTHUR WALL,

I received your letter today. Thank you for writing. As far as news notes about me—I started my nursing education in June 1935, following three and a half years majoring in mathematics at WSC. I have almost a year left in training here in the hospital, so I will enjoy receiving OLD OREGON here.

The cover picture is furnished through the courtesy of "Duck Dope", the new guidebook put out this fall for the use of sports editors and writers in their accounts of the Oregon team. The cover is a copy of the Eugene REGISTER-GUARD following Oregon's triumph over Stanford last fall.

The material about the 1938 varsity to be found in the sports section of OLD OREGON was also furnished through the courtesy of "Duck Dope."

Bruce Hamby, '34, sports writer for the Oregon athletic department, has announced that he will publish this guidebook at the beginning of each term. "Duck Dope" was chosen as a temporary name, and Hamby has offered a pair of grandstand tickets for the Homecoming game to the alumnus who sends him the best name for his magazine.

"It must be short, snappy and printable," Hamby said. "Just have them send their suggestions to me, McArthur Court, Eugene, and the best one will get the guy a pair of tickets to see "Tex" Oliver's boys play Idaho in Eugene on November 5."

Dear Mr. Fansett:

In accordance with your request, I am returning the questionnaire and consider it a small price to pay for the pleasure which I will receive from OLD OREGON during the coming year.

During the past year I have been attending New York university, and last week I completed requirements for an M. S. degree in retailing. During the year Elaine Comish ('37) kindly shared her copy of OLD OREGON with me, and I feel like an old timer instead of a member of the class of '37. Consequently I shall boldly voice my criticism: OLD OREGON isn't published often enough!

Washington? California? Southern California?

Any one of these three teams may, and probably will, finish on top of the 1938 Pacific coast conference football race. To me these are the standouts with the remainder of the teams in a darkhorse grouping.

California, the defending champion, lost a number of great players through graduation. To mention a few, Sam Chapman, John Meek, Bob Herwig, Vard Stockton and Perry Schwartz, all accorded all-American ratings.

To offset this, however, consider the fact that in numerous games California outplayed opponents with its second, and even third string teams. Coach Stub Allison must have something there to replace his missing stars. Tab the Bears as a strong possibility to repeat.

Coach Jim Phelan has perhaps the finest material since coming to Washington. His losses through graduation were slight and more than offset by talented recruits from a great 1937 freshman squad.

Phelan's biggest problem apparently will be to sift through his material for the strongest possible lineup. Veteran backfield men, of whom there are plenty, are likely to find it difficult to ward off the challenges of such sophomores as Rudy Mucha, a 215 pound piledriver who may be a sensation in his first season.

Southern California must be placed in a contending role if for no other reason than because the Trojans seem to be once again on the up-grade. Howard Jones has the material to keep the Warhorse rolling, with big, versatile backfield men and plenty of 200-pound plus linemen.

I mentioned that the rest of the field could be grouped in a single darkhorse category. Except for Oregon State, which may not be quite as strong as in 1937, the other teams appear strengthened this fall.

Stanford claims the finest backfield material in many seasons; the Indians should be a strong offensive threat with plenty of speed and power available.

U.C.L.A. has Kenny Washington back again, which spells trouble for opponents. The strong-armed tosser will have plenty of help from a likely looking group of backs.

Coach Babe Hollingbery, with seventeen lettermen on hand, looks for a successful season. The Cougars are well supplied with husky linemen and a well-balanced mixture of veteran and sophomore backs.

Joe Gray is gone from Oregon State's lineup and that may prove a handicap to Coach Lon Stiner, who will try to replace his ace-passer from a promising group of transfers. The Beavers should have an exceptionally strong forward wall.

It will be interesting to watch Oregon, which will enter the 1938 campaign with virtually the same material as last year but under a new coaching set-up.

Humanities Buildings Receives Government OK

The fourth new building in two years became a reality for the University of Oregon when confirmation was received from Washington, D. C., on August 18, that the PWA had approved a grant of $54,000 and a loan of $66,000 to construct and equip a three-story Humanities building.

