Hayward Field

Eugene, Oregon

This year's Commencement marks the sixty-fifth anniversary of the University of Oregon Museum of Art. Dedicated during Commencement in 1932, the museum was constructed with private funds raised during the Great Depression to house the university's internationally renowned collection of Asian art. The museum's construction is a testament to the vision and will of the people of Oregon. Its original collections manifest the generosity of their donor, Gertrude Bass Warner.

In celebration of this anniversary and in honor of this year's graduates of the University of Oregon, the Museum of Art is proud to present this exhibition.

Welcome

The University of Oregon welcomes guests and friends assembled hereon this special occasion and offers congratulations to the members of the Class of 1997.

You who stand today to receive your degrees have completed one of the most challenging times of your lives and are beginning one of the most important times. In the years ahead you will be asked to put into use what you have learned at the University of Oregon. It is my hope that we have prepared you well for the challenges and opportunities you will face.

We salute you for your accomplishments on this special day, and we wish you good luck and Godspeed.

Welcome to New Alumni

On behalf of all Oregon alumni, I congratulate you on your graduation and welcome you to the UO Alumni Association. We are a group of thinkers, workers, doers—people like you who spent time at Oregon learning to greet the personal and professional challenges of the future competently. The association is a proud group, drawing its spirit from the individual personalities and successes of more than 125,000 alumni all over the world.

Oregon's alumni, like its students and faculty members, are committed to success—not just in the immediate sense of finding a job or pursuing an advanced degree but in the broader definition of continual attainment of individual goals and personal and professional excellence.

News of your success can benefit the association and all members of the university community by encouraging this spirit of success and sense of pride in the meaning and quality of the Oregon experience. We encourage you to keep us informed of your personal success and career accomplishments either by writing to the UO Alumni Association or by writing to the university magazine, Oregon Quarterly. And, if you haven't already joined the UO Alumni Association, we hope you will become a member soon.

In coming years the UO Alumni Association will involve you in activities of the university, recognize your achievements, and serve you in whatever way we can. Please stay in touch and contact me if I can assist you in any way.

Richard McDuffie, President
UO Alumni Association

Order of the Emerald

It is an honor and pleasure to have the University of Oregon Class of 1947 and the Order of the Emerald join the Commencement procession and share in the celebration of this happy occasion.

Alumni who had their degrees conferred in a similar ceremony fifty years ago continue the practice of joining new graduates in the procession. Leading these returning golden anniversary alumni are members of the Order of the Emerald, alumni whose classes graduated more than fifty years ago.

Individual Ceremonies

Graduates and their families and friends are invited to attend the individual ceremonies of the colleges and schools.

Honorary Doctorate Presidential Medals

Mark O. Hatfield

The University of Oregon confers the honorary degree of Doctor of Philosophy on Mark O. Hatfield. Whether teaching, governing, peacemaking, inspiring, or leading, Mark Hatfield has courageously dared to do his duty as he understood it through five decades of public service—with faith that in right lies might. Because he dared with courage, the life of a nation is more just, peace more apt to be lasting, and a nation begun more than two centuries past more likely to endure on this earth.

Previous Recipient

Corazón Aquino

The Presidential Medal, established in 1991, honors individuals who have demonstrated extraordinary service to the university and whose professional and personal leadership in the world community places them among the nation's foremost citizens. Each medal is a hand-forged, solid silver replica of the myrtlewood President's Centennial Medallion worn by the university President at ceremonial occasions. This year, six individuals receive Presidential Medals.

Lloyd and Sharon Powell

Exceptional service is the phrase that describes the contributions made to the University of Oregon over the years by Lloyd and Sharon Powell. As a University of Oregon graduate ('55, business) and a football player for Len Casanova, a UO Foundation trustee from 1982 to 1992, a member of the Arnold Bennett Hall Society, and a founding member of the UO President's Associates, Lloyd Powell has played a key role in the University of Oregon's successful efforts to sustain and improve its excellence and its vital role in the community.

