University of Oregon Commencement June 16, 2007

WELCOME—STUDENTS, PARENTS, AND FRIENDS—to the University of Oregon. With each year's commencement comes a great sense of accomplishment as well as an awareness of the future. This year is no exception, holding as it does the joy and satisfaction of achievement and the promise of challenges and opportunities that will stretch courage and creativity in new and exciting directions.

The University of Oregon began 131 years ago with a promise from one generation of Oregonians to future generations. This promise was based on the belief that education could make a difference in the lives of men and women, and it was this difference that would, in turn, improve the quality of the state, the nation, and the world. This year we renew our commitment to be a part of making a difference.

Our pledge is kept in part by the traditional commencement ceremony we attend today, and it will be kept in full by the accomplishments that you as graduates build and celebrate in the future.

On behalf of the university community, I offer our best wishes as you continue to fulfill that original promise in the years to come, and I offer our gratitude to your friends and families for their support and encouragement.

The president's centennial medallion, shown above, was commissioned in 1975 and is worn by the president as a badge of office during formal university ceremonies. Professor Emeritus Paul Buckner of the Department of Art created and executed the design, carved from the wood of the Oregon myrtle.

The University of Oregon opened its doors in 1876. Deady Hall housed the entire university in those days. Built of bricks made from clay dug out of the local hills, the building was guaranteed by its architect to last 1,000 years. The first commencement in 1878 graduated five students. Today the university serves more than 20,000 students on its 295-acre campus. More than 1,500 faculty members teach in its arts and sciences departments and in its professional schools and colleges.

University Mace

In medieval times the mace was usually carried into battle by kings, bishops, and other leaders for use as a weapon. Later on it came to be used more for ceremonial occasions. Today it is a symbol of authority.

Designed and created in 1981 by the late C. Max Nixon, Department of Art, the university mace—shown at right—combines copper, bronze, and silver in the four-sided spherical head atop an oiled walnut shaft. The sphere is made up of four university seals joined at a common axis. The outer rims of the seals are copper. The university's name and motto, in Latin, are in bronze. The mountain at the center of the sphere is in silver, and the forests and hills are in bronze. Surmounting the linked seals is a replica of Deady Hall, the university's first building, cast in bronze.

At the top of the oiled walnut shaft and within the sphere created by the seals is the university's founding date. At the base of the shaft is a finial ornament in bronze, finished with a stylized pine-cone pattern. Embedded in its tip is the seal of the state of Oregon, also in bronze.

Marshals

The academic procession is led by the university marshal, who carries the university mace. The position is one of honor and is traditionally held by a previous recipient of the Thomas F. Herman Faculty Achievement Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Students carrying the academic standards were selected by their academic departments or programs for outstanding scholarship, leadership, or contribution to the university. The green-and-yellow standards display the emblems of each school or college.

Presidential Medals

DAN GIUSTINA

Business acumen and public responsibility combine in the multidimensional life of Dan Giustina. From the management of timberland resources in the Northwest to commercial real estate holdings throughout the region, Dan's business and personal talents have created success in a broad spectrum of enterprises.

That business success has been conveyed into a personal commitment to the community that has nourished him since childhood, and to the University of Oregon, exemplified by his decades-long involvement with the UO Foundation, Lundquist College of Business, and Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. He has ably served each with distinction and exceptional dedication. In 2003, Dan and his family endowed more than forty Presidential Scholarships at the university, creating the Giustina Foundation Presidential Scholarship Program.

It is therefore a great honor to present to Dan Giustina the University of Oregon Presidential Medal.

WAN KOO HUH

Service to both the university and the world community is the hallmark of all presidential medalists. Through his family's personal investment and that of Farwest Steel, Wan Koo Huh has demonstrated his understanding of the university's role in the world—seeking knowledge in areas cultural, economic, social, and political—and sharing it to enrich the lives of those it serves.

Because of the Huh family's generosity and visionary leadership, the Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art has been praised internationally for its vast Korean holdings. A growing collection of traditional costumes and accessories, ceramics, paintings, and bronzes are now in the university's careful stewardship because of the generosity and commitment of the Huh family.

It is an honor to present to Wan Koo Huh the 2007 University of Oregon Presidential Medal in recognition of his outstanding service to the university and the world community.