The Humanities building will be another step in the completion of the long-planned University mall with the new library at the head and sides formed by the Murray-Warner museum, Condon hall and the new Humanities building. Tentative site of the new building is between the Murray-Warner museum and 13th street directly across the path from Condon hall. The new building is tentatively planned to be in exact architectural conformity with Condon hall.

Ground floor of the new building will be given over to the University Cooperative bookstore. The $66,000 loan will be partially retired with revenue from the rent paid by the Cooperative store. The second floor will be used for lecture rooms, offices, and literature and English classrooms. The third floor will be turned over into a specially designed home economics laboratory. There will be a complete suite of rooms, including bedrooms, kitchens, and bath. This will be used for practical demonstration work in home economics.

Construction will probably start within three months. Official proffer of the grant and loan from the PWA is expected by September 1. Construction must start within eight weeks of the date the project is offered.

This picture of Condon hall will give the reader an idea of the architectural design contemplated for the new Humanities building which will rise on the Oregon campus during this fall. The building is made possible through a WPA grant of $44,000 and a loan of $66,000.

Honolulu Alumni Meet, Organize

The first meeting of the University of Oregon Alumni in Honolulu was held May 23, 1938 at the Oahu Country club. The dinner was scheduled for 6:30 in the evening but as is usual in Hawaii did not begin until sometime later.

Acting as chairman, our organizer, Mr. Clifford Lord, ex-'34, welcomed everyone and then started the evening off by asking Mr. Eddie Vail, '37, to lead us in a yell for the Alma Mater in the true Oregon manner.

There being about 50 or 60 present Mr. Lord asked each one to introduce himself. Classes from 1913 to 1937 were represented.

During dinner we were entertained by two hulas from Marshall Wright, '34, and Wilfred Paul, ex-'35, and Bill Sievers, '32, sang one or two numbers. We also had a group of Hawaiian entertainers who played and sang during dinner.

Immediately after dinner Acting Chairman Lord called for a more serious business meeting. Suggestions as to officers and the purposes of the organization were asked for. Several discussions followed. Mr. Lord appointed Marshall Wright as chairman of an executive committee which will meet at a later date and nominate those persons for the offices of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

The general opinion of those who had offered suggestions was that the association should try to build up interest in the University of Oregon in Honolulu and in the different high schools throughout the territory. We should also stimulate the interest and possibility of athletic teams coming down here for games. Another suggestion that was made was that the future officers should be elected from the younger group since the others had most of their time taken up with their own businesses and also since so many of them have just recently returned from college and know more of what is going on at the University.

After more discussions the meeting was adjourned and the rest of the evening was left for dancing. Music by the Hawaiian troupe was arranged for by Mr. Dick McGuire.

This first meeting was a success and we expect even more to be present at the next one.

Respectfully submitted,
MARJORIE NOTTAGE, ex-'37,
Acting Secretary.

Executive Meeting

June 2, 1938.

At the request of Marshall Wright, chairman of the executive committee, the following people met June 2, 1938, at the home of Sandy Platt, '33, to nominate officers and to decide upon plans for the Honolulu Oregon Alumni Association:

Marshall Wright, '34, Chairman
Hal Lundberg
Commander Martin, '13
Mildred Bailey Mack, '28
Clifford Lord, '34
Myrtle Tobey, '17
Sy Cook, '36

Two other members of the committee, Marjorie Nottage and Chuck Stockwell, '27, were unable to be present.

The meeting was called to order at 8 p.m. by Marshall Wright, chairman.

In order to place the new Oregon Association in a position to function definitely and effectively it was suggested by the chairman that the question of yearly dues, number of meetings a year, and kind of meetings be discussed.

Several suggestions were made concerning the amount each person should be taxed annually. A motion was made by Mr. Platt and seconded that the dues of the Honolulu Oregon Alumni Association be $1.50 a year per person.

