

Old Oregon

JANUARY

STABILITY

It's a big word. You've heard it tossed about in ground - talk ever since the first pilot recovered from a spin and got credit for inventing a new stunt.

Here's another meaning for stability, applied to gasoline:

There are dull, plodding gasolines that are slow to start and mean to handle in cool motors. And there are flighty, erratic gasolines, about as lively (and about as dependable) as dynamite.

Mark them both off your list. You aren't flying either a donkey-engine or a bolt of lightning.

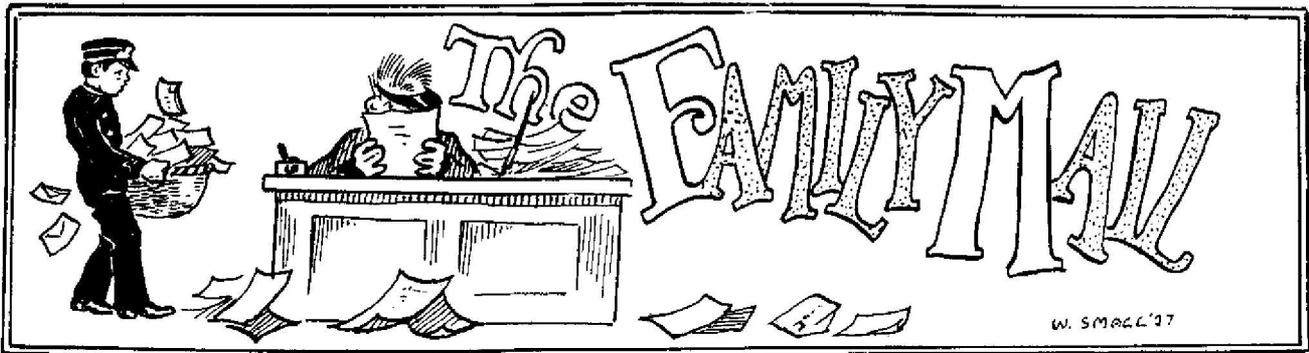

How about a gasoline with enough snap to it for starting pep, and then enough plod to settle down and drive out the maximum revs hour after hour?

That's gasoline stability. You don't find it accidentally. You ask for it by name.

1 1 1

AVIATION GASOLINE

December 20, 1929

Dear Editor:

This is my second year at the Albany High School, teaching history and languages.

Our first baby, Richard Lawrence, was born at St. Vincent's Hospital, Portland, on November 7, weight seven and one-half pounds. I hope Dr. R. C. Clark sees this.

Sincerely,

Philip A. Lehman, M.A. '29,
Box 296,
Albany, Oregon.

December 13, 1929

Dear Editor:

Please send my January OLD OREGON to Chicago.

I will leave the University of Chicago next June and will work in a leather factory in North Manchuria. Anyone who cares to write to me will be wholeheartedly welcome and promptly answered. My address will be as follows:

Care Mr. T. C. Wang,
Ta Lo Hsin & Company, Fuchiatien,
Harbin, China.

Sincerely,
Nien Pu Chai, '29,
5626 Drexel Avenue,
Chicago, Illinois.

December 20, 1929

Dear Editor:

Still in Astoria. Not married—and no prospects. Thought the Homecoming issue of OLD OREGON was the best ever. Got a great kick out of the letter written by my former classmate, William Schultze. Sorry to hear that he is so absorbed in the business world that he hasn't time to read OLD OREGON. Must be getting to be a big "butter and egg man."

Writing anything I think has a chance to sell and have guessed right on several occasions lately.

Sincerely,

Dick Syring, '28,
"Astoria Evening Budget," Astoria, Oregon.

December 23, 1929

Dear Editor:

The call of the sagebrush country has taken me to Burns, where I am enjoying my work as coach of the high school. The football season has been to my liking and to the boys' as well, especially when I offered them an opportunity of "mussing me up" during practice sessions.

I was present when O. A. C. took it on the chin and witnessed the inevitable outcome with unrepressed pleasure.

I've received the OLD OREGON in a round-about manner and have read it in company with Roland Stearns, '28. At present he is my room-mate, but he has a bed of his own, and as he snores very little, he doesn't keep me awake.

Very sincerely yours,

Vic Wetzel, '29,
Burns, Oregon.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Word received in the Alumni office points to the fact that Mr. Wetzel was married Christmas eve to Afton Elizabeth Marinelle, '29, at Nampa, Idaho, home of the bride.

December 1, 1929

Dear Editor:

In the excitement of becoming settled in Los Angeles and starting to teach, and the general rush, I forgot your first reminder of alumni dues. If it is not too late now however to remain within the fold I am enclosing my check.

Representatives of Oregon seem few and far between down here, but occasionally one sees a familiar face and then the famed "hello" serves in case the name cannot be recalled.

Thank you for your recent friendly reminder.

Sincerely yours,
Marjorie Isherwood, '28,
Marlborough School,
Los Angeles, California.

December 4, 1929

Dear Editor:

It seems strange to me to be out of school and away from Oregon forever, but at that I certainly am enjoying myself. I have a position with Parrott and Company, brokerage concern. The work is very interesting, and I have very congenial people to work with. But I decided I didn't have enough to do to occupy my time, so I started a studio in one of the downtown buildings, in fact it is the Studio Building here in Tacoma. I decided that as long as I majored in art at school, that I really should go on with it and at least stay in practice somewhat, so I have two rooms fixed up (one is really a storeroom) and all the furniture is painted green. The color scheme is lavender, green, and yellow, and it really looks very attractive with lamps, chairs, couches and pillows, and of course two great big working tables. I'm making Christmas cards for people and taking orders for most any kind of decorative work. Of course, I have just evenings to devote to it, and Saturdays and Sundays, but I manage to get a lot done, and I just love the work. It is up on the top floor of the building and has windows all across one side which opens onto a court.

I surely look forward to my OLD OREGON. As I read the class notes it seems to me that everyone is either going or coming from Europe, or New York—or some place equally as thrilling. You never can tell, I may be writing you from there myself in time—at least I hope so. It seems to me the magazine is especially good this year. It contains a lot of good news.

Best wishes and good luck to you.

Sincerely,
Marian Barnes, '29,
Parrott & Company,
226 Tacoma Building,
Tacoma, Washington.

January 9, 1930

Dear Editor:

Hello Everybody!

Am sending check for $2 for Alumni dues and OLD OREGON—couldn't live without it.

Had the pleasure of meeting Dean Straub on Broadway recently—that smile is worth a million! You know, when I meet dear Dean Straub and recall those "Days at Oregon—they are the best of all"—I feel ten years younger.

Here's to 1930—May it hold the best of good fortune to Dean Straub, Oregon and OLD OREGON.

Sincerely yours,
Dessell Johnson Eslick, ex-'22,
901 Jarrett Street,
Portland, Oregon.

JOHN HANCOCK SERIES

The Worker's Wife

THIS advertisement is about Group Insurance, a matter which is sure to come up for the consideration of modern business executives. Group insurance will not settle all employee problems, but it will help tremendously.

Consider only one angle: the Worker's Wife. In case of death or disability to her husband it is she and her children who benefit by group insurance. This means that she is going to help you in the matter of the man's contentment and co-operation in his job.

This is only one angle of the problem. For full details read "Management, Men and Motives," issued by this company. Your local John Hancock office will be glad to send it to you or it can be obtained by writing

INQUIRY BUREAU

John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

197 CLARENDON ST., BOSTON, MASS.

A.G.
SIXTY-FIFTH YEAR OF BUSINESS

Here Is the University's New Football Coach

DR. C. W. SPEARS,
who has resigned as head coach of the University of Minnesota to accept Oregon's offer.

Dr. Spears Will Find Plenty of Fine Material in the Oregon Squad

Dr. C. W. Spears Will Head Football At Oregon

OREGON, athletically speaking, is again "sitting on top of the world"—at least that part of it that is represented in the Pacific Coast Conference circles. Dr. Clarence W. Spears, for five years coach at the University of Minnesota, is coming to the University of Oregon as head football coach. With the reputation of never having had a losing season, the new coach will bring to Oregon a knowledge of football that is unexcelled in the country, a zest for the game as a game, and a warm personality that instantly attracts and holds friends—so much is assured by those who know him.

As this article is going to press, Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall is speeding on to Missoula, Montana, where at a conference with the new coach all details of the position will be worked out. So far it is known that Dr. Spears is coming, that he is to receive $11,500 and that he is to work under a five year contract. Except for the contract, all other phases of President Hall's plan for a coach who will fit into the School of Physical Education as a part of the general education system will be fulfilled.