The Presidential Medal was established in 1991 to honor individuals who have demonstrated extraordinary service to the university and whose professional and personal leadership in the world community places them among the nation's foremost citizens.

The medal is a hand-forged, solid-silver replica of the president's centennial medallion worn by the university president for ceremonial occasions.

Distinguished Service Awards

The Distinguished Service Award is presented to individuals who, by their knowledge and skills, have made a significant contribution to the cultural development of Oregon or society as a whole. The awards are presented by the University Senate on behalf of the faculty.

STUART ALLAN

Described by The Wall Street Journal as maker of "the world's most beautiful maps," cartographer Stuart Allan is coauthor and cartographic editor of the Atlas of Oregon, second edition. This two-year effort to completely retool the atlas resulted in a work that stands as perhaps the greatest single source of information about the state of Oregon.

As founder and president of Allan Cartography in Medford, Allan has designed and produced a wide range of maps that enable us to better perceive our place in the geography of our lives. It is an honor to present to Stuart Allan the University of Oregon Distinguished Service Award for 2007.

RUTH BASCOM

Her four-decade effort to develop Eugene's riverbank bike-trail system is symbolic of the commitment, energy, and dedication Ruth Bascom applies to her entire life.

This twelve-mile loop, now named the Ruth Bascom Riverbank Trail System, is but one of numerous examples of community involvement that include four years as Eugene's first female mayor, membership on various committees and commissions, and the offering of time and resources to many cultural and arts groups and events in the Eugene area.

Because she epitomizes a person who has made a significant contribution to the quality of life in Lane County as well as the entire state, it is an honor to present to Ruth Bascom the University of Oregon Distinguished Service Award for 2007.

TONY HOPSON

Options and opportunities are the stuff of Tony Hopson's career—options and opportunities for Portland's inner-city youth. With degrees in psychology and sociology as well as a certificate in counseling, he coached and counseled in Portland Public Schools.

But it is as the driving force behind Self Enhancement Inc., a Portland youth services organization, that he has opened those options and opportunities to the youth of Portland, and in the process has been recognized as a "point of light" by former president George H. W. Bush for the wide variety of activities and services he has helped make available to youth and families in the area.

For his dedication to this life-changing work as well as for his many other community activities, it is an honor to present to Tony Hopson the University of Oregon Distinguished Service Award for 2007.

University of Oregon Alumni Association Awards

Outstanding Young Alumna

KRISTA PARENT

Described as "an instructional leader of the highest caliber" and "one that leads from a visionary perspective," Krista Parent garnered national attention when she was honored as the 2007 National Superintendent of the Year for her work as the South Lane School District superintendent.

Parent, who received her undergraduate degree from Oregon in 1984 with a focus in human development and performance, began her career as a physical education, health, and mathematics teacher more than twenty years ago. While her career progressed, she received her master's degree in 1992.

A native Oregonian, Parent moved into district administration roles, eventually becoming assistant superintendent for the South Lane School District in 1996. In 2001, she was named superintendent. While guiding the district to its position as state leader in literacy, mathematics, and technology, Parent was also working toward her doctorate in educational leadership, which she completed in 2004. A former Duck softball player, she serves on a number of local boards.

For her career accomplishments and commitment to the University of Oregon, Krista Parent is a deserving recipient of the Alumni Association's 2007 Outstanding Young Alumna Award.

Distinguished Alumna

MARGO GRANT WALSH

Acknowledged as one of the most powerful and influential women in American architecture and interior architecture, Margo Grant Walsh '60 paved the way for women in her field and has been credited with establishing the profession as it is defined today.

An inductee into the Interior Design Hall of Fame, Walsh began her career when she joined Gensler & Associates Architects in 1973 as director of interior design in Houston, and has since served on the firm's board of directors, opened offices in Boston, Washington, D.C., and London, and in 1995 was appointed vice chairman of Gensler.

An aficionado of fine crafts as well as interiors and furniture, Margo Walsh donated 250 pieces of American and English silver from her twentieth-century arts and crafts collection to the Portland Art Museum in 2002.

In addition to her professional accomplishments, which include her work with several Native American nations, the Buffalo Bill Historical Center, and the National Museum of the American Indian in Wyoming, she has served as a mentor for many aspiring architects and interior designers.

