Capturing Film with Natural Light

The study of how naturally lit dark and light spaces can be created to produce film | Institute of the Moving Image | Taylor Fieroh how do filmmakers learn to use artificial lighting when creating a scene?

can the space provide natural day light in the positions needed to produce the right emotion?

the light studio represents soft lights and the dark studio represents hard lights.