Oregon Pledge Song

Fair Oregon, we pledge to thee
Our honor and fidelity,
Both now and in the years to be,
A never failing loyalty.
Fair Oregon, thy name shall be Written high in liberty.
Now, uncovered, swear we every one
Our pledge to Oregon.

John Stark Evans, a music major at the University of Oregon, wrote the Oregon Pledge Song while waiting to be shipped out during World War I. When he returned in 1922, he gave the rights to the pledge song to the university.

A Sense of Tradition

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON
COMMENCEMENT
JUNE 12, 1999

WELCOME—STUDENTS, PARENTS, AND FRIENDS—to the University of Oregon. With each year's commencement comes a great sense of accomplishment as well as an awareness of the future. This year is no exception, holding as it does the joy and satisfaction of achievement and the promise of challenges and opportunities that will stretch courage and creativity in new and exciting directions.

The University of Oregon began with a promise from one generation of Oregonians to future generations. It was based on the belief that education could make a difference in the lives of men and women, and it was this difference that would, in turn, improve the quality of the state, the nation, and the world.

That pledge—made nearly 125 years ago—is kept in part by the traditional commencement ceremony we attend today, and it will be kept in full by the accomplishments that you as graduates build and celebrate in the future.

On behalf of the university community, I offer our best wishes as you continue to fulfill that original promise in the years to come.

The President's Centennial Medallion, shown above, was commissioned in 1975 and is worn by the president as a badge of office during formal university ceremonies. Professor Emeritus Paul Buckner of the Department of Fine and Applied Arts created and executed the design.

Contents

The University Seal, shown on the title page, was created by Judge Matthew P. Deady, first president of the Board of Regents, and was approved by that body in 1878. In its center is a representation of Mt. Hood as a symbol of the state. Around its edge is the university's motto, mens agitat molem—mind moves the mass.

The University of Oregon opened its doors in 1876. Deady Hall housed the entire university in those days. Built of bricks made from clay dug out of the local hills, the building was guaranteed by its architect to last 1,000 years. The first commencement in 1878 graduated five students. Today the university serves 17,200 students on its 380-acre campus. More than 1,200 faculty members teach in its professional schools and its arts and sciences departments.

ROBERT ELLIS SMITH

Robert Ellis Smith is a journalist who uses his training as an attorney to report on the individual's right to privacy. Since 1974 he has published Privacy Journal, a monthly newsletter on privacy in the computer age.

Smith is a frequent speaker, writer, and Congressional witness on issues related to privacy and has compiled an extensive library of information on the subject. The author of several books including Our Vanishing Privacy, The Law of Privacy Explained, and Privacy: How to Protect What's Left of It, Smith has been singled out for publicly recognizing and sounding the alarm about the complex issues of freedom and privacy in the computer age. The New York Times has called Smith "a principled critic" and Privacy Journal "a privacy watchdog."

Widely considered one of the nation's foremost experts on privacy, Smith is a frequent guest on news programs such as Face the Nation, Nightline, and National Public Radio's All Things Considered. He has also been a regular commentator on the American Public Radio program Marketplace.

Smith graduated from Harvard College in 1962 and received a law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center in 1962. For nine years prior to joining the Office for Civil Rights in the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in 1970, Smith was a news reporter and editor with the Detroit Free Press, Trenton Times, Southern Courier, and Newsday.

Smith has served on numerous commissions and councils including the District of Columbia Human Rights Commission and the Rhode Island Coastal Resources Management Council. In 1997 Smith was named by Vice President Al Gore to the civil liberties panel of the White House Commission on Aviation and Security.

The academic procession is led by the university marshal, who carries the University Mace. The position is one of honor and is traditionally held by a previous recipient of the Thomas F. Herman Faculty Achievement Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Students carrying the academic standards were selected by their academic departments or programs for outstanding scholarship, leadership, or contribution to the university. The green-and-yellow standards display the emblems of each school or college.

Honorary Doctorate

The University of Oregon presents an honorary doctorate to individuals who have accomplished outstanding scholarship or artistic achievement as well as performed extraordinary public service or distinguished service during their lifetime. The awarding of an honorary doctorate takes place only after the nomination has been approved by the University Senate and the State Board of Higher Education.

The honorary doctorate will be presented at a special ceremony on Sunday, July 11, 1999.