Margo Grant Walsh's achievements and excellence in the design industry and her commitment to the University of Oregon makes her a natural choice for the Alumni Association's 2007 Distinguished Alumna Award.

The University of Oregon Alumni Association traditionally recognizes two individuals who have attained extraordinary distinction in their chosen professional field or through personal endeavor. Nominations are reviewed and award recipients are selected by the association's board of directors.

Thomas F. Herman Faculty Achievement Awards for Distinguished Teaching

The Herman Award recognizes senior faculty members whose careers have been characterized by years of sterling teaching. Originally created in 1984 with a grant from the Burlington Northern Foundation, the award continues today with funding provided by an endowment established by former UO Foundation trustee Thomas F. Herman.

JOSEPH G. FRACCHIA

Robert Donald Clark Honors College

Joseph Fracchia has been described as a "massively popular and profoundly dedicated teacher." As a master of the art of teaching, he provides students with rigorous and demanding classes, and with "life-changing experiences" resulting in lasting bonds with his students. He teaches at all levels in the honors college and his classes are among the first to fill.

Fracchia's course evaluations are stunning. One student commented that "his way of sparking interest in any topic makes him one of my favorite teachers." Another wrote, "Dr. Fracchia's teaching is absolutely amazing!" Joseph Fracchia sets a high standard for teaching and for student scholarship. Furthermore, he demonstrates the value of developing lifelong relationships with students.

In recognition of his teaching excellence, Joseph Fracchia is a recipient of the 2007 Thomas F. Herman Faculty Achievement Award for Distinguished Teaching.

MARIAN E. SMITH

School of Music and Dance

Marian Smith's classes win raves from her students, who call her "stimulating" and "exceptional." A specialist in music history, opera, and the music of dance, Smith brings previous eras to life with recordings, video, readings in the literature of the period, and even in-class demonstrations of the polonaise, a stately Polish promenade.

Her dynamism in class is exemplified by a screening of Richard Wagner's opera Das Rheingold, followed by a discussion of German culture. Smith's multidisciplinary approach has fired generations of students with enthusiasm for the subject and for her classes, judged by many as an "amazing experience."

As an instructor who has demonstrated long-standing excellence in teaching and has contributed significantly to student learning, Marian Smith is a recipient of the 2007 Thomas F. Herman Faculty Achievement Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Wayne T. Westling Award for University Leadership and Service

SUZANNE CLARK

Department of English

Energy, tact, time, knowledge, and wit are foundational qualities that Professor Suzanne Clark brings to the leadership and service she offers on the University of Oregon campus.

From the thorny issues of the President's Special Task Force on Athletics to campus diversity, from her work on search committees to the Faculty Advisory Council to service as senate president, her impact has been positive and invaluable.

For her skills at gaining consensus from wildly differing points of view as well as her selfless commitment to faculty governance, it is an honor to present the 2007 Wayne T. Westling Award for University Leadership and Service to Professor Suzanne Clark.

Ersted Award for Distinguished Teaching

LEAH MIDDLEBROOK

Comparative Literature Program

College of Arts and Sciences

Leah Middlebrook's passion, brilliance, and attention to detail make her a remarkably impressive force in the classroom, where she divides her teaching efforts between courses in the Comparative Literature Program and Spanish courses in the Department of Romance Languages. Whether teaching first-year undergraduates or advanced graduate students, she teaches with care, elegance, and erudition. Her Comparative Literature 101 class in storytelling and narrative receives praise for instilling confidence and a rich sense of discovery in her students, and the skillful way she weaves her knowledge of psychoanalytic theory and the social and political history of Spain into her advanced courses in Spanish poetry and cinema wins her kudos as well.

With a teaching style that is both rigorous and energizing, her teaching evaluations are "stunning at every level of the curriculum." Students write of her patience, passion, and impact.

As an exceptional teacher who inspires and changes her students' lives, Leah Middlebrook is a worthy recipient of the 2007 Ersted Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Named in honor of Wayne T. Westling, professor of law at the University of Oregon from 1979 until his death in 2001, this award recognizes exemplary long-term service to the university, inspired leadership, and commitment to principles of faculty governance and the fostering of inclusiveness and respect.

The late A. J. Ersted established the Ersted Award for Distinguished Teaching to enable the University of Oregon to annually honor faculty members "who have taught comparatively short periods and have demonstrated exceptional abilities to induce students to reason and not merely to memorize." The Ersted Award is presented to faculty members early in their teaching careers.