Discussion followed. It was agreed that $1.50 per person annually would take care of expenses which might arise such as stationery, letter-heads, stamps, etc.

The motion was carried.

A motion was made and seconded that the committee go on record as favoring three meetings a year and if other meetings are necessary, they may be called at any other time of the year at the discretion of the executive committee—the three favored times being:

1. A day in November on the day of the Oregon-Oregon State game—luncheon and broadcast.

2. A day in August previous to the going away of students to college—in the interest of students entering U. of O.

3. A day in the latter part of May during Oregon class reunion time.

The motion was carried.

Numerous suggestions were made for get-togethers, one being that the U. of O. girls might wish to have a luncheon or an afternoon meeting—this to be decided by the girls themselves at the next general meeting.

Several suggestions were made for a meeting place for groups of men to have lunch and chat. Commander Martin made a motion that a weekly meeting between 12 and 1 o'clock be held for luncheon at the Blaisdell at a table set aside for male members of U. of O. The motion was seconded and carried.

It was proposed that the men have a stag party once a year. The suggestion was not favored by the majority of the men present, so was not included in a motion.

It was suggested that information be secured that would enable us to learn of the living quarters of U. of O. graduates who are in the army or navy. Commander Martin offered to keep us informed about navy members.

There being no further questions for discussion, the chairman opened the meeting for nomination of officers for the coming year.

Marshall Wright, '34, was suggested for president.

The motion was made and seconded that the secretary be instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Marshall Wright as president.

Motion carried.

The motion was made and seconded that a unanimous ballot be cast for Jessie Restarick, '16, as vice-president.

Motion carried.

The motion was made and seconded that a unanimous ballot be cast for Sandy Platt, '33, as treasurer.

Motion carried.

The motion was made and seconded that a unanimous ballot be cast for Marjorie Nottage, ex-'37, as secretary.

Motion carried.

Clifford Lord offered his help to either the secretary or the treasurer, whenever assistance is needed.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Myrtle G. Tobey, Sec'y Pro-tem.

Riehl Held as Spy

Arthur Riehl, '32, who has spent the last 15 months in Europe as the Ion Lewis traveling scholar, recently spent three weeks in Nazi jails because he didn't follow the "straight and narrow." Because he went off the beaten tourist paths and happened to strike up an acquaintance with several young German airplane workers, the Nazi secret police suspected that Riehl was a spy trying to obtain military information from the two young men who had been traveling by bicycle with Riehl.

When arrested at Stuttgart, several hundred miles from Lubeck, the Nazi secret police refused to accept his American passport or to allow him to communicate with the American consul. Most annoying part of the whole affair was the fact that Riehl was forced to pay for his "board and room" for the three weeks he was under surveillance and was taken from one end of Germany to the other to stand trial on 14 counts of high treason.

These three girls: Nisma Banta, Prineville (left), Elizabeth Jane Gregg, Amity, and Joanne Amspoker, Eugene, have been named recipients of the Oregon Mothers' scholarship for this year. The three girls will be enabled to remain in the University for at least a year. Miss Gregg is the daughter of Carl F. Gregg, '22, and Frances Shoemaker Gregg, '17. Miss Amspoker is the daughter of Walter T. Amspoker, '18, and Adah McMURPHEY Amspoker, '20.

Riehl told reporters in New York that when he was released and had asked for a refund of his "board and room" money that he was told, "that I had an opportunity to see the country and that I should be satisfied with that."

Riehl's young German acquaintances were sentenced to prison for respective terms of nine and six months for "associating with an American." "If I were ever to return to Germany, and I do not intend to do so, I would take care to stick to the straight and narrow tourist trails. There's no place there for a visitor who wants to deviate from the regular routine."

After leaving the University, where he earned a part of his way through college by refereeing professional wrestling matches, Riehl went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on a scholarship. After attending MIT for a while he received the Ion Lewis traveling fellowship from the University. This fellowship is worth approximately $1200 and is awarded from a trust fund established by the late Ion Lewis of Portland to be awarded to some graduate of the school of architecture whenever a sufficient amount accrues.