Dr. Spears will, in addition to his duties as head football coach, serve as a professor of physical education, and will be a physician on the staff of the health department. For these last two duties the University will pay him $5,000 a year, while the students pay him $6,500 for coaching.

The announcement of Dr. Spears' election brought elation to the entire state. Messages have been pouring in in a steady stream, and all those interested athletically declare that the University has made the best choice possible. With but two or three rivals in the entire country, the genius of this doctor-coach is expected to maintain Oregon athletics at a high standard and place Oregon along with other outstanding institutions all over the United States.

The joy that the Associated Students feel in the election of the new mentor is perhaps best expressed in the official announcement made by Tom Stoddard, president. It follows:

Stoddard's Statement

"Dr. Clarence W. Spears of Minnesota was today elected head football coach at the University of Oregon by unanimous vote of the Executive Council. This action was approved by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University, and he will submit it to the State Board of Higher Education for final confirmation.

"The election of Dr. Spears has come after a thorough investigation of all coaches available and we believe that we are electing the very best man that we can get. The highest recommendations that have been made for him, the fact that students, faculty and alumni of Minnesota were unanimous in their desire to keep him there, and his excellent work as coach, make him outstanding for the place.

"Dr. Spears will work in perfectly with the athletic situation here. Except for the fact that he will be given a contract, every detail of arrangements are in accord with President Hall's plans for coaching on a professorial basis. It was agreed that the contract should be offered, since the council is agreed that it wishes this assurance that Dr. Spears will remain at the University permanently.

"The council has delegated to Dr. Hall full authority to meet with Dr. Spears to work out details upon which he will accept our offer. We expect that Dr. Hall will start east at once and will meet with Dr. Spears within a very few days.

"The Associated Students will pay $6,500 of Dr. Spears' salary, for being head football coach, and the University $5,000 for his work as a professor of physical education and as physician in the health department.

"I feel sure that students, alumni and friends of the University join me in declaring that in Dr. Spears we have selected the most outstanding coach in the entire country that is available for us, and we can all look forward to a bright future in Oregon athletics."

"Who's Who" Record

Dr. Clarence W. Spears was born July 24, 1894, at DeWitt, Arkansas. He went to Kewanee High School at Kewanee, Illinois, and was graduated from there. He was a student at Knox College and from there he went to Rush Medical College in Chicago, where he was graduated in medicine in 1921.

He married Cornelia Egbert McConnell, of Oak Park, Illinois, September 13, 1917. He has two children, Janet Baird, and Joan Adair. Dr. Spears was freshman football coach at Dartmouth in 1916. He was made head football coach at Dartmouth in 1917 and continued in this capacity until 1920. He was made coach at the University of West Virginia in 1921 and coached football there until 1924.

In 1925 Dr. Spears moved to the University of Minnesota, where he has served as the head football coach since.

Mr. Spears served in the Medical Corps during the World War. He is a member of American and Minnesota State

Medical Association. He belongs to the American Legion, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Nu Sigma, Sphinx. He is a member of the Republican party. He attends the Presbyterian church and is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Coaching Record of Dr. C. W. Spears

During the past three years Minnesota has lost but three football games under the able coaching of Dr. Clarence W. Spears. Of these, two were by one point and the third by two points. Few coaches in the United States have such an enviable record.

Following is the record of football teams coached by Dr. Spears:

MINNESOTA—1929

Minnesota, 39; Coe, 0.
Minnesota, 15; Vanderbilt, 6.
Minnesota, 26; Northwestern, 14.
Minnesota, 54; Ripon, 0.
Minnesota, 19; Indiana, 7.
Minnesota, 7; Iowa, 9.
Minnesota, 6; Michigan, 7.
Minnesota, 13; Wisconsin, 12.

MINNESOTA—1928

Minnesota, 40; Creighton, 0.
Minnesota, 15; Purdue, 0.
Minnesota, 33; Chicago, 7.
Minnesota, 6; Iowa, 7.
Minnesota, 21; Indiana, 12.
Minnesota, 52; Haskell, 0.
Minnesota, 6; Wisconsin, 0.

MINNESOTA—1927

Minnesota, 57; North Dakota, 10.
Minnesota, 40; Oklahoma Aggies, 0.
Minnesota, 14; Indiana, 14.
Minnesota, 38; Iowa, 0.
Minnesota, 13; Wisconsin, 7.
Minnesota, 7; Notre Dame, 7.
Minnesota, 27; Drake, 6.
Minnesota, 18; Michigan, 7.

MINNESOTA—1926

Minnesota, 51; North Dakota, 0.
Minnesota, 7; Notre Dame, 20.
Minnesota, 0; Michigan, 20.
Minnesota, 67; Wabash, 0.
Minnesota, 16; Wisconsin, 10.
Minnesota, 41; Iowa, 0.
Minnesota, 81; Butler, 0.
Minnesota, 6; Michigan, 7.

MINNESOTA—1925

Minnesota, 25; North Dakota, 6.
Minnesota, 34; Grinnell, 6.

Minnesota, 32; Wabash, 6.
Minnesota, 7; Notre Dame, 19.
Minnesota, 12; Wisconsin, 12.
Minnesota, 33; Butler, 7.
Minnesota, 33; Iowa, 6.
Minnesota, 0; Michigan, 35.

WEST VIRGINIA—1924

West Virginia, 21; West Virginia Wesleyan, 6.
West Virginia, 35; Allegheny, 6.
West Virginia, 7; Pittsburg, 14.
West Virginia, 55; Geneva, 4.
West Virginia, 13; Centre, 6.
West Virginia, 71; Bethany, 6.
West Virginia, 34; Colgate, 2.
West Virginia, 6; Washington-Lee, 0.
West Virginia, 40; Washington and Jefferson, 7.

WEST VIRGINIA—1923

West Virginia, 21; West Virginia Wesleyan, 7.
West Virginia, 28; Allegheny, 0.
West Virginia, 13; Pittsburg, 7.
West Virginia, 81; Marshall, 0.
West Virginia, 13; Penn State, 13.
West Virginia, 27; Rutgers, 7.
West Virginia, 63; Washington-Lee, 0.
West Virginia, 48; St. Louis, 0.
West Virginia, 2; Washington and Jefferson, 7.

WEST VIRGINIA—1922

West Virginia, 20; West Virginia Wesleyan, 3.
West Virginia, 55; Marietta, 0.
West Virginia, 9; Pittsburg, 0.
West Virginia, 12; Washington and Lee, 12.
West Virginia, 28; Rutgers, 0.

West Virginia, 34; Cincinnati, 0.
West Virginia, 33; Indiana, 0.
West Virginia, 13; Virginia, 0.
West Virginia, 28; Ohio University, 0.
West Virginia, 14; Washington and Jefferson, 0.
West Virginia, 21; Gonzaga, 13.

WEST VIRGINIA—1921

West Virginia, 35; West Virginia Wesleyan, 3.
West Virginia, 50; Cincinnati, 0.
West Virginia, 13; Pittsburg, 21.
West Virginia, 7; Ohio University, 0.
West Virginia, 0; Bucknell, 0.
West Virginia, 14; Lehigh, 21.
West Virginia, 28; Washington and Lee, 7.
West Virginia, 7; Virginia, 0.
West Virginia, 7; Rutgers, 17.
West Virginia, 0; Washington and Jefferson, 13.

DARTMOUTH—1920

Dartmouth, 31; Norwich, 0.
Dartmouth, 7; Penn State, 14.
Dartmouth, 27; Holy Cross, 14.
Dartmouth, 0; Syracuse, 10.

Dartmouth, 34; Tufts, 7.
Dartmouth, 14; Cornell, 3.
Dartmouth, 44; Pennsylvania, 7.
Dartmouth, 14; Brown, 6.
Dartmouth, 28; University of Washington, 7.

DARTMOUTH—1919

Dartmouth, 40; Springfield, 0.
Dartmouth, 13; Norwich, 0.
Dartmouth, 27; Massachusetts Aggies, 7.
Dartmouth, 19; Penn State, 13.
Dartmouth, 9; Cornell, 0.
Dartmouth, 7; Colgate, 7.
Dartmouth, 20; Pennsylvania, 19.
Dartmouth, 6; Brown, 7.

DARTMOUTH—1917

Dartmouth, 14; Springfield, 0.
Dartmouth, 32; Middlebury, 6.
Dartmouth, 6; West Virginia, 2.
Dartmouth, 21; New Hampshire State, 6.
Dartmouth, 10; Penn State, 7.
Dartmouth, 0; Pennsylvania, 7.
Dartmouth, 0; Tufts, 27.
Dartmouth, 0; Brown, 13.