Donald and Willie Tykeson

Business entrepreneurship and community service have been the focus of the careers of Eugene residents Donald and Willie Tykeson—expertise and service that have also been directed to the University of Oregon. Their funding of the Tykeson Deanship Endowment Fund will finance development of innovative courses and teaching methods in the College of Arts and Sciences. Another gift will endow a professorship in the Charles H. Lundquist College of Business.

Donald Tykeson ('51, business) is the managing partner of Tykeson/Associates Enterprises, the parent company of Tykeson-affiliated businesses in the Northwest communications industry. He serves on the Board of Trustees of the Sacred Heart Medical Center Foundation and as vice chairman of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. He served as a trustee of the Eugene Arts Foundation, chair of Lane County United Way, vice chair of the Oregon Investment Council (PERS), and president of the Oregon Trail Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is a trustee of the UO Foundation and a member of the Charles H. Lundquist College of Business Advisory Council, the Arnold Bennett Hall Society, and the Chief Executives Organization.

The Tykesons' goal is to help enrich the educational experience of students at the University of Oregon by providing tools that will better prepare them to meet the challenges of the future and maximize their potential as adults.

Tom and Carol Williams

From civic involvement to business success, Tom and Carol Williams have committed their lives to excellence. A vital part of that commitment has been to ensure the excellence of teaching at the University of Oregon—a goal made more sure by their funding in 1995 of the Williams Council Teaching Awards, designed to improve undergraduate education by applying to it the best creative ideas.

A private investor and former owner and president of Williams Bakery, Tom Williams also served as director of Health-Guard Services, was chairman of KMTR-TV, a White House Fellow, a member of the Eugene City Council, and served as president of the League of Oregon Cities. He has been a trustee of the UO Foundation since 1989.

Carol Williams is one of the founders and a former controller of KMTR-TV. She currently serves as a board member of Prevention and Recovery Northwest. Previously she was president of Planned Parenthood of Lane County and of the Junior League of Eugene. Tom and Carol live in Eugene.

Together, they have served the community and the University of Oregon in ways that make continued excellence a reality.

Distinguished Service Awards

Katherine "Kappy" Eaton

The commitment and enthusiasm of Katherine Eaton display the vital elements of service to one's community—service that moves beyond minimal involvement into the realm of true citizenship—and ideal citizenship of the kind that makes a difference. From her service on the Board of Directors of the League of Women Voters to her studies of children at risk, she has shown her concern through action, her interest through involvement.

Eugene Woman of the Year; a member of the Lane County Mental Health Advisory Committee, the County Library Board, Citizens for Lane County Libraries, the Human Services Planning Project, and the Eugene Budget Committee; and a representative to the governor's Developmental Disabilities Work Group, Katherine Eaton has served energetically and wisely the needs of the city, county, and state. She has also served on the United Way of Lane County Planning Committee, the Mental Health Advisory Committee at Sacred Health Medical Center, and on a task force for mental health. At the University of Oregon she was a member of the Faculty Senate and its president. She has been a board member of the American Association of University Professors for eight years.

As a journalist, educator, and citizen, Katherine Eaton has consistently distinguished herself through her sustained and effective efforts to raise citizen awareness—and through that awareness to encourage positive action.

Bertha Holt

Bertha Holt is an example of the truth that tremendous results can come from small beginnings—that one person can make a positive difference in the lives of thousands, that what is done because it is the right action for one person can encourage the right action by many.

Absent any political agenda, rejecting personal gain, eschewing comfort and rest in favor of rigorous action, Bertha Holt at ninety-three continues her advocacy for children that in the span of forty years has found homes for nearly 50,000 children from all over the world. Through Holt International Children's Services, this advocacy now serves the children of ten nations, providing permanent and loving homes by reuniting children with birth families, in-country adoptions, and intercountry adoptions.

Previous honors include the Korea National Merit Award, the Philippines Presidential Award for Social Welfare, and, in 1966, American Mother of the Year. She has a bachelor of science degree in nursing and once set a world age-group record in the 400-meter run at Hayward Field. But, as a woman of faith, her greatest honor and accomplishment has been that accrued by putting her faith into action and touching for the better the lives of children around the world.