Riehl is at present living in New York City.

Cressman Explores Cave

Dr. L. S. Cressman and his anthropological group from the University have been spending the summer in the arid regions of the Fort Lake country of northern Lake county in eastern Oregon. In an isolated cave in this section, the party came across a thick layer of pumice which has been hiding numerous obsidian artifacts, moccasins of bark, and the cracked bones of animals.

Discovery of these is evidence of Indian habitation before the great eruption that formed Newberry calders and Crater lake. The condition of the moccasins would indicate that a fire had swept the cavern at some time.

Dr. Howel Williams, University of California and Carnegie institute geologist was brought to examine the important finds. Both Dr. Williams and Dr. Cressman said that their studies had not yet been complete enough to give definite conclusions. Dr. Cressman has indicated that it is possible that the cave was the home of Indians when the Fort Rock valley was a lake.

Ticket Applications

Into the mails this past week went some 12,000 ticket applications sent to Oregon alumni throughout Oregon, Washington and northern California.

Through cooperation of the athletic department and the Alumni Association, members of the Alumni Association are given seating preferences at all home games. Paid-up members receive the first choice of seats, then the un-paid members. In order to insure getting the best available seats, unpaid members may enclose $2.00 membership dues with their ticket orders.

Oregon's home games this fall are with U.C.L.A. and Idaho (Homecoming) at Eugene and with Southern California and Washington at Portland.

Ticket orders also will be taken for the Oregon-Oregon State game at Portland. This is Oregon State's home game, however, and Oregon alumni can be insured only the best of those seats made available.

1938 NYA Grant Totals $32,500

Funds totalling $32,500, have been allotted to the University of Oregon for the school year of 1938-1939 to provide employment for students under the National Youth Administration. The allotment is an increase of $4,000 of the grant of the past year.

According to Dean Karl W. Onthank, who is in charge of this phase of student employment, it will enable the University to give work to approximately 350 students throughout the year. NYA aid to the individual students amounts to about $100 during the year—the increase will enable 40 more students to go on the list.

Applications for NYA jobs have already been mailed and are being accepted at the office of the dean of personnel. Students in need of this assistance are urged to contact this office immediately.

Judge Templeton Dies

Judge Donald T. Templeton, B.S. '28, J. D. '29, died in Tillamook on July 26 following an emergency appendectomy. Judge Templeton was on a vacation fishing trip in Tillamook county when he was stricken with acute appendicitis. An emergency operation was performed in Tillamook the night of the attack.

Judge Templeton was appointed county judge for Washington County on May 7, 1931, at the age of 27—one of the youngest men ever named to that office in Oregon. He was selected by the late Governor Julius Meier to fill the office left vacant by the death of the former judge. He was elected to succeed himself in November, 1932, for the six-year term. He had announced that he would not seek re-election but would return to private practise at the end of his present term.

Judge Templeton will be succeeded by his wife, the former Elizabeth Shipley, ex-'32. Mrs. Templeton will serve until January, 1939. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Savage Promoted

Word has been received on the University of Oregon campus that Carlton Savage, '21, has been named to a new position of trust and responsibility with the department of state. The press release from the state department reads:

"Mr. Carlton Savage, formerly the Assistant Historical Adviser, is designated Assistant to the Counselor of the Department of State. In this capacity, he will be charged with the performance of research studies in matters relating to the formulation and execution of the foreign policies of the government falling within the jurisdiction of the office of the Counselor; with providing the Secretary of State and the Counselor with information pertaining to particular aspects of current international questions; with matters pertaining to certain historical and Constitutional questions and the ascertainment of Presidential electors; and with assisting the Counselor, generally, in the work of his office."