Geology Students to Study in Air

THE University of Oregon geology department is conducting the first college laboratory period ever held in the air. Eight advanced geology students are enrolled in the course, which is being conducted from the cockpit of an airplane. Major G. H. Eckerson of the Medford and Springfield airports, and prominent stunt flyer, is giving the students special rates for the use of one of his planes. The students observe the major structural features of the country about Eugene, interpreting its topography, the general physiography, noting the valley floor, the edge of the Cascade lava flows, the buttes, and other special features of the upper Willamette River. The difference in formation of soil as it shows up in various colors will also be studied.

After the air-study is completed, the students turn in a report to Dr. Smith, who has already made the trip. The department is expecting some interesting results from this unique study method.

Here's What We Said Before We Got the New Coach

THERE'S just one step more to take in the football coaching situation at the University of Oregon and it will be all over—for a while at least. This is the election of the new coach, and word is that this last step will be taken in the very, very near future. Just who the coach is, how much he will receive, and other such details will all be announced at the time the selection is told.

Captain John J. McEwan, who recently announced he would not stay on at Oregon after his contract expired at the end of the year 1930, and who was then subsequently asked to resign at once so that the whole affair could be cleared up immediately, settled with the Associated Students for $6,250 of the $8,500 salary due him under his contract. He was entirely satisfied, since under the terms of the settlement he was released from teaching classes originally scheduled for the winter and spring terms in the Department of English.

The search for a new coach for Oregon is nation-wide, and very thorough and painstaking. Every coach that stands a chance of being considered is being thoroughly investigated, and those looking promise the best man that can be obtained. The departure of Captain McEwan has not disrupted the routine or inner workings of the athletic department in the slightest, and the new man can step into an orderly and well regulated place.

The new coach will slip into as nice a situation as ever faced a new man. He will have plenty of excellent material in men that are both experienced and good players. He will have a made to order schedule that will just about allow him to win a championship, or come very near to it. He will have one inter-sectional game, that with Drake at Chicago, early in the season, and another good non-conference contest, that with St. Mary's, at the end of the season.

The new mentor will find a school that is now keenly interested in football, and ready to back him to the limit. He will be associated with a group of men who are working in perfect harmony. All in all, the situation is just the reverse of that found in schools where changes in coaches are being made.

Oregon has had great football teams in the past and is rich in athletic lore. Only a coach who can uphold these fine traditions, who thoroughly knows the game, and who is of equal calibre to other Pacific Coast Conference mentors will be considered by the University. That such men are available, and that one will be obtained shortly, is the assurance given by the Associated Students and the University officials. The football outlook was never better, and everyone interested, alumni, students and loyal Oregonians, can look forward to a successful future, those in close touch with the situation declare.

Homer Angell Is Elected Alumni President

By MARGARET BOYER

FROM eighteen states in the Union, from Canada, Hawaii, Alaska, Haiti, Japan, came returns on the post-card ballots sent to Oregon alumni for the election of Association officers. When the ballots were counted on December 31 (the day set by the Constitution) it was found that Homer Angell had defeated Edward Bailey by a narrow margin, the two candidates running close together throughout the count. The two vice-president offices were filled by Mae D. Kinsey, Eugene, and Carl E. Nelson, Salem.

Homer D. Angell needs no introduction to alumni because for years he has been a leader in alumni affairs. He is a Portland attorney, member of the firm Angell, Fisher and Sabin. After taking his B.A. from Oregon in 1900, he went to Columbia University, where he received his M.A. and LL.B. degrees. He then returned to the West and began the practice of law in Portland.

Out of school Mr. Angell continued the many-sided interests which had made him combine at the University and later at Columbia athletic prowess with scholastic attainment. At Oregon he played football, participated in oratory and debate, and ranked high in his University work. So out of college he kept his interest in the University while he took up the duties of a lawyer. His keen delight in athletics was never permitted to bias his decisions.

It is not difficult for a member of the alumni office staff to wax enthusiastic in writing of Homer Angell. His steady, sane, good judgment in alumni matters as evidenced time and time again in the old Alumni Council meetings, his readiness to hear all sides of a question before reaching a decision, his fearless action when his mind is made up are qualities well-known to many who have served with him. But the qualities which usually remain unsung in a man are the ones which have impressed this humble critic of alumni affairs. Mr. Angell is not only willing to give freely of his time in attending alumni meetings, but he is prompt in attendance—a virtue which lightens the task of alumni office workers and so looms large on their horizon.

Lest we be considered prejudiced in favor of Mr. Angell, we quote from a supposedly unbiased source, the Oregon Voter for January 12, 1929, an issue devoted to Who's Who in the 1929 Legislature.

"The wail about the public's inability to enlist on its behalf the services of men outstandingly successful in their own professions or occupations," says the Oregon Voter, "loses some of its substance when we consider Representative Homer D. Angell, Multnomah County. Representative Angell is one of the several attorneys in the Multnomah delegation. But it is safe to say, without disparagement or discredit to any of his associates, that he has reputation, legal standing and volume and character of practice superior to some and equalled only by a few of his practicing colleagues. This is the first public elective office that Mr. Angell has ever held. When he announced his candidacy before the 1928 primaries, an act that was purely voluntary and not prompted by any group or interest, considerable spontaneous support greeted his entrance into politics. His activities in connection with the Boy Scout Council in Portland, his presidency of the association that financed Portland's first large outdoor stadium, the character of his legal clients and outstanding reputation as a clean, upstanding citizen—these things were a great help to him, and gave people a substantial confidence in his candidacy."

Mae D. Kinsey, one of the two vice-presidents elected, is a resident of Eugene and a teacher of English in the Eugene High School. She received her B.A. cum laude from the University in 1905 with the class which this June will celebrate its twenty-fifth reunion. When she was nominated at Homecoming, it was pointed out that she is a member of the class of 1905 and that, until the change in the Constitution a few years ago, it was a custom to elect the vice-president of the Association from among the women members of the class which would hold its twenty-fifth reunion the following Commencement. Since her graduation, Miss Kinsey has taught in the Eugene schools with the exception of the years 1918 and 1919, when she was in Washington, D. C., in the civil service. She served at that time in the Ordinance Department and the Quartermaster's Department, U. S. A.

Carl E. Nelson, of Salem, the other vice-president elected by the ballot, was graduated in 1919 from the University, receiving his B.S. in economics. He was active in student affairs while at Oregon and is a member of Friars, Order of the "O," and Beta Theta Pi. During the War he was in the U. S. Marine Corps, aviation branch. He was married in 1919 to Genevieve Diekey, ex'19. They have three children, Wayne S., Reed H., and Janice. After graduation, Mr. Nelson went into the bond business in Salem, first with Keeler Brothers and later with the firm Hatrem, Nelson and Company, Municipal Bond Dealers.

The officers elected this year will serve during 1930 and 1931, the two-year term of office voted last year by mail ballot having gone into effect with this election. Mr. Angell, Miss Kinsey and Mr. Nelson, together with Dr. Edwin R. Durmo, '23, of Grants Pass, who was chosen by the Convention of Alumni Delegates as their representative-at-large, and Jeannette Calkins, '18, secretary-treasurer, re-elected at Homecoming, form the Executive Council of the Alumni Association.

The retiring president is John C. Veatch, '07, who was elected to serve in 1928 and re-elected for 1929. Retiring vice-presidents are Mrs. Margaret Bannard Goodall, '04, of Eugene, and James T. Donald, '15, of Baker.

Oregonians Dine Together in N. Y.

NEW YORK CITY served as a rendezvous for several Oregon people interested in physical education, inasmuch as there were four national meetings going on at the same time. Dr. Harry A. Scott, former head of the Men's Physical Education Department, was elected secretary-treasurer of the National Society of College Directors of Physical Education. Dr. Delbert Oberteuffer, '23, delivered a paper on Research in Health Education before the sessions of the American Student Health Association.

Christmas dinner was enjoyed by some eighteen Oregonians at an up-town restaurant. Those included in the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Louie Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. Loye McGee; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Belshaw; Mr. and Mrs. Perry L. Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Abercrombie, former instructors in physical education; Mr. and Mrs. "Spike" Leslie; Glenn W. Howard; and Dr. and Mrs. D. Oberteuffer. It was interesting to note that all the men present were taking, or had taken, graduate work in physical education at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Death Takes Woman Member of First Graduating Class

SOMETIME before dawn on December 28, death came to Mrs. Ellen Condon McCornack, graduate of the University of Oregon with the first class to receive degrees, 1878. Mrs. McCornack had apparently been in the best of health and was planning a trip to California to spend the winter with her brother. She had mentioned to many friends that she considered the trip unnecessary from the standpoint of health, but that she was going "just to please the children." The night of December 28 she went to bed as usual, and sometime during the night death came quietly.

Mrs. McCornack was known as an outstanding scholar, a writer, and an authority on the geology of Oregon. Her last book was the biography of her father, Dr. Thomas Condon, one of the first professors of the University. This book, Thomas Condon, Pioneer Geologist of Oregon, was published in 1928 by the University Press. She is also the author of other publications, among which are Contributions to the Pleistocene History of Oregon, Students' Geological Map of Oregon, and Study of Oregon Pleistocene. She revised her father's first book, Two Islands, which she reprinted under the name of Oregon Geology.

Mrs. McCornack was born at St. Helens, Oregon, on August 13, 1855. When her father taught at Pacific University she attended school there, and when he came to join the first faculty of the University of Oregon she entered the University. She was married a year after her graduation to Dr. Herbert F. McCornack, a pioneer physician. Dr. McCornack received his M.D. from the University of California in 1877 and also attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City. They made their first home in California, moving from there about three years later to Washington. In 1887 Oregon again attracted them and they returned to Eugene, where Dr. McCornack became a practicing physician. He died in 1916. Three sons were born to Dr. and Mrs. McCornack, Condon C., Elwin A., and Wendell H., who died in 1888. In 1904 Mrs. McCornack took over her father's classes in geology at the University, since illness prevented his continuing his work; later that year Dr. Condon died, and in 1905 Mrs. McCornack continued to fill the gap in the geology faculty.

Mrs. McCornack's scholarship was recognized when she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. She was also a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Association of University Women. In 1920 the University of Oregon honored Mrs. McCornack with the degree of Master of Arts in Public Service.

Funeral services were held in Eugene January 2, with interment in the Masonic Cemetery beside her husband.

Two of Mrs. McCornack's sons are living; Elwin A. McCornack, ex-'05, lives in Eugene, while Major Condon C. McCornack, '01, is stationed at Carlisle, Pennsylvania. There are surviving also three grandsons, Rodwin C. McCornack, Andrew McCornack and Terry McCornack, and one granddaughter, Miss Janet McCornack, all of Eugene; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Condon Nolf, '90, of Seattle, and Mrs. R. S. Bean of Portland, ex-'81, and two brothers, Seymour W. Condon, '82, of Pasadena, California, and Herbert T. Condon, '92, of Seattle.

Mrs. McCornack was the only woman member of the class of 1878, which graduated five persons. Other members of the class were Dr. Robert Sharp Bean, Matthew S. Wallis, George S. Washburne and John C. Whiteaker. Dr. Bean and his wife, who was a sister of Mrs. McCornack, were unable to attend her funeral because of the death of their son, Dr. Harold Bean.

MRS. ELLEN CONDON MCCORNACK, '78

Memorial Issue Honors Frederic G. Young

AS A memorial number to the late Professor Frederic G. Young, an issue of the Commonwealth Review has just been published. In a foreword the editors of the issue state: "Since the death of its editor, January 4, 1929, the publication of the Commonwealth Review was held in abeyance pending the establishment of editorial plans appropriate to the reorganization policies of the University administration. . . . In the meantime, a provisional staff was appointed by the President of the University for the purpose of fittingly memorializing the achievements of Dr. F. G. Young, who had presided as the editor of Commonwealth Review from its inception in 1916."

Articles in the issue deal with Dean Young's life, with his work as dean of the Graduate School of the University from 1900 to 1920, and with his public service. A fine tribute to Professor Young's qualities as a teacher is paid in an article by George Goodall, '02. Another article, this one by Leslie M. Scott of the Oregon Historical Society, is on The Work of F. G. Young in Oregon History.

The editorial board this issue consists of Dr. John H. Mueller, Dr. J. H. Gilbert, Dr. H. D. Sheldon, George Goodall.

A limited number of copies of this issue of the Commonwealth Review are available at the office of Dr. Mueller, or may be obtained by writing to him in care of the University.

North to Alaska, Southwest to Hawaii

DR. J. DUNCAN SPAETH, of Princeton, said he had never taught a more conscientious course in his life than his Northwest Literature in the post-session to Alaska last summer. "You see," he explained, "they had me corralled on the ship. I never missed holding conferences with the students and reading their papers. I worked and they worked."

This is characteristic of the general reaction of the faculty to the academic soundness of the courses offered on the Steamer Queen in the summer of 1929. Before the cruise was organized, the summer session administration was warned that the work had to be up to grade in every particular, if University credit was to be given for it. In view of the heavy amount of study that went on, there are no longer any misgivings at the University of Oregon as to the practicability of combining a voyage and superior work in college courses.

It turned out that not only was everybody happy but exceedingly well instructed. As a result, two cruises have been authorized for the summer of 1930. The Alaska post-session will be repeated and a trip to Hawaii will be added.

Last year, the first two weeks were spent on the boat, paralleling the seductive shore line of Alaska, and the second period of the post-session spent on the campus at Eugene, finishing up the courses. Next summer this order will be reversed. The period from August 4 to August 13, will be spent in study on the campus. A special train will leave Eugene on the morning of August 13 for Seattle and from there the next morning, August 14, the ship will sail, returning to Seattle on August 25 or 26. It is the opinion of the faculty, and of the students as well, that this sequence will work out even better than last summer's arrangements.

The cost will be $145. This will include fare, berth and meals on the boat, the post-session fee in the University of Oregon summer sessions, and fare on the special train from Eugene to Seattle and return. It will not include special side trips on the cruise, or board and room on the campus, available in the dormitories at $11 a week.

The course of study will be much the same: anthropology, and geography, journalism, art of the Alaska Indians, literature, and education. It is planned to add Northwest history. Six term hours, the regular load for the post-session, may be earned for the joint period on board ship and on the campus.

The Hawaiian cruise will be more expensive, but it will reach far and last a long time. Because of the difficulty of setting the time arbitrarily, options have been secured on two sets of sailing dates—June 14 and June 25.

If the sailing is on the earlier date, the return will be July 22, making a trip of 39 days' duration, with 22 days on the Islands. This would be on the Steamer Wilhelmina, of the Matson Line, sailing from Portland.

The other sailing would advance the return to August 15, providing a total of 51 days, with more than a full month in Hawaii. In this case, the voyage would be made on the big Canadian liner, Niagara, sailing from Vancouver, B. C. A special train would run from Eugene to Vancouver and would be included in the all-cost expense of $365.

This sum would also include fare, berth and meals on ship, going and coming; board and room all the time in Hawaii; and fees in both the University of Hawaii and the University of Oregon. Special side trips in the Islands would be extra. The Niagara will make available its big dining room and other public space for classes. If the Wilhelmina is selected, all its space will be chartered. The cost will be $365, in either case.

It is realized that June 14 may be so early that some schools will not be out, closing the opportunity to some teachers, especially those in the larger city systems. Students are asked, when writing, to say whether this date or June 25 is preferred.

A competent faculty will be brought together, as on the Alaskan cruise, to afford instruction that will make the most of the opportunities peculiar to such a voyage. Courses on board will consist of history, international relations, education, geology, anthropology, literature and journalism. In addition, the University of Hawaii is co-operating closely and arrangements will be made for students to enter some of the regular classes of the summer session of that university. Detailed announcements of both sets of courses and of the faculty will be published later. Nine term hours of credit if the thirty-nine day period is selected, or twelve term hours if the fifty-one day period is selected, may be earned by students enrolled and completing satisfactory work in a full course.

Punahou College, conveniently near the University of Hawaii, will provide board and room in its pleasantly situated and comfortable dormitories, during the stay in the Islands. The University of Oregon has been assured that the students will receive many pleasant courtesies as guests in Honolulu.

Mr. Karl Onthank, executive-secretary of the University, who was in immediate charge of the Alaska post-session last year, will be director of the Hawaiian cruise. Mr. W. G. Beattie, assistant director of the summer sessions in charge of the campus session, will direct the Alaska post-session. Mr. Beattie was a member of the faculty last year and knows Alaska thoroughly, having served many years in the Territory as a superintendent of schools for the United States Bureau of Education.

All executive details prior to the actual sailings will be handled by the regular office of the summer sessions at 814 Oregon Building, Portland, to which all letters reserving space or making inquiries should be addressed.

Lamar Tooze Heads Portland Alums

LAMAR TOOZE, Portland attorney, is the new president of the Portland Alumni Association of the University of Oregon. He succeeds Robert Mautz, '27, also a Portland lawyer. Mr. Tooze is a graduate of the class of 1916 and is well known among alumni. He was president of the A. S. U. O. and took an active part in student affairs all the time he was on the campus. He has an LL.B. degree from Harvard.

Alexander Brown, class of 1922, is the new vice-president of the Portland association, and Constance Roth, '28, is secretary. Mr. Brown is on the reporting staff of the Morning Oregonian and Miss Roth is coaching dramatics in Lincoln High School. She was assistant in the dramatics department on the campus last year.

TOM STODDARD, A. S. U. O. president, attended the fourth annual congress of the National Student Federation of America at Stanford University January 1 to 4. Mr. Stoddard was chairman of the publications discussion group of the congress. His group considered problems of campus newspapers, magazines, handbooks, catalogues.

OUR DUTCH TREAT

Including Belgium and a Smattering of Germany

By RAY BETHERS

"ICI, PORTEUR, prenez le bagage!" We opened our compartment window on arriving at Bruges, Belgium.

"Right here, sir, be with you in a moment," said the porter in English. Such was our introduction to Bruges.

We'd had a perfect channel crossing, Dover to Ostend, gone through the Belgian customs, and passed pleasant fields on the trains seeing large peasant women in wooden shoes making hay with red-roofed houses in the distance.

Our English speaking porter gathered up our suitcases while we followed through quiet, narrow streets to our hotel, the Memling Palace, on the Grand Place.

We purchased a guide book in English, fourth edition, revised, by one Medard Verkest, who describes the Grand Place thus, "nearly one hectare in area, bordered by several constructions, which appeal to our attentions."

Our attentions were indeed appealed to, for the square is bordered on two sides by beautiful old Flemish houses, a government building and post office built in the Bruges style on the third side, and the marvellous old Bell Tower on the other. Medieval banners, coats of arms and the red, black and yellow flag of Belgium were on all sides, as we'd arrived just in time for the National feast day. The battle of the golden spurs was to be celebrated commemorating Flanders victory over France in 1302.

For several days preceding the feast day there were carillon concerts from the Bell Tower, and in the evening the square was crowded with people sitting at the sidewalk cafes, drinking and listening to the bells. A military band played one night and we were surprised to hear them play Tra, ra, ra, ra, Boom-de-Ay and After the Ball. We heard absolutely no jazz in Bruges. On the feast day there was a long procession through the town; priests, children, bands, and most striking, the old guilds with their ancient heraldic banners in brocade and gold.

Bruges is very proud of her past, her former glory in the Hanseatic League, but nothing remains today but her glorious buildings and canals. No repairs or any construction can be done in the city without following the ancient style.

We had all our meals out of doors, sitting in the Grand Place, and what a variety of things were to be seen. An Arabian in a red fez selling rugs, peasant women in clogs, with yokes over their shoulders, distributing milk, priests and monks in brown cassocks, nuns in blue with enormous white head-dresses, dog carts carrying vegetables. And on market days Bruges outdid itself. On that day the square was covered by a multitude of tents and bazars with everything from cheese to mirrors for sale!

The people speak two languages, Flemish and French, and a great many speak English. We found the waiters spoke fluent English on the subject of food, but understood nothing of any other subject. We found this to be true of almost every English speaking waiter we met in Europe.

It is possible to travel the numerous canals in this "Venice of the North" by small boats and get a remarkable view of the city, passing under the quaint bridges, with ancient buildings leaning over the water. Along the banks of the canals can be seen women in black, working busily on the famous Bruges lace.

We had come to Bruges for two days and stayed almost two weeks. So gathering our weighty suitcases, we sallied forth to Brussels, stopping over but a few hours for a drive over the city, and on to Amsterdam. A very pleasant journey, passing tulip beds, too late for the blossoms, many black and white cattle in the flat fields and a windmill here and there. Windmills are disappearing in Holland, as most of the draining of the land is now done with electric power.

In a few years the mills will be a curiosity, but they tell us of a Dutch "Society for the Preservation of Windmills."

Amsterdam — more canals, our hotel room looked directly over the water. Wide pleasant streets, with many shade trees, and, it seemed, millions of fair-haired people on bicycles. Bicycles, we believe, not motor cars, cause most traffic problems.

The Hollanders are a healthy, red-checked lot, and the absence of rouge and lipstick is very apparent, quite agreeably, we thought. We enjoyed the food in Amsterdam, being very good and plenty of it. The breakfast is a curious meal, consisting of bread, about six kinds, butter, honey, coffee, marmalade and cheese.

The Rijks Museum has the finest collection of Rembrandts and Franz Hals of any place in the world. It is beautifully arranged and lighted, and does not suffer from overcrowding as many galleries do.

The newer buildings in the business section are noticeably modern, with sculpture motifs done in a fine simplified style. Amsterdam is as progressive as any city in Europe, and seems more "up-and-coming" than most.

A visit to a cheese-farm was most interesting. We traversed the busy harbor by canal boat, a lazy trip on the canal to Broek-in-Waterland, where we went ashore to the farm. The cows and people live under the same roof, with hay overhead. The entire place was as neat and clean as could be, the floors scrubbed to a shiny whiteness.

The round, red Edam cheese is made purely for export, and will keep a year or so. The same kind of cheeses in Holland are yellow, and look like a pile of grapefruit.

Our next stop, Volendam, is just as you'd expect Holland to be. The drawings of the two small figures illustrate the costume, which is most picturesque. This dress is what is known as a "dutch" costume in America, but there are scores of different ones, each village has its own. Volendam is a fishing port on the Zuyder Zee, so we saw a great many women and children and but few men, most of them being away in the boats. The people are almost entirely Catholic in Volendam.

The rows of brightly painted houses with tiny canals between made good subjects for the Kodak, while the entire population would pose for ten cents each, that is ten Dutch cents. It was difficult to get a snap with less than eleven people in it. They say in Amsterdam that the Volendammers make their living in this way. This was the first place we'd been where everyone wore the costume of the country, and we hope the constant photographing is not the cause.

The Island of Marken lies off shore, in the Zuyder Zee, about two miles. Here we found an entirely different costume. The women wore their hair loose, in two strands, with colorful little round caps. The bodice of a red flowered material and the skirts were full with enormous aprons. The men wore black felt hats, red sashes, and loose baggy white trousers with black cotton stockings. All the Marken people, except one, are Protestant.

The houses are built on stilts, as well as the haystacks.

Marken women work in the hayfields as much as the men. It was very curious to see buxom girls, loading hay onto row boats, then taking it over to the harbor where the men transferred the hay to canal barges.

We saw no little boys in Marken, and on inquiring found that the small boys and girls wear the same kind of dress, the only difference being in the top of the cap. We didn't ask our questions in Dutch, for many of the shopkeepers speak English.

The Zuyder Zee is being slowly drained, and in a few years will be converted into farm land. Then Marken will no longer be an island and the fishing will disappear. This project is costing millions of guilders, but the thrifty Dutch need more land.

On our return, while waiting in the locks at the entrance to Amsterdam harbor, we were entertained by a Dutch one-man band playing the Star Spangled Banner, as well as most of the European national anthems. We counted seven nationalities on our boat, so the musician was well rewarded in small change and a bottle of beer from the crew.

We next made a quick trip to Berlin, a terribly hot day on the train. We were in Berlin but a short time and did little sightseeing. Most of the former palaces have been converted into museums and schools. The Kaiser's palace and many other public buildings still show many bullet marks from the late revolution. Our chief joy in Berlin, we believe, was sitting in the Beer Gardens and listening to the German bands. We might put in a good word for the beer but that is "verboten," but the food can still be mentioned.

And so, to Paris and Brittany.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Bethers' next illustrated story will appear in the February issue of OLD OREGON. It is called "In the Land of the Bretons."

Alumni Office Restores Gold Football

A MINIATURE gold football and chain lost on the Columbia Highway and found by a passing tourist, points again to the advantage of keeping one's address on file in the Alumni records.

The Alumni Office came into possession of the trinket through Norman Jesse, University athlete, who received it from the hands of the tourist, who asked him to restore it to its owner. Mr. Jesse thought of the Alumni Office, and so this story and the moral thereto attached.

The tiny football, one of thirteen such emblems that were presented to the players and manager of the Oregon football team back in 1908 for trouncing Oregon Agricultural College, is the property of Ralph Buell McEwen, '09, of Athena. It was the gift of Dr. J. O. Watts, Eugene jeweler and optometrist, who fashioned the little trinkets as watch charms for the football men in honor of their winning the 1908 game 8 to 0. This one is about one-quarter inch in diameter, and is engraved "Ore.-8, O. A. C.-0, 1908. B. W. McEwen, Mgr."