John Kageyama

A master facilitator and builder of bridges, Atsushi "John" Kageyama has long engaged those talents in the service of communities, the University of Oregon, and those who believe that international understanding is vital to the continuing well-being of all.

Recipient of an M.B.A. degree from the UO in 1958, John Kageyama has devoted his time and energy to assisting local community development activities. While working for Matsushita in Vancouver, Washington, he served on the Economic Development Council, advised the mayor on Japanese relations, and personally facilitated a successful student-exchange program between Japan and the United States.

Retirement has enabled him to return to the UO—sharing his knowledge of international business, teaching about the challenges of working in a cross-cultural environment, and publishing a book on cross-cultural management. His interest in the UO Museum of Art led him to become an adviser to the museum and to donate several rare pieces of Asian art from his own collection.

He has worked tirelessly to rebuild the Tokyo Alumni Chapter as part of his continuing efforts to bridge the chasms between two cultures and between the worlds of business and the classroom.

This award was established through a generous gift to the university from Mr. A. J. Ersted. The intent of the award is to recognize excellence in teaching. It is given to young faculty members who have demonstrated exceptional ability to induce students to reason and not merely to memorize.

Barbara Altmann

Rigor, passion, patience, and vision are but four of the words used to describe the teaching of Barbara Altmann, an associate professor in the Department of Romance Languages. Insisting on high standards of scholarship, she shares with wit and intelligence her own superb scholarship in the area of medieval French literature. Understanding the challenge of such scholarly demands, she uses her expertise and patience to encourage her students. Demanding excellence, she makes that excellence attainable.

Her students use such adjectives as "fantastic," "inspirational," and "fabulous" to describe the way she enables students at all levels to succeed. By fostering an environment of exploration and engagement, she creates an environment that "makes the university a valuable experience."

Robert Peña

From large lecture classes to smaller studio settings, Assistant Professor of Architecture Robert Peña builds upon a foundation of knowledge and a broad framework of enthusiasm, sensitivity, and genuine concern for the progress of his students to create a structure for learning that enables them to pursue and achieve their dreams.

Whether promoting excellence in teaching or in curriculum development, Peña applies imagination and innovation, earning from his students "the highest marks they can give." He is one of three Oregon faculty members involved in the creation of a design curriculum package that has been distributed to fifty institutions throughout the United States and Canada.

Beyond knowledge and curriculum, Peña consistently encourages students in their quest for systems of values, emphasizing the value of both the source and the content of those beliefs and setting an example through his own integrity, loyalty, and convictions.

Thomas F. Herman Award for Distinguished Teaching

In December 1984 the University of Oregon received a grant from the Burlington Northern Foundation of Seattle to recognize excellence in teaching. The program honors members of the faculty whose careers have been characterized by years of sterling teaching.

Daniel Goldrich

The energy, enthusiasm, and commitment that passes from Daniel Goldrich to his students is of the quality that changes their lives—creating new ways of thinking, new insights into their perception of the world, and new understandings of the importance of political involvement.

Whether through classroom lectures or one-on-one interactions, his challenge to think critically about politics and media enables his students to involve themselves in today's vital political process, and to do so with the tools necessary for intelligent and informed action.

Dedicated and committed, Daniel Goldrich consistently goes out of his way to help students and faculty members both inside and outside the classroom. He creates opportunities for learning that his students will be able to use for the rest of their lives.

Charles E. Johnson Memorial Award

The Charles E. Johnson Memorial Award was established by the university faculty to honor the memory of Charles E. Johnson, professor of accounting, dean of liberal arts, and acting president from 1952 to 1969. Charles Johnson was recognized not only for his outstanding contributions to the institution as a scholar and teacher but also as an outspoken academic leader during a difficult time in our institutional history. He called on the university to adhere steadfastly to the principles of free speech and assembly—without which the objective of nurturing, promoting, and fostering new knowledge and the learning process cannot be achieved. A devotee of Thomas Jefferson, Johnson insisted that this university, like Mr. Jefferson's, should be a place where "we are not afraid to follow the truth wherever it might lead, nor to tolerate error so long as reason is left free to combat it."