In 1935 Mr. Savage wrote the book entitled "The Policy of the United States Toward Maritime Commerce in War." Mr. Savage has spent a great many years compiling material for a diplomatic history of the World War for the research department of state. When on the campus, Savage was president of the student body during his senior year.

Loan Funds 'Big Business

A healthy banking business with a record for both amount and collections,

The "old libe" has been completely reconditioned and refurnished to house the University of Oregon law school. The remodeled structure will be named Fenton hall. Below is a scene of one of the study levels where law students will "cram" with all the comforts of indirect-lighting and modern air-conditioning. The library has been named the Kenneth Lucas Memorial Law Library was done during the past year by the student loan division, Dean Virgil D. Earl reports.

Don Belding, '19, has been named vice-president of Lord and Thomas, national advertising agency. Mr. Belding will have headquarters in Chicago. He was president of the University of Oregon alumni group in Los Angeles during 1930.

During the year a total of 3309 loans amounting to $84,556, were made to students. Of these, 161, amounting to $20,161, were long time loans, while $64,395, was loaned in 3130 short-time or emergency loan grants.

Less than one per cent of the total amount loaned since the fund was started has ever been in default so that legal means of collection were necessary.

All long-time loans are made to students who need funds to enter and remain in the University, while short-time or emergency loans are made to enable them to pay fees without penalty, pay board and other bills when due, or to tide them over until "pay day" of their part-time jobs.

Charles Yoshii

Once again a University of Oregon graduate has made an outstanding name for himself in his native country. Word has just been received from Tokyo, Japan, of the achievements of Charles Yoshii, class of 1931, better known to his many friends as "Chuc."

At the present time Mr. Yoshii is associated with the Japanese Broadcasting Corporation in the official capacity of Chief Senior Announcer of the International Radio Section. (In fact whenever you hear an English announcer from Japan you are listening to Charles Yoshii.) Mr. Yoshii has continued to carry on the University of Oregon's fine record in the Orient which has been so magnificently established by Mr. Yosuke Matsuoka, Oregon 1900, whose reputation has now become world renowned.

Upon graduation from the University Mr. Yoshii embarked for Japan and immediately enrolled in the Tokyo

Imperial University as a graduate student in order to prepare himself for his future duties. After months of diligent study he entered into his present work and has made a remarkable success. Recently the largest Japanese newspaper, "The Tokyo Nichi Nichi" wrote an extensive article praising Mr. Yoshii's fine work and attached to him the name of "Japan's Radio Spokesman." "It is imperative that a man speaking for the Japanese nation to the English speaking world have the perfect understanding and command of the English language and country of which Mr. Yoshii so possesses."

In a recent letter to the United States Mr. Yoshii recalls the many pleasant memories of the University and says he hopes to revisit the old scenes and also bring his new wife, the former Hideko Yoshiwawa, and introduce her to those scenes so dear to him. Mr. Yoshii writes that while his wife cannot speak English he knows she will like Oregon. Mr. Yoshii also stated he receives considerable good natured "kidding" from his colleagues about the University of Oregon's English department and they tell him he should import English professors from the campus to teach the Japanese English as is spoken by Mr. Matsuoka and Mr. Yoshii.

Mr. Yoshii also states he hears from many listeners in this country and would appreciate hearing from any of his old friends. While in attendance here "Chuc" was very popular and his many friends will be pleased to know of his rapid success of which they have been so confident.

PAUL D. HUNT, '30.

Oregon Men Head ADS

Two Oregon men will head the Portland alumni association of Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary advertising fraternity, with the election of Wayne Leland, '26, as president and George McMurphy, ex-'29, as president and secretary-treasurer respectively. The organization is composed of alumni members of fraternity chapters at the University of Oregon, Oregon State College, and the University of Washington, as well as associate members selected by the collegiate chapters.

Charles Hisao Yoshii, '31, who is known as the "Radio Spokesman of Japan." He is chief announcer for the International Section of the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan.