The incident brings to mind the story of that victory. The 1908 game was an important one as the 1906 game had ended in a tie and in 1907 O. S. C. had won four to nothing. It was played in Portland and following it the students staged a huge rally. It is reported in publications of that date that Oregon!!! There!!! Corvallis!!! Not There!!! resounded through the streets of Portland until late into the night. Captain "Iron Hoof" Moulten, famous Oregon kicker, put over two place kicks in the game.

Following the winning game, there was much talk in the daily Morning Register and the Eugene Weekly Guard against having the game played in Portland every year. The two Eugene papers accused the Portland sports writers of trying to bring the all-Oregon game to Portland every year instead of alternating to Eugene and Corvallis. One of the local papers pointed out that the students and friends backing the losing team "lost heavily to the 'professional' gamblers of the city." On the campus "this evil may be curbed or reduced to the minimum." The fact was pointed out that O. A. C. favored playing the game in Portland.

The total receipts of that one game were $8,105. Each team's share, with expenses for the game deducted, was $3,364.15, from which its own expenses had to be paid. This was the largest amount of money ever paid at a football game in the Pacific Northwest at that time. The Oregon team went to Seaside after the game to "enjoy the salt air and to practice on the beach sands," the paper said.

Manager McEwen made $2,500 that year, according to the Oregon Monthly for November, 1908. "From a financial standpoint the season has been a grand success," the magazine said. "Manager Ralph B. McEwen, who has handled the coin very efficiently, will turn in close to $2,500 into the student exchequer, after settling up a heavy expense account." The team won five out of seven games that season, scoring seventy-four points against fifty-two points. They were champions of the state. A picture of Mr. McEwen and members of the team appeared with the article in the Oregon Monthly.

Mr. McEwen is living in Athena, Oregon, and is engaged in farming and raising stock.

This case is not the first time the Alumni Office has played lost and found department. The Alumni Secretary recovered and returned to their owners two Phi Beta Kappa keys. Once a fraternity pin was restored to its much relieved owner.

All of which goes to show that it is worth while to keep your name and address in the alumni files, and to notify the alumni office when you move!

Mrs. Warner Is Lauded by Group

WARM praise for the contribution made by Mrs. Murray Warner, director of the Oregon Museum of Fine Arts, to the Institute of Pacific Relations conference in Kyoto, Japan, recently was sounded by returning delegates at a special meeting of representatives of the American group held in San Francisco this week, it is reported by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon. Dr. Hall has just returned from San Francisco, where he attended the session. He is a member of the executive committee and the board of directors of the American section, and is also a member of the education committee of this important international organization.

Mrs. Warner is regarded as an outstanding authority on oriental art, and is now nationally known for her work in founding and directing the Oregon Museum of Fine Arts, with its Murray Warner collection of oriental art.

Returning delegates were enthusiastic over the work that was done by the institute at the Kyoto conference. The Japanese, Chinese, English, Canadian and American groups were especially able, it is declared. Prominent Japanese informed delegates that the session advanced the cause of liberalism in Japan by at least ten years, and greatly helped to clear up the international situation in that section of the world. This statement was made at the session in San Francisco by Chester Rowell, nationally known publicist, who took a prominent part in the work in Kyoto.

The next session of the institute will be held in China, in a city to be designated later, Dr. Hall said. It is felt that the frank and fearless searching for facts which is the subject of the group can best be pursued in the region where the most problems arise.

While in California Dr. Hall also conferred with educators at Stanford and University of California before returning to the campus here.

Alumnae Initiated Into Mu Phi Epsilon

MU PHI EPSILON, national honorary music fraternity, recently initiated a group of nine pledges, among them several alumnae of the University. Those initiated were Mrs. Berenice Ingalls Zeller, ex-'18, Margaret Skavlan, '25, Pauline Guthrie, '29, Charlotte Winnard, '26, Anne Maler, '29, Mrs. E. A. Stacks, Irene Moore, senior, Esther Saager, senior, Dena Lienallen, junior. The ceremonies were held January 4 in the Music Building. An initiation breakfast in honor of the new members will be held the latter part of the month.

Overheard at a Football Game

By DORIS HOPE GRAMM, '29

"THESE are our seats, see, 2, 3, and 4. Sit here by Daddy, Patricia, so he can tell you all about everything. Look how many people are here.

"This is a football game, honey. See those men out on the field, straight down in front of us—look where Daddy's pointing, Patricia—they're the men that play football. Look at the ball they have. See it, Patricia? Daddy used to play football, too.

"Watch them now, they're going to kick off. Look at those niggers—those are niggers on the Hawaiian team, Patricia. Watch now—he's going to pass—no, sir, he ran with the ball himself—oh, what headwork—WHAT HEADWORK! Daddy thought he was going to throw the ball to another man, but he took it himself. Did you see that, Patricia? Look at that kick—what a beautiful kick, just where he wanted it. No, I guess something was wrong—Well, anyway, didn't it go high, Patricia?

"This is the half, Patricia. Now, what did Daddy say it was? Yes, that's right, the half. Listen to the band. Hear 'em play? Tap your little feet together in time to the music.

"Look at the boys come out on the field. See 'em running out? No, down to the right, Patricia, THIS way.

"Watch them now, Patricia. This next play will be good. It will be another pass. He's throwing the ball—what a beautiful play!—LOOK! LOOK! LOOK!—No, it wasn't completed. Did you see him throw the ball, honey?

"Watch those niggers. Gee, those Hawaiians are good! Look at 'em go! Watch them pass the ball, honey! Wasn't that great, honey? Those niggers can surely play football. Daddy knows a good game when he sees it.

"Are you cold, Patricia? Pull the robe up around your little knees.

"See that man with the gun, Patricia? He is going to shoot it pretty soon. Listen, see if you can hear it. Yes, sir—bang! Well, what do you know—that's the end.

"Come on, Patricia, let's go home now. Daddy is so glad you are grown up enough to come with him to the football games."

Many Teaching Alumni Gather at Luncheon

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-NINE alumni attended the University of Oregon alumni luncheon held in Portland December 27 at the time of the annual meeting of the Oregon State Teachers' Association. This is the largest number ever to turn out for one of these luncheons, which have been annual events for several years. President Arnold Bennett Hall gave the main address, his topic being Educational Policies of Today.

Teaching in schools involves more than merely filling students' minds with facts, Dr. Hall said in his talk. There are four factors in teaching that are held to be of equal importance in an educational program. These are developing the ability to analyze clearly, to think soundly, to gain facility in forming judgment based upon facts, and to be open minded. The work now being done at the University under the lower division system, which gives students a general background, and through the personnel system, which helps them select their courses with a view to their vocation are in line with modern developments in education.

John C. Veatch, '07, retiring president of the Alumni Association, presided at the luncheon. Dean Henry D. Sheldon of the School of Education gave a short address. Albert Gillette, ex-'18, baritone soloist for KGW, sang two numbers. Mr. Gillette was a prominent soloist on the campus during his attendance at the University.

Law Alumni Organize

OREGON alumni members of the legal profession held a meeting December 20 at the Multnomah Hotel in Portland at which plans for an Oregon law alumni association were made, a constitution adopted, and officers elected. Seventy-five alumni were present at the meeting. President Arnold Bennett Hall and Vice-President Burt Brown Barker were both speakers at the meeting.

The purpose of the lawyers is to form an organization to "foster a spirit of loyalty and fraternity among the graduates and former students of the University of Oregon who are connected with the legal profession, and to effect united action in promoting the welfare of the School of Law and of the legal profession," the constitution states. Thus, any alumnus of the University who is connected with the legal profession is eligible for membership, whether he be a graduate of the University's law school or not.

Lawrence A. McNary, '90, was elected president of the association; Wilber Henderson, '11, vice-president; Carlton E. Spencer, '13, secretary; Judge John P. Kavanaugh, '93, J. F. Boothe, '88, Harry H. deFranceq, '28, and William Adams, '97, executive committeemen.