Julia Lesage

That vital connection between intellectual pursuits and the challenges of the day-to-day world is made with integrity, creativity, generosity of spirit, and courage by Julia Lesage, associate professor of English, film producer, writer, thinker, scholar, activist, and "conscience of the English department."

In her teaching, high standards; in her documentaries, commitment to the elimination of oppression; in her scholarship, the ethical and cogent creation of knowledge—these are the cornerstones of her career and the constant driving force behind her work.

The principles this award espouses—freedom of speech and assembly, the acceleration of social change, the fostering of new knowledge and the learning process, a belief in the marketplace of ideas, and a vigorous pursuit of truth—are the beginning points for a life that insists on lifting knowledge above information, and insight and action above knowledge. Julia Lesage's is a life worthy of the Charles E. Johnson Memorial Award.

Alumni Awards

The University of Oregon Alumni Association traditionally recognizes two individuals who have attained extraordinary distinction in their chosen professional fields of business, education, the arts, government service, journalism, law, or science and medicine. The selection committee considers those who have served the nation, state, or the University of Oregon, or who have distinguished themselves by personal endeavor. The 1997 recipients are listed here.

Distinguished Alumnus

Lester Anderson '43

Lester Anderson has enjoyed a long relationship with the university and the Eugene community. After receiving his bachelor's degree in 1943, he served in the U.S. Army. He returned to the university and worked as UO alumni director from 1946 to 1953 and as assistant to the president and director of public services in 1953.

In 1956 Anderson joined Random Lengths, a communications firm that produced a lumber industry newsletter and price report of the same name. He became president of the company less than ten years later and its sole owner in 1967. With his savvy intuition and his knack for marketing, Anderson took a small regional publication and built it into a large, sophisticated communications service for world-wide lumber and plywood markets.

While contributing to the tremendous success of Random Lengths, Anderson surprisingly found time to make a significant mark as mayor of Eugene from 1969 to 1977. Anderson's other civic involvement includes the Boy Scouts of America, Eugene Chamber of Commerce, United Way, Sacred Heart Lay Advisory Board and Foundation, Eugene Civic Center, and Oregon Repertory Theater.

Throughout the years, Anderson has continued to demonstrate both his commitment and his genuine affection for the entire university community. After serving as an official at UO track-and-field events from 1955 to 1982, he was inducted into the UO Track-and-Field Hall of Fame in 1982. He was president of the UO Alumni Association Board of Directors in 1963-64; and he served on the UO Board of Trustees from 1985 to 1995. He received the university's prestigious Pioneer Award in 1983.

Outstanding Young Alumnus

Scott Bedbury '80

After graduating from the UO School of Journalism in 1980, Scott Bedbury set his sights on becoming the next David Ogilvy—founder of the prestigious advertising agency, Ogilvy & Mather. He began his advertising career with Cole and Weber, the Seattle-based Ogilvy and Mather affiliate, and swiftly moved through agency ranks to become vice president account supervisor.

Bedbury eventually took his creative ambition to NIKE in 1987. For seven years he coordinated and directed Nike's worldwide advertising efforts with the firm Wieden and Kennedy. During Bedbury's tenure, Nike's annual sales rose from $725 million to more than $4.2 billion. He revolutionized the use of celebrity spokespeople, including Bo Jackson and Michael Jordan, and launched the famous "Bo Knows" and "Just Do It" campaigns.

His belief in corporate commitment to communities led to the creation of Nike's P.L.A.Y. (Participate in the Lives of America's Youth) campaign, established to help support community recreation programs and facilities and to encourage youth to participate in sports.

Bedbury left NIKE in 1994 to explore his literary talents and spend more time with his family. In 1995 he joined the Seattle-based coffee giant, Starbucks Coffee Company, where he is currently senior vice president of marketing. Under Bedbury's direction, Starbucks recently expanded internationally. He also oversaw the successful launch of Frappuccino, a bottled coffee drink, as well as Starbucks coffee ice cream.

Chosen a "Marketer to Watch" in 1995 by USA Today, Bedbury was inducted into the American Advertising Federation's Advertising Hall of Fame in 1996.