HELMUTH RILLING

Helmuth Rilling is known throughout the world for his intensely personal interpretations of the cantatas and choral works of Johann Sebastian Bach. His mastery of these compositions has brought him distinction as the world's foremost interpreter of Bach's music. His international stature has contributed to the growth and popularity of the Oregon Bach Festival, where he has served as artistic director since the festival's inception in 1970.

In addition to his responsibilities with the University of Oregon's premier music festival, Rilling is director of the Internationale Bachakademie Stuttgart, which stages educational and performance events around the world. In 1994 the Internationale Bachakademie Stuttgart was awarded the UNESCO Music Prize. The following year Rilling received the Theodor Heuss Prize for advancing reconciliation and international understanding through music. Rilling is also artistic director of the Real Filharmonia de Galicia in Santiago, Spain.

A frequent guest conductor, Rilling has appeared with orchestras throughout the United States, Canada, Israel, England, Japan, China, Spain, Belgium, and other countries.

Rilling was born in 1933 in Stuttgart, Germany. He studied at the State Music Academy with Hans Grischkat, Johann Nepomuk David, and Karl Gerok. He pursued his studies first at the Conservatorio Santa Cecilia in Rome with Fernando Germani and later with Leonard Bernstein in New York.

Rilling is the only conductor to have recorded all 200 of Bach's church cantatas. For the Hänssler Classic label, he is completing recordings of the complete works of Bach, a 160-CD edition to be released in 2000 to commemorate the two-hundred-fiftieth anniversary of Bach's death.

JOHN AND ROBIN JAQUA

For nearly fifty years, John and Robin Jaqua have given generously of their time and expertise to the University of Oregon, the Eugene community, and the state of Oregon. John Jaqua '49, L.L.B. '50 is a retired Eugene attorney and former president of the Oregon State Bar Association. A member of the UO Foundation Board of Trustees, he chaired the recent successful campaign to raise private gifts for a new facility to house the UO School of Law. He is a longtime member of the law school's Board of Visitors and received the school's Meritorious Service Award in 1992. John has been active with the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, Lane County YMCA, and other area organizations. After raising the couple's four children, Robin Jaqua M.A. '71, Ph.D. '75 returned to school in the early 1970s to earn a master's degree in counseling and a doctorate in counseling psychology from the UO College of Education. She has worked as a school counselor, a marriage and family counselor, and a UO adjunct faculty member. Since earning a degree from the prestigious C. G. Jung Institute Zürich in 1983, Robin has worked as a Jungian analyst, educator, and director of training for the C. G. Jung Institute Pacific Northwest. She also maintains a public library for Jungian Studies and Archetypal Symbolism.

DAVID PETRONE

As chair of the Campaign Leadership Council of the Oregon Campaign from 1994 to 1998, Dave Petrone '66, M.B.A. '68 helped to direct the most ambitious fundraising campaign in Oregon history to stunning success. The campaign raised $255.3 million for UO scholarships, faculty support, programs, and facilities. Petrone, who has served on the UO Foundation Board of Trustees since 1991, emerged as a guiding force in keeping campaign strategies and operations on track. A partner in a real estate finance company in the San Francisco Bay Area, Petrone has supported his own community by chairing the Counties Campaign for Bay Area United Way and serving on the boards of the San Francisco Exploratorium and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

The medal is a hand-forged, solid-silver replica of the myrtlewood President's Centennial Medallion worn by the university president for ceremonial occasions.

Distinguished Service Awards

The Distinguished Service Award is presented to individuals who by their knowledge and skills have made a significant contribution to the cultural development of Oregon or society as a whole. The awards are presented by the University Senate.

BRIAN BOOTH

Brian Booth brings a deep sense of caring, a keen mind, an irreverent sense of humor, and a love for Oregon to his profession as one of Portland's leading lawyers and to his community as an advocate working to protect and enrich Oregon for all its citizens.

Booth cares about literature, which is why he helped create the Oregon Book Awards and Oregon Fellowship for Emerging Writers. He cares about the arts, which is why he helped found and serves as a director of the Oregon Cultural Heritage Commission; and why he is a past president of the Portland Art Museum and of the University of Oregon Museum of Art.

He cares about the environment. While serving as the first chair of the Oregon Parks and Recreation Commission, he worked to stabilize funding for parks, beaches, and salmon recovery. He cares about education—offering time and expertise to the boards of numerous educational organizations including the University of Oregon Foundation and the Oregon Humanities Center.