Charles E. Johnson Memorial Award

University of Oregon Doctoral Research Fellowship

The Johnson Award was created by the UO faculty to honor the memory of Charles E. Johnson—professor of accounting, dean of liberal arts, and acting president—whose UO career spanned the years 1952 to 1969. The award recognizes the unique qualities that served Johnson well during his acting presidency in the often-turbulent 1960s.

Johnson's legacy to the university is one marked by outstanding contributions as a scholar and teacher as well as an outspoken academic leader.

Established in 1991, the UO Doctoral Research Fellowship is a collaborative program of the Graduate School and the Office of the Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies, designed to promote excellence in research at the University of Oregon by supporting advanced doctoral degree candidates as they complete their dissertations.

LOUISE WESTLING

Department of English

Teaching, speaking, and writing across a staggering number of literary fields, Professor Louise Westling's career encompasses three decades and moves from Renaissance literature to the American South to literature and the environment.

Her leadership as a founding member of the Association for the Study of Literature and the Environment has brought prominence to the University of Oregon in this growing field, and her dedication to the teaching of literature has enabled her department to dramatically improve the intellectual foundation for its literary studies program.

Upholding freedom of speech, illustrating with her career both adaptation and tradition, practicing the examination of all ideas, and following truth to wherever it leads, she combines sensitivity, courage, and common sense in all her work. It is an honor to present to Louise Westling the Charles E. Johnson Memorial Award for 2007.

TAKIYA AHMED

Dissertation Organometallic Chemistry in Aqueous Solution: A Survey of Water-Soluble Hydration Catalysts

Takiya Ahmed has dedicated herself to a number of admirable pursuits, including the creation of a new, "green" method of manufacturing acrylates, a plastic commonly found in paint, safety glass, and a host of other products. Her method would not only consume less energy, but also would reduce by-product waste and eliminate the need to use dangerous sulfuric acid.

Beyond her research, Ahmed is committed to helping at-risk youth to pursue and excel in higher education through her participation in the Oregon youth scholars program. She is a cofounding member and the outreach chair of the UO Women in Graduate Sciences.

Not only do her colleagues value her skills in the laboratory, they also view her as an exceptional role model for other graduate students, undergraduates, and the younger students she mentors. Her work in chemistry and her commitment to encouraging others to pursue careers in science make her an outstanding recipient of the 2007–8 University of Oregon Doctoral Research Fellowship.

These Mortar Board members were initiated as juniors spring term 2006.

Friars

Established in 1910, Friars is the oldest honorary on the UO campus. Its membership is composed of faculty members (honorary) as well as students who have completed at least three years of study. To be selected, candidates must demonstrate the potential for leadership within the university and the community and a commitment to the university as alumni.

Senior Recognition Awards

AAUW Senior Recognition Award

HANNAH BONTRAGER
SHERRY DICKERSON

Presented by the Oregon division of the American Association of University Women, this award is presented to an outstanding senior woman. Award criteria are scholarship, character, personality, contributions to campus and community life, and the potential for future growth.

N. Ray Hawk Award

REMI NAGATA

Established in 1982 to honor N. Ray Hawk, a former UO vice president for administration and finance, the Hawk Award is presented to the outstanding member of the senior class. Recipients are selected for their leadership, scholastic achievement, service to students and the university, involvement in student activities, and contribution to the quality of undergraduate life.

Jackson Award

NICOLE GARBIN

The Jackson Award was created to recognize senior students for their athletic ability, inspiration to other athletes, scholarship, and leadership ability. It was created in 1981 and is named in recognition of Muriel Jackson, a retired assistant vice president for administration, and her husband Ross.

Wilson Cup

PALOMA REZA

The Wilson Cup was established in 1991 to honor Shirley Wilson, former dean of students. It recognizes seniors whose outstanding leadership and willingness to challenge conventional thought have stimulated awareness of and fostered education in the areas of social and cultural issues.

Paul Olum Award

JENNIFER CHIEM

Created in 1995 and sponsored by the UO Alumni Association, the Paul Olum Award recognizes the graduating senior who best exemplifies the qualities of the UO's thirteenth president. Olum was widely recognized for his academic excellence, integrity, concern for people, and dedication to the university's welfare.