Graduate Teaching Awards

The university established the Graduate Teaching Fellow Awards in cooperation with the UO chapter of Mortar Board, a national academic and service honorary society. First presented in 1979, the awards recognize excellence in teaching and academic guidance.

Approximately 1,300 students serve as graduate teaching fellows for all or part of each year. They contribute an essential element to the teaching mission of the university. Teaching quality and diversity of instruction are enhanced by the presence of these talented, developing professionals.

This year's recipients were selected from fifty nominees representing more than thirty departments and programs. Finalists were observed in their classrooms by members of the selection committee and submitted statements describing their philosophy of teaching.

J. Patrick Brewer

The divergent natures of mathematics and teaching, when combined, can create a challenge beyond the abilities of many people. J. Patrick Brewer, a doctoral student in mathematics, has met that challenge both effectively and humanely. A dynamic and conscientious teacher, he has been instrumental in producing significant curricular reforms in the Department of Mathematics.

But it is his patience and attention to the learning process—his ability and willingness to rephrase concepts until they make sense, his asking of students, "What can I do to help you succeed?"—that enables J. Patrick Brewer to be a teacher against whom other teachers measure themselves. It is these qualities, which enable him to work with the exactness necessary to the discipline of mathematics and the understanding necessary to the profession of teaching, that bring to him the honor of being selected for a 1997 Graduate Teaching Award.

Katarzyna "Kasia" Marciniak

What we have here is the ability to communicate—and more. A doctoral student in English and a GTF in both English literature and film studies, Kasia Marciniak brings to her teaching energy and enthusiasm, passion and skill. She not only engages the interest and excitement of her students but also challenges them to see film and literature from varied, powerful, and intriguing perspectives.

Praised by her colleagues, generous with her time and resources, admired by her students for her skills, knowledge, and sense of humor, Kasia Marciniak does with her teaching what good films do: "Make you care, make you believe in possibilities." It is for these abilities that Kasia Marciniak is honored with a 1997 Graduate Teaching Award.

Phi Beta Kappa

Founded December 5, 1776, the Phi Beta Kappa Society honors students whose academic records reveal high quality and breadth in liberal-arts course work. Each year six outstanding members-elect are designated the Phi Beta Kappa Oregon Six. Their academic records are exceptional because they combine extraordinary breadth and excellence in upper-division liberal-arts courses with very high grade point averages. The following students were elected to Phi Beta Kappa on May 22, 1997. New members were initiated at a ceremony held this morning.

Seals of the Colleges and Schools

College of Arts and Sciences

An open book is a fitting symbol for the College of Arts and Sciences, which encourages a spirit of inquiry and discovery in its many programs in the liberal arts and the sciences. The college was established in 1876.

School of Law

The scale of justice needs no lengthy interpretation. It is the universal symbol for the highest ideals of human society, which are reflected in the programs and goals of the University of Oregon School of Law. The school was established in 1884.

Graduate School

The mortar board and diploma are a simple representation of the Graduate School's central purpose—to coordinate all advanced-study programs on the campus and ensure that graduate students receive the support necessary for pursuing their postbaccalaureate goals. The school was established in 1900.

School of Music

The familiar treble clef and the "dancing" eighth rests represent both the School of Music and Department of Dance. Established in 1900, the School of Music fosters the development of teaching and performance skills, creativity, scholarship, and the creation of new works and ideas in the fields of music and dance.

College of Education

The lamp of knowledge is an established symbol for the role of teaching and learning in society. It is a fitting insignia for the College of Education, which provides students, professionals, and the public with a wide range of services and training programs in the teaching-learning process. The college was established in 1910.

Charles H. Lundquist College of Business

The symbol is a stylistic interpretation of the front façade of the Earle A. Chiles Business Center. Established in 1914, the college offers programs in the skills needed to support this nation's free-enterprise system.

School of Architecture and Allied Arts

A stylized letterform, integrating the three basic design shapes, symbolizes the creativity and utility in the School of Architecture and Allied Arts. Established in 1914, the school provides training in the philosophy and expertise necessary for responding to human needs for shelter and a harmonious relationship with the environment.