Booth's commitment to the state has stretched from his student days as a columnist for the Oregon Daily Emerald to his current editing of Wildmen, Wobblers, and Whistlepunks. From the arts and humanities to education and the environment, Booth has built upon his respected reputation in law to earn even higher respect as a servant to his community and state.

RAYMOND MIKESSELL

Leadership and the will to exercise it are often confined to a particular need or a narrow discipline. Such is not the case with Raymond Mikesell, economics professor emeritus. In a career spanning more than sixty years, Mikesell has offered his leadership in academic appointments at several outstanding universities, contributed to vital policymaking on the international stage, and been at the forefront in the shaping of global natural resource and environmental policies.

This leadership—broad and deep, wise and informed—has made a significant impact on the community and the world. But it does not stop there, as it is possible that Mikesell's most notable contributions have been in helping launch the careers of more than fifty graduate students, many of whom have gone on to their own positions of leadership in industry, the academy, and public policy. Through them, Mikesell's legacy of leadership is enriched and extended.

Known and honored internationally, he is treasured at the University of Oregon, where his four decades of commitment and dedication have helped shape for the better the institution and those affiliated with it. He is viewed as a model to be emulated but also a friend to be honored.

MASON WILLIAMS

From "Classical Gas" to Saturday Night Live, from the Smothers Brothers Show to New York City's Museum of Modern Art—the work and life of Mason Williams defy a simple description. Instead, they describe the breadth and depth of creativity of one man, someone capable of bringing diverse groups together for the enjoyment of music and friendship.

It may be music that pleases the ear and tells a tale, or comedy that tickles the brain and shows the emperor's nakedness. It may be art that moves down the highway and into the Museum of Modern Art, or a concert that brings a living river to the ears and hearts of an audience. It may be any of these cultural gifts or others from the past forty years as a musician, writer, and composer that set Mason Williams apart as a man who has chosen to share his varied talents with his community.

Emmys, Grammys, and awards from the Writer's Guild merge with classroom presentations, Christmas shows, and personal standards for treating people and the environment with dignity and respect. Williams exemplifies the concept that the job of becoming a better person is more important than producing a better product.

PAUL BRAINERD

Paul Brainerd '70 is perhaps best known for founding Aldus Corporation and for launching a new generation of page-composition software. Brainerd coined the term "desktop publishing," and in 1985 his company released Aldus PageMaker desktop publishing software. The success of the PageMaker software propelled Brainerd's company into one of the top ten software companies in the world. Brainerd sold Aldus to Adobe Systems, Inc., in 1994. He is founder and president of the Brainerd Foundation, which is dedicated to preserving the environmental quality of the Northwest. The foundation supports grassroots-oriented projects that motivate citizens to get involved in efforts to protect the environment. Ersted Awards for Distinguished Teaching

ERICA BASTRESS-DUKEHART

Students jammed into her office and spilling into the corridor during an hour-long discussion is but one example of the impact Erica Bastress-Dukehart, a visiting assistant professor in the Clark Honors College, makes on her students at the University of Oregon. That those students and many others clamor to enroll in her classes is a tribute to Bastress-Dukehart's ability to inspire students and offer thoughtful discussions about a variety of topics.

Her abilities rise to the top and are valued within the honors college, where faculty members are selected because of their strong teaching skills. With superb scholarship as a base, Bastress-Dukehart's remarkable teaching ability makes her classes among the most popular on campus, and in the process she reaches students of all abilities.

It is for a record of excellence in teaching and devotion to her students that Erica Bastress-Dukehart receives a 1999 Ersted Award for Distinguished Teaching.

MICHAEL MANGA

An extraordinary dedication to teaching, built on a base of outstanding intellectual excitement—these qualities make Michael Manga, an assistant professor of geological sciences, a teacher whom both students and colleagues call "the best." In fact, his department head calls Manga "as good a teacher as I have ever seen."

Manga's teaching is praised for combining superb organizational skills with an outstanding method of delivery. Supporting these skills is a love of teaching into which he pours his heart and soul. According to students and colleagues, Manga's impact on his students reaches beyond the time and place of the classroom.

Whether participating in discussion sections for lower-division classes or teaching an overloaded mathematics class so that students can meet the mathematical challenge of upper-division complexities, Michael Manga demonstrates the ideals outlined in the Ersted Award.