Military Science Commissioned Officers

University students who take military science courses may also participate in the process that leads to a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. Students listed here will be commissioned at a ceremony held June 22, 2007.

Academic Costume

The hood is lined with the official colors of the degree-conferring institution; for the University of Oregon these are yellow and green. The outside trimming of the hood and the color of the tassel signify the subject in which the degree is conferred.

At the University of Oregon it is customary for master's degree candidates to wear their hoods in the procession. Doctoral candidates carry their hoods and are hooded during the ceremony. Each bachelor's degree candidate changes the cap tassel from front right to front left as the degree is conferred. Caps are removed during the pledge song and during the commencement address.

Honor Cords

Bachelor's degree candidates who graduate with academic honors may wear honor cords over their gowns. Colors of honor cords signify specific honors.

Graduation with Latin Honors

Graduating seniors who have earned at least 90 credits in residence at the University of Oregon and have completed all other university degree requirements shall be awarded graduation with honors: upper 2 percent, summa cum laude; upper 5 percent, magna cum laude; upper 10 percent, cum laude. These distinctions are based on students' percentile rankings for their graduation term. The honors determination for spring 2007 degree candidates is provisional. It is based on academic work completed prior to the graduation term and is not official until final grades have been recorded.

Names of degree recipients and candidates are listed alphabetically by college or school, degree, and term—fall 2006, winter 2007, spring 2007.

For fall 2006 and winter 2007, the degree lists are official. Fall 2006 degrees were conferred in December, and winter 2007 degrees were conferred in March.

For spring 2007, the students whose names are listed here were considered to be candidates for the degrees indicated when this program was printed. This is not an official degree list. Degrees and diplomas will be awarded to those candidates who have successfully completed all requirements by the end of spring term 2007.

Robert Donald Clark Honors College

The garland, the Greco-Roman symbol of victory and honor, has been selected to represent the Clark Honors College, which offers students with exceptional abilities the opportunity to achieve their highest potential. Established in 1960, the college was named in honor of University of Oregon President Emeritus Robert D. Clark, whose vision and drive were instrumental in its creation.

College of Arts and Sciences

An open book is a fitting symbol for the College of Arts and Sciences, which encourages a spirit of inquiry and discovery in its many programs in the liberal arts and the sciences. The college was established in 1876.

School of Architecture and Allied Arts

A stylized letterform, integrating the three basic design shapes, symbolizes the creativity and utility in the School of Architecture and Allied Arts. Established in 1914, the school provides training in the philosophy and expertise necessary for responding to human needs for shelter and a harmonious relationship with the environment.

College of Education

The lamp of knowledge is an established symbol for the role of teaching and learning in society. It is a fitting insignia for the College of Education, which provides students, professionals, and the public with a wide range of services and training programs in the teaching-learning process. The college was established in 1910.

School of Journalism and Communication

The flash or starburst, with its many rays reaching to infinity, suggests the importance of communication to society. The School of Journalism and Communication fosters this relationship in its professional programs in the areas of advertising, communication studies, electronic media, print media, and public relations. The school was established in 1916.

School of Music and Dance

The familiar treble clef and the "dancing" eighth rests represent the School of Music and Dance. Established in 1900, the School of Music and Dance fosters the development of teaching and performance skills, creativity, scholarship, and the creation of new works and ideas in the fields of music and dance.

School of Law

The scale of justice needs no lengthy interpretation. It is the universal symbol for the highest ideals of human society, which are reflected in the programs and goals of the University of Oregon School of Law. The school was established in 1884.

Graduate School

The mortar board and diploma are a simple representation of the Graduate School's central purpose—to coordinate all advanced-study programs on the campus and ensure that graduate students receive the support necessary for pursuing their postbaccalaureate goals. The school was established in 1900.

Oregon Pledge Song

Old Oregon, we pledge to thee
Our honor and fidelity,
Both now and in the years to be,
A never failing loyalty.
Fair Oregon, thy name shall be Written high in liberty.
Now, uncovered, swear we every one
Our pledge to Oregon.

John Stark Evans, a member of the music faculty for many years, wrote the Oregon Pledge Song, fondly known as "Old Oregon," in 1919.
He gave the rights to the pledge song to the University of Oregon.