Oregon's 1938 Varsity Football Roster

CENTERS

Cadenasso, James (Jim). Martinez, Cal. 200 pounds. Junior. Cadenasso transferred to Oregon from St. Mary's, where he played freshman ball in 1935. His nickname, "Cat," is particularly apt; he is fast, exceptionally agile and strong. Cadenasso is the favorite to start this fall.

Jacobsen, Erling (Jake). Portland. 190 pounds. Junior. "Jake" was third string varsity center in 1937 but did not participate in any games. A steady defensive performer and sure passer, Jacobsen displayed great improvement in spring drill. Will push Cadenasso for starting honors.

Samuelson, Allan (Al). Winlock, Wash. 205 pounds. Sophomore. Samuelson was regular freshman center last fall. Showed promise in spring practice.

GUARDS

Giovanini, Nello. Klamath Falls. 208 pounds. Senior. A regular for the past two years. Experienced, aggressive, and fast for his size. Is certain to retain his berth at left guard.

Husk, Ronald (Ron). Portland. 185 pounds. Junior. Husk, lightest lineman on the squad, makes up for lack of weight with smart, heady play. He say alternate duty last year as a sophomore. Won Zell Trophy as Portland's outstanding prep player in 1936. An honor student in pre-law.

Passolt, Melvin (Mel). Sprague River. 203 pounds. Junior. A non-playing reserve last year, Passolt was the surprise lineman of spring drill and won a starting position in the spring exhibition game. Flashed great form at times and may win a regular berth. Played high school ball in Duluth, Minn.

Robertson, Ernest (Ernie). Eugene. 197 pounds. Junior. Robertson spent two seasons moving from one spot to another, starting as a quarterback. He was definitely converted into a guard this spring and shows considerable promise.

Smith, Milford, Broadbent. 195 pounds. A regular on the '37 freshman eleven. Fast for his size, Smith developed rapidly in spring practice. Needs more seasoning.

Walden, Cecil (Cece). LaGrande. 201 pounds. Junior. Alternated with Captain Tony Amato at right guard last fall as a sophomore. May have to win back his berth, however, as he missed out on much of spring drill due to baseball activities. A quick-thinker, he is one of most dependable squad members.

TACKLES

Inskip, Russell (Russ). Portland. 225 pounds. Junior. Inskip is the largest member of the varsity squad. Was a non-playing reserve last fall. Still needs seasoning.

Jensen, Ellroy (Roy). Eugene. 205 pounds. Junior. Saw considerable service last year as a sophomore despite a flock of injuries. Went through spring practice in fine shape and is favored to start. Aggressive blocker and very steady on defense.

Peters, Merle (Pete). Portland. 210 pounds. Junior. Served as an alternate last fall. A very reliable veteran, with plenty of speed. He is expected to team with Jensen in the starting lineup.

Stuart, James (Jim). Hermiston. 212 pounds. Sophomore. "Big Red" was a regular on the 1937 freshman team. He showed great promise in spring workouts, both offensively and defensively. A little more experience should make him a truly outstanding lineman.

Winetrout, Arthur (Art). Grants Pass. Sophomore. 215 pounds. Winetrout, also a freshman regular last year, belies his roly-poly appearance with unexpected speed and agility. A good defensive player.

ENDS

Lance, Larry. Glendale, Cal. 190 pounds. Junior. Lance was Oregon's wingman last season as a sophomore but suffered a shoulder injury in the Stanford game which kept him out of action the remainder of the year. Easily the outstanding end in spring practice. Fine pass receiver and place kicker.

Robertson, Leonard (Bud). Albany. 192 pounds. Senior. Robertson has been a regular for the past two seasons. He is a steady, reliable all-around player with lots of offensive blocking ability. Will have to beat out Vic Reginato for a starting post.

Reginato, Victor (Vic). Klamath Falls. 190 pounds. Junior. Alternated with Robertson last season as a sophomore and is a slight favorite to win the nod at right end this fall. Reginato is a fine pass receiver and at all times a ball hawk.