School of Journalism and Communication

The flash or starburst, with its many rays reaching to infinity, suggests the importance of communication to society. The School of Journalism and Communication fosters this relationship in its professional programs in the areas of advertising, communication studies, electronic media, print media, and public relations. The school was established in 1916.

Robert Donald Clark Honors College

The garland, the Greco-Roman symbol of victory and honor, has been selected to represent the Clark Honors College, which offers students with exceptional abilities the opportunity to achieve their highest potential. Established in 1960, the college was named in honor of University of Oregon President Emeritus Robert D. Clark, whose vision and drive were instrumental in its creation.

Academic Costume

The history of academic dress goes back several centuries to the chilly universities where cap, gown, and hood were needed for covering and warmth.

Subsequently this has become a ceremonial costume with certain standardized features. The hood is lined with the official colors of the degree-conferring institution; for the University of Oregon these are yellow and green. The outside trimming of the hood and the color of the tassel signify the subject in which the degree is conferred:

maize/agriculture

white/arts, letters, humanities drab/commerce, accountancy, business

blue-violet/architecture

lilac/dentistry

copper/economics

light blue/education

orange/engineering

brown/fine arts

russet/forestry

crimson/journalism

purple/law

lemon/library science

green/medicine

pink/music

apricot/nursing

silver gray/oratory, speech

olive green/pharmacy

dark blue/philosophy

sage green/physical education

peacock blue/public administration

salmon pink/public health

golden yellow/science

citron/social work

scarlet/theology

gray/veterinary science

At the University of Oregon it is customary for master's degree candidates to wear their hoods in the procession. Doctoral candidates carry their hoods and are hooded during the ceremony. Each bachelor's degree candidate changes the cap tassel from front right to front left as the degree is conferred. Caps are removed during the pledge song and during the commencement

University Marshal

The academic procession is led by the university marshal, who carries the university mace. The position is one of honor and is traditionally held by a previous recipient of the Thomas F. Herman Award for Distinguished Teaching.

University Mace

In medieval times the mace was usually carried into battle by kings, bishops, and other leaders for use as a weapon. Later on it came to be used more for ceremonial occasions. Today it is a symbol of authority.

The mace leading the University of Oregon's academic procession was designed and made by C. Max Nixon, professor emeritus of fine and applied arts, as a gift to the university he has served since 1958. The creative use of copper, bronze, silver, and walnut typify the spirit of the university over the past 119 years.

The head of the mace is a sphere made up of four university seals joined at a common axis. The outer rims of the seals are copper. The university's name and motto, in Latin, are in bronze. The mountain at the center of the sphere is in silver, while the forests and hills are in bronze. Surmounting the linked seals is a replica of Deady Hall, the university's first building, cast in bronze.

At the top of the oiled walnut shaft and within the sphere created by the seals is the university's founding date. At the base of the shaft is a finial ornament in bronze, finished with a stylized pine-cone pattern. Embedded in its tip is the seal of the State of Oregon,

Oregon Pledge Song

Fair Oregon, we pledge to thee
Our honor and fidelity,
Both now and in the years to be,
A never failing loyalty.
Fair Oregon, thy name shall be Written high in liberty.
Now, uncovered, swear we every one
Our pledge to Oregon.

John Stark Evans, a music major at the University of Oregon, wrote the Oregon Pledge Song while waiting to be shipped out during World War I. When he returned in 1922, he gave the rights to

Graduation with Honors

Graduating seniors who have earned at least 90 credits in residence at the University of Oregon and have completed all other university degree requirements shall be awarded graduation with honors: upper 2 percent, summa cum laude; upper 5 percent, magna cum laude; upper 10 percent, cum laude. These distinctions are based on students' percentile rankings for their graduation term. The honors determination for spring-term degree candidates is provisional. It is based on academic work completed prior to the graduation term and is not official until final grades have

The students whose names are listed herein were considered to be candidates for the degree indicated when the program was printed. This is not an official degree list. The appropriate degrees and diplomas will be awarded to those candidates who have successfully completed all requirements by the end of this term.