Mr. King Was the Artist

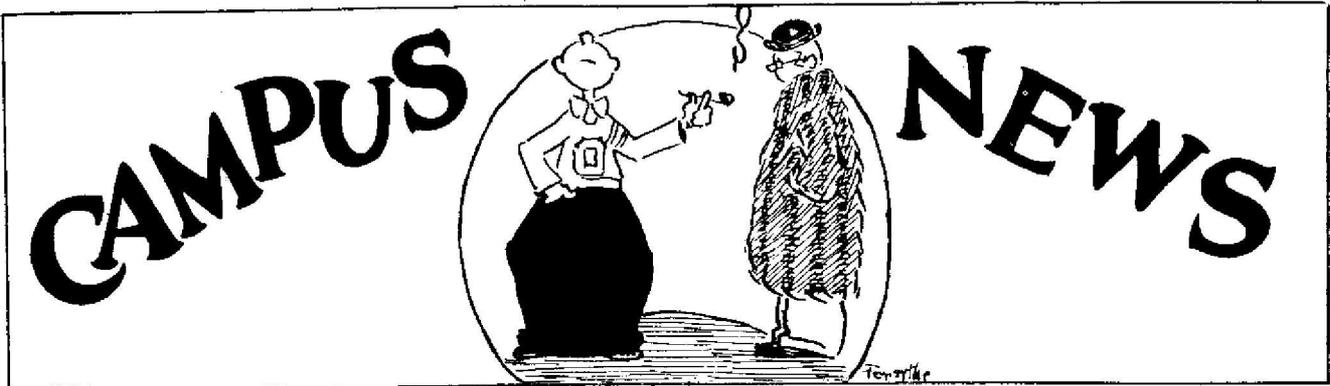

SO MANY alumni have asked for the name of the artist who designed the November (Homecoming) cover of OLD OREGON that we are printing here the answer to the many inquiries. Kenneth L. King of Portland is the artist. He is a graduate of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

When America entered the World War he enlisted in the army as a private in the infantry and was sent to France. He was raised to the rank of sergeant, and in 1919 was discharged. He returned to Chicago to finish his work for his degree from the Academy of Fine Arts, but like many returning soldiers he found no work and hard times. Determined, he searched everywhere for enough work to furnish the necessary funds for his schooling.

There seemed to be no demand for an artist or cartoonist. At this point we introduce the moral: perseverance always wins. Mr. King finally found work: the cartoonist landed a job designing tomb stones!

Several years after getting his degree he came to Portland and is now with the West Coast Engraving Company.

The cover on this issue of OLD OREGON is also the work of Mr. King.

High School Leaders Entertained on Campus

FIVE HUNDRED high school student body leaders and their faculty advisers and principals came from practically every high school in Oregon to the University campus January 10 and 11 for the tenth annual Oregon High School Conference. Speakers from all over the Northwest gave addresses at the meetings and round table discussions. The faculty members held various discussion groups on educational problems. The conference was divided into four sections: student body officers, presidents of girls' leagues, high school editors and managers of publications, and principals and faculty advisers.

Some of the problems discussed were financing yearbooks, organization of the publications staffs, athletic problems, high school dances and other problems facing the modern high school.

The delegates were the guests of the various living organizations on the campus during the conference. Besides the business meetings, luncheons, dinners, a tea for the girls' league delegates, a style show, and a campus talent vaudeville show were arranged for the visitors. The annual banquet was held the evening of January 10 at the new men's dormitory with Tom Stoddard, A. S. U. O. president, as toastmaster. Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall delivered the main address. The presidents of the various sections in the conference also spoke at the banquet. Afterwards the delegates attended the first conference basketball game in Eugene when Oregon played Washington State College.

Press Conference Scheduled

THE TWELFTH annual press conference will be held at the University of Oregon February 6, 7 and 8, and experts on every aspect of journalism have been scheduled to appear as speakers on the program. Among those listed to give addresses are Robert L. Johnson, one of the creators and now vice-president of the weekly Time magazine; R. G. Calvert, editor of the Oregonian; Sam R. Winch of the Oregon Journal; John Henry Nash, famous printer; Lester Adams, editorial director of the Portland Telegram; and Ralph Benjamin, new editor of the Portland News.

Plans Made for Telephone Exchange

THE University of Oregon is to have a separate telephone exchange on the campus, the exchange to be installed sometime this year. Headquarters will be in Johnson Hall and will connect approximately 133 phones on the campus. Instead of looking through a long list of names for a number, a call to any department on the campus will then be made through one number. The operator at the University exchange will be sufficiently acquainted with the different campus office phones so that the connection can be made immediately.

Each office will have a dial phone so that the professors will be able to call each other by means of the dial without getting the connection through the switchboard operator. The operator will also be called through the dial system.

Miss Henderson Wins in Advertising Contest

IN AN advertising contest sponsored by the advertising department of OLD OREGON, Elaine Henderson of Portland, who is a junior in the School of Journalism, won first place and was awarded first prize. The contest was planned by John Wade Nelson, advertising manager of OLD OREGON, between the regular advertising staff of the magazine and members of Gamma Alpha Chi, women's national advertising fraternity. Mr. Nelson offered as first prize to the individual who turned in the most advertising contracts from November 22 to December 16, an Elgin wrist watch.

Competition in the contest was keen, and the results were in doubt up to the last hour of the contest, when Miss Henderson turned in two more contracts, which placed her in the lead. Miss Henderson is president of Gamma Alpha Chi and has had a great deal of advertising experience on campus publications.

In announcing the winner, Mr. Nelson said, "Miss Henderson deserves first prize for her good work placed her at the head of the entire group of solicitors with a good margin between her total and that of the next salesman."

Many Students Are Partially Self-Supporting

STUDENTS who are either wholly or partly self-supporting out-number students who depend on others for support more than two to one at the University of Oregon, figures from the registrar's office show. Out of the total of 2,992 regular students on the campus, 1,963 earn all or part of their expenses and only 942 come in a classification "less than 10 per cent self-supporting." More than one-fourth of the student body, or 792 students, are entirely self-supporting. Of this number 607 are men and 185 are women. Half of the student body, or 1,488, earn more than half of their way. Of this total, 1,143 are men and 345 are women. The sophomore class leads with 216 students, wholly self-supporting. There are 208 self-supporting freshmen, 96 juniors, 125 seniors, 90 graduate students, 28 special students, and 29 law students.

News of the University Faculty

ERIC W. ALLEN, dean of the School of Journalism of the University of Oregon, was honored by election to the presidency of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism at the annual association conference held in Baton Rouge during the holidays. He is the first professor of journalism to receive elevation to this office twice, having held the presidency in 1923.

Dean Allen's election was in recognition of his achievements as a director of one of the outstanding schools of journalism in America, and as a leader in the association of teachers.

At the Louisiana meeting, Dean Allen presented a comprehensive report of research in journalism by professors of that subject. The report was prepared while serving as chairman of the committee on research. Dean Allen also holds office as chairman of the council on education, an important organization within the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism.

Dean Allen has been on the faculty of the University since 1912, and dean of the school since its establishment in 1916. Before that time he was in active newspaper work, first in Milwaukee and later in Seattle. Since coming to Oregon he has been instrumental in building up the University Press. He is the author of Printing for the Journalist and of numerous articles on subjects relating to journalism.

KARL W. ONTHANK, executive secretary of the University of Oregon, has been granted a leave of absence to study the problems connected with the administration of higher education. Most of his investigations, which will be in the nature of advanced study of research problems encountered in upper division administration, will be made at Stanford.

Mr. Onthank is interested in the development of the junior college, which has reached quite an advanced level in California. The co-ordination of the university with junior college curricula is an important phase of this development, as a large number of students who take the two years' work at the junior colleges do not go on to finish a college course.

The curriculum should be arranged in such a manner, Mr. Onthank feels, as to give those students who do not go on a complete course of study, and still to afford others, who take the four-year course, work leading into the upper division curricula.

GEORGE HOPKINS, of the School of Music, has been named head of the piano department. He takes the place of Mrs. Jane Thacher who resigned last June from the department headship in order to be relieved from the academic obligations involved. She will continue as a teaching member of the music faculty.

DR. GEORGE REBEC, dean of the Graduate School, and Dr. Gustav Müller, of the philosophy department, attended the meeting of the Pacific division of the American Philosophical Association at Los Angeles during the Christmas holidays. Both Dr. Rebec and Dr. Müller read papers before the association.

DR. DAN E. CLARK, assistant director of history, was named vice-president of the Pacific branch of the American Historical Association at its meeting on the Oregon campus, December 27 and 28. Dr. Donald Barnes was chairman of the committee on arrangements of the recent conference, with Dr. Andrew Fish as a committee associate. Professor Walter Barnes was a member of the program committee.

GEORGE PAYNTER HOPKINS, '21, who has been named head of the piano department of the School of Music. Mr. Hopkins received merited recognition in a recent issue of "The Musical Courier."

CHARLES G. HOWELL, instructor in romance languages, and Miss Patricia Hatch, senior in English, were married at Santa Cruz, California, during the Christmas holidays.