Speetzen, Rod. Sprague River, Neb., 188 pounds. Junior. Only member of squad not from the Pacific coast. An alternate in 1937, Speetzen is a steady performer, always hustling.

Yerby, John (Yerb). Portland. 195 pounds. Senior. Yerby has been a regular for the last two years. He gave evidences of great form in spring practice before turning out for baseball. A strong defensive player and tackler.

QUARTERBACKS

Donovan, Dennis (Denny). Portland. 190 pounds. Junior. Donovan, a fiery, red-headed Irishman, is a vicious blocker and tackler. Pushed Hank Nilsen for a regular post last year as a sophomore and is expected to do the same this fall.

Haliski, Chet. Portland. 196 pounds. Sophomore. Regular freshman quarter last fall. Shows promise but needs more seasoning.

Nilsen, Henry (Hank). Astoria. 197 pounds. Senior. Nilsen was moved to the backfield last year after two seasons as an end. Although still learning his duties in the 1937 campaign, Nilsen proved a steady and reliable blocking back. Showed improvement this spring, especially as a line backer.

Rach, William (Bill). Seattle, Wash. 200 pounds. Junior. Rach was an alternate fullback last year, but was moved to quarter this spring where his speed and weight could be better utilized. Short and fast, Rach is an extremely hard-hitting blocker and tackler.

LEFT HALFBACKS

Anderson, Ralph (Steve). Raymond, Wash. 180 pounds. Junior. Anderson is perhaps the squad's best triple-threat performer. An excellent passer and kicker, Anderson runs hard with high knee action. Shared first string duties with Nicholson and Graybeal in 1937.

Graybeal, Jay. Pendleton. 165 pounds. Junior. The "Pendleton Jack-rabbit" was the coast's outstanding open field runner last year, accounting for seven Oregon touchdowns. Graybeal is exceptionally fast and shifty, with a highly deceiving change of pace. Gave every evidence in spring drill of being ready for another fine season.

Hankinson, Duke. Seattle. 190 pounds. Sophomore. Regular and leading scorer of the '37 freshman team. Hankinson's speed and size, plus kicking and passing ability, may give him a chance at a regular berth this fall. A hard runner.

Isberg, Leonard (Len). Portland. 185 pounds. Sophomore. Isberg alternated with Hankinson on last year's freshman eleven. He is a talented passer and kicker and this spring showed added open field running ability. Best blocker among the left half-backs.

Nicholson, James (Jim). Salem. 180 pounds. Senior. A consistent performer for the past two years, Nicholson may find his last best season. Chief reason is a distinct improvement in his passing. Very fast and shifty, always a threat in an open field.

RIGHT HALFBACKS

Gammon, David (Dave). Portland. 187 pounds. Junior. Back in service after laying out last season. As a sophomore Gammon was regarded as a comer in 1936; kicks and passes well, a strong blocker.

Gebhardt, Ted. Vallejo, Cal. 190 pounds.

Senior. The outstanding player in spring practice. Can play any backfield position and may be used this fall at either left or right half. A great competitor, Gebhardt is leading kicker and passer on the squad.

Smith, Robert (Bob). Medford. 190 pounds. Junior. Smith was a regular through most of the 1937 season while a sophomore. An accurate left-handed passer, Smith was on the throwing end of several touchdown tosses last fall. He is a vicious blocker and a great defensive performer.

FULLBACKS

Emmons, Frank. Beaverton. 208 pounds. Junior. A former high school sprinter, Emmons is unusually fast for a big man. A hard-runner with tricky hip-flinging ability. Has edge over other fullback candidates due to blocking.

make good in American football. Like Emmons he is exceptionally fast and this spring gave notice of developing into an open field sensation.

Stenstrom, Marshall. Seattle, Wash. 200 pounds. Sophomore. Known to his teammates as the "One Man Gang." Stenstrom was the freshman regular last year. Was rated as the outstanding sophomore back in spring drill. He uses high knee action in his running with good results.