Thomas F. Herman Faculty Achievement Award for Distinguished Teaching

V. PAT LOMBARDI

"Awesome," "amazing," and "fantastic" are words used by students to describe the teaching style of Pat Lombardi, a biology faculty member since 1984. While the classes he teaches range from Freshman Seminars to specialized upper-division courses, Lombardi's passion and enthusiasm for human physiology inspire students to work and learn in ways that will have meaning for them in the future.

Whether it is his insistence on knowing the name of each student or his ability to share his vast knowledge without hesitation, Lombardi's love of teaching and commitment to students are matched only by the academic excellence and knowledge he brings to the discipline of human physiology.

Lombardi is actively involved in research on cardiovascular physiology, and he has written extensively on the topic for professional journals and textbooks. It is for his active and inquisitive mind, blended with his commitment to students and to learning, that Pat Lombardi receives the 1999 Herman Award for Distinguished Teaching.

The Ersted Award was established through a generous gift to the university from Mr. A. J. Ersted. The intent of the award is to recognize excellence in teaching. It is given to faculty members who are young in their careers and who have demonstrated exceptional ability to induce students to reason and not merely to memorize.

The Herman Award recognizes senior faculty members whose careers have been characterized by years of sterling teaching. Originally created in 1984 with a grant from the Burlington Northern Foundation, the award continues today with funding provided by an endowment established by UO Foundation trustee Thomas F. Herman.

Charles E. Johnson Memorial Award

The Johnson Award was created by the UO faculty to honor the memory of Charles E. Johnson—professor of accounting, dean of liberal arts, and acting president—whose UO career spanned the years 1952 to 1969. The award recognizes the unique qualities that served Johnson well during his acting presidency in the often-turbulent 1960s. Johnson's legacy to the university is one marked by outstanding contributions as a scholar and teacher as well as an outspoken academic leader.

The university established the Graduate Teaching Fellow Awards in cooperation with the UO chapter of Mortar Board, a national academic and service honorary society. First presented in 1979, the awards recognize excellence in teaching and academic guidance.

DOMINICK VETRI

Personal courage and devotion to social progress underlie the legal and teaching career of Dominick Vetri, professor of law, who began his career at the University of Oregon in 1967. Whether giving voice to unpopular views or creating an awareness in his classroom of the importance of social issues, Vetri has consistently and effectively embodied the ideals of Charles E. Johnson.

Vetri is praised by colleagues and students for his generosity, fresh and thought-provoking perspectives, stellar teaching, and inspiration. His willingness to stand firm in his beliefs has garnered respect from many students—even from those who may not share his social views.

Those social views and his commitment to the exchange of ideas have placed Vetri at the forefront of many human rights efforts. His work and commitment to these efforts extend from the classroom to the courtroom, from theory to practice, and from teaching through words to teaching by example. For more than three decades, Vetri has been a courageous, persistent, and highly effective social reformer.

Graduate Teaching Fellow Awards

HILARY HART

Teaching that is without the critical base of knowledge becomes form devoid of content, incapable of informing. Knowledge that lacks the energizing pull of teaching becomes a stale bundle of content, incapable of inspiring. Together, teaching and knowledge, form and content can combine in ways that offer exciting and long-lasting results. It is in this combination that the teaching of Hilary Hart succeeds.

Whether teaching the need to think critically about the media we inhabit or to write clearly and powerfully about the ideas we hold, Hart uses her own learning experiences to enhance her teaching. She is seen by colleagues as dedicated and highly skilled, demanding but fair; her students remark that she is "the best GTF they have had at this university."

Hart sees her teaching style as "a work in progress." In the process of reflection and change, she often turns that critical juncture of form and content into an energized and intellectually expansive experience for students who are willing to meet her high expectations.

Faculty Awards

JAMES ASHAR NELSON

To build something of lasting value, intrinsic beauty, and enduring strength is an accomplishment to be treasured and honored. It is doubly so when that building process results in both structures and students capable of meeting high standards of excellence. For such building to take place, dedication, talent, skills, and expertise must be passed from those who master them to those who seek them. This is the process of teaching—a process at which James Ashar Nelson excels.

As a graduate teaching fellow in the Design-Build Apprenticeship Program in the Department of Architecture, Nelson plays a pivotal role in the success of both the program and the participating students. Combining practical experience and academic expertise, Nelson uses his talent as a teacher, his abilities as a strong leader, and his capacity to juggle multiple demands calmly to create an outstanding learning experience for his students.

Called "a great human being" and "a born leader" by his students, Nelson devotes time and energy beyond most expectations to ensure the success of building structures—and the students who create them.