DONALD M. ERB, professor of economics on leave of absence for the year, wrote the following to Karl W. Onthank about his work at the Harvard graduate school:

"My work here is progressing as rapidly, I suppose, as I have any right to expect. Degrees are granted in June only to those who have their theses completed and in by the first day of April, which means heavy pressure between now and then. I have high hopes of being through by the fateful day, though it is still too early to be sure. At all events I am looking forward to a return to Oregon in June."

DR. HENRIETTA E. MOORE, associate professor of English in the Portland Center, has resigned and plans to take an extended trip to South America after the first of the year. Dr. Moore will be greatly missed as she has been a member of the Portland faculty for six years.

DR. EDWIN T. HODGE, professor of economic geology, who has spent the past half-year in geological research in Africa, is expected back on the campus the latter part of the month. While Dr. Hodge was in Africa, Mrs. Hodge studied art in Europe.

DAVID E. FAVILLE, dean of the School of Business Administration on the campus, John M. Rae, Daniel D. Gage, George W. Robbins, James A. Johnston, and Philip Janney, of the Portland Center, attended the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Economic Association for Departments of Economics and Schools of Business Administration, held in Los Angeles on the U. C. L. A. campus December 27 and 28.

Members of the conference were the guests of the Fox Film Studios while in Los Angeles.

THE Industrial Revolution and English Literature is the subject of a paper which Dr. C. V. Boyer, head of the English department, will give before the Social Science Club on January 20.

DR. RALPH D. CASEY, professor of journalism, was named as a member of the editorial board of the Journalism Bulletin, the publication of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, at a meeting of the association held in Baton Rouge during the holidays.

DR. ERNEST SUTHERLAND BATES, formerly a member of the philosophy and English departments on the campus, was in Eugene for a few days on his way to Portland, where he has accepted a position with the University extension department.

Dr. Bates has been one of the editors of the Dictionary of American Biography at Washington, D. C.

MRS. JANE THACHER spent part of the Christmas vacation visiting Dr. Bertha Stuart Dymont at Palo Alto. Mrs. Dymont, a former member of the University of Oregon faculty, is now head of the woman's department of the health service at Stanford University.

MRS. CLARA LYNN FITCH, former secretary of the administration offices, is now acting as secretary to the Graduate School, following the resignation of Mrs. Robert H. Seashore. Mrs. Fitch and her three daughters travelled in Europe last year.

DR. WARREN D. SMITH, head of the University geology department, is working on a geological motorogue which is planned to increase the enjoyment of auto trips by spreading geological knowledge about the territory through which Oregonians drive.

Some of the geological features along the highways will be described in non-technical language in the motorogue, which is to be printed in serial form in the Oregon Automobile Association magazine.

PROFESSOR F. S. DUNN was elected president of the Northern section of the Classical Association of the Pacific States, which met at Seattle during the Christmas vacation. He was also re-elected chairman of the section of classical teachers at the state meeting of the Oregon State Teachers' Association at Portland.

JOHN W. NELSON,
Advertising Manager

JEANNETTE CALKINS, EDITOR

M. BOYER,
Circulation Manager

OLD OREGON is issued monthly during the College year, and is entered as second-class matter at the postoffice, Eugene, Oregon. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided in section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917. Subscription price $2 a year.

Authorized by the State Board of Higher Education

PUBLISHED BY THE University of Oregon Alumni Association, Eugene, Oregon

HOMER ANGELL, '00, President

MAE D. KINSEY, '05, Vice-President

CARL E. NELSON, '19, Vice-President

JEANNETTE CALKINS, '18, Secretary-Treasurer

In Appreciation

THIS editorial is to give three cheers for John C. Veatch, retiring president of the Oregon Alumni Association.

Have you ever watched a football player, called out of the game for a hard-earned rest, trot over to the side lines and take a place on the bench to watch the game go on? Have you heard the grandstands rise up and cheer that player as he left the field?

We feel like giving John C. Veatch just such a cheer. His work as president deserves it. Three times he has been called into active service as president of the Alumni Association. So far as we know, he is the only man who has held that honor so many times. And the alumni confidence in Mr. Veatch has been warranted; he has never failed them.

An alumnus who is a professor of political science once wrote the alumni office saying: "Watch John Veatch; he is one of Oregon's coming leaders. He will arrive some day!" There is more than one alumnus who believes that.

In the meantime, as he steps out of the highest office in the Alumni Association, we wish to thank him for the time and thought he has put on alumni affairs.

A Leader Is Taken

TO ELLEN CONDON McCORNACK death came quietly, gently. It seems right that it should come to her as it did; that there should be no long illness, no suffering. Death paid this tribute to her fine courageous spirit, to her exemplary life.

The Oregon press has carried high praise to Mrs. McCornack; she has been recognized for her scholarship, for her ability as a geologist and as a writer. For these things alumni also honor her; but to us there seems something even finer, more human, for Mrs. McCornack had that precious gift, understanding.

In her alumni relations Mrs. McCornack praised where she found something worthy of praise; criticized where she saw a chance for improvement. But always there was a quick sympathy for another point of view.

We like to think of her as she led the women graduates of the University of Oregon in the Fern and Flower procession at Commencements. It seemed right, it seemed significant that Mrs. McCornack should lead that line. Next Commencement many hearts will be sad when she does not come to take her place; the line will close up; each of us will move up one; but no one can take Mrs. McCornack's place in the hearts of those who loved her. Her name will continue to stand for all that is fine at Oregon.

Awaiting Word

THIS issue of OLD OREGON was held up pending the announcement of the new coach at Oregon. We wanted to carry the good news to the alumni, and so we waited. And the new coach was worth waiting for! Everyone connected with the University is rejoicing at Dr. Spears' decision to come to Oregon. He is one of the outstanding coaches of the United States and we are not only delighted, but proud, that he is to be our coach. To Dr. Hall goes most of the credit—but that is another story. In this issue we will only attempt to carry the announcement.

The State of Repair

"A MAN, sir, should keep his friendship in constant repair," said old Samuel Johnson.

Cathedrals and other great structures are constantly being repaired.

A university education needs constant repairing.

You as a University graduate, who spent some of the best years of your life at this campus—your education is in a constant state of repair, and has been ever since you left.

But is it enough merely to keep that education of yours in repair? Isn't your education worth improving?

Several thousand other graduates think enough of their educations not only to "keep them up" but to improve them, to enrich them, round them out, and get the most out of them, with membership in the Alumni Association.

—Which includes subscription to the alumni publication.

—Bringing you again to springs of inspiration, of help, of encouragement—

—To all of which you're entitled —

To all of which you're welcome.

Phi Beta Boys in Revolution

WHAT is believed to be the oldest fraternity pin in America was recently plowed up in Chester County, Pennsylvania, where Washington maneuvered Howe and where Lafayette was wounded. The pin is a Phi Beta Kappa key. On one side is the name, John Graham, and the year of the founding of the fraternity, 1776. The pin was presented by William and Mary College, Virginia, where records show that John Graham attended, was graduated, and left to join the Revolution. Since he disappeared about eight months later, the finding of the pin proves that he was killed in battle where the pin was found.

—Banta's Greek Exchange.

A Reduction in Long Distance Telephone Rates

An Advertisement of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company

ON JANUARY 1, 1930, there is effective a reduction in various long distance telephone rates in the Bell System which on the present volume of calls means a saving of more than $5,000,000 a year to the telephone-using public in the United States. This is the fourth reduction in long distance rates within a little more than three years. On October 1, 1926, they were reduced by $3,000,000. On December 1, 1927, a reduction of $1,500,000 went into effect. On February 1, 1929, there was a reduction of $5,000,000.

THESE REDUCTIONS are in accordance with the aim of the Bell System to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public. Earnings must, of course, be sufficient to permit the best possible telephone service at all times and to provide a reasonable payment to stockholders with an adequate margin to insure financial safety. Earnings in excess of these requirements will either be spent for the enlargement and improvement of the service, or the rates for the service will be reduced. This is fundamental in the policy of the management.

NEWS OF THE CLASSES

1883

It is with regret that OLD OREGON records the death of John McCauley, ex-'83. Mr. McCauley resided in Ellensburg, Washington.

1885

Sylvanus C. (Van) Armitage, ex-'85, can remember when athletics at Oregon meant an exhibition of tricks on a horizontal bar and a set of rings hung over a straw-filled bed-tick. A thrilling demonstration was one put on by Dave Houston, who hung by his legs through the rings, George Lawrence, '95, with his knees over the horizontal bar, and Van Armitage, who swung from one to the other with Mr. Houston timing his swing to catch him. The gymnