This photo was taken at Antelope Canyon in Paige, Arizona. The colors in the canyon are extraordinary and I find the interplay between light and dark truly breathtaking. When I am not in class or the research lab, I often find myself outdoors and taking photos. Photography is a form of self-expression and it takes practice and patience to get the “perfect shot”. I also believe that photography, like research, is a learning process that never ends.