Each year a number of University of Oregon faculty members are recognized by other institutions and organizations for their contributions to an academic discipline or for their outstanding scholarship. With representation from all the academic schools and colleges, those faculty members listed here received awards or special acknowledgments during the current academic year.

Phi Beta Kappa Society

Alpha of Oregon Chapter

Founded December 5, 1776, the Phi Beta Kappa Society is the nation's oldest, most prestigious honorary society. It honors students whose academic records reveal high quality and breadth in liberal-arts course work. Phi Beta Kappa members on the University of Oregon faculty elected the following students to Phi Beta Kappa on May 20, 1999. Members-elect who accepted their invitations were initiated at a ceremony held this morning.

Each year six outstanding members-elect are designated the Phi Beta Kappa Oregon Six. Their academic records are exceptional because they combine extraordinary breadth and excellence in upper-division liberal-arts courses with very high grade point averages.

Academic Costume

The history of academic dress goes back several centuries to the chilly universities where cap, gown, and hood were needed for covering and warmth. Subsequently this has become a ceremonial costume with certain standardized features. The hood is lined with the official colors of the degree-conferring institution; for the University of Oregon these are yellow and green. The outside trimming of the hood and the color of the tassel signify the subject in which the degree is conferred:

maize/agriculture
white/arts, letters, humanities drab/commerce, accounting, business
blue-violet/architecture
lilac/dentistry
copper/economics
light blue/education
orange/engineering
brown/fine arts
russet/forestry
crimson/journalism
purple/law
lemon/library science
green/medicine
pink/music apricot/nursing
silver gray/oratory, speech
olive green/pharmacy
dark blue/philosophy
sage green/physical education peacock blue/public administration
salmon pink/public health
golden yellow/science
citron/social work
scarlet/theology
gray/veterinary science

At the University of Oregon it is customary for master's degree candidates to wear their hoods in the procession. Doctoral candidates carry their hoods and are hooded during the ceremony. Each bachelor's degree candidate changes the cap tassel from front right to front left as the degree is conferred. Caps are removed during the pledge song and during the commencement address.

University Mace

In medieval times the mace was usually carried into battle by kings, bishops, and other leaders for use as a weapon. Later on it came to be used more for ceremonial occasions. Today it is a symbol of authority.

The mace leading the University of Oregon's academic procession was designed and made by C. Max Nixon, professor emeritus of fine and applied arts, as a gift to the university he has served since 1958. The creative use of copper, bronze, silver, and walnut typify the spirit of the university over the past 123 years.

The head of the mace is a sphere made up of four university seals joined at a common axis. The outer rims of the seals are copper. The university's name and motto, in Latin, are in bronze. The mountain at the center of the sphere is in silver, while the forests and hills are in bronze. Surmounting the linked seals is a replica of Deady Hall, the university's first building, cast in bronze.

At the top of the oiled walnut shaft and within the sphere created by the seals is the university's founding date. At the base of the shaft is a finial ornament in bronze, finished with a stylized pine-cone pattern. Embedded in its tip is the seal of the State of Oregon, also in bronze.

Graduation with Latin Honors

Graduating seniors who have earned at least 90 credits in residence at the University of Oregon and have completed all other university degree requirements shall be awarded graduation with honors: upper 2 percent, summa cum laude; upper 5 percent, magna cum laude; upper 10 percent, cum laude. These distinctions are based on students' percentile rankings for their graduation term. The honors determination for spring 1999 degree candidates is provisional. It is based on academic work completed prior to the graduation term and is not official until final grades have been recorded.

For spring 1999 candidates, the students whose names are listed herein were considered to be candidates for the degree indicated when the program was printed. This is not an official degree list. The appropriate degrees and diplomas will be awarded to those candidates who have successfully completed all requirements by the end of spring term 1999.

For winter 1999 and fall 1998, the degree lists are official. Winter 1999 degrees were conferred March 20, 1999, and fall 1998 degrees were conferred December 12, 1998.

Names of degree candidates and recipients are listed alphabetically by college or school, degree, and term—spring 1999, winter 1999, fall 1998.

Robert Donald Clark Honors College

The garland, the Greco-Roman symbol of victory and honor, has been selected to represent the Clark Honors College, which offers students with exceptional abilities the opportunity to achieve their highest potential. Established in 1960, the college was named in honor of University of Oregon President Emeritus Robert D. Clark, whose vision and drive were instrumental in its creation.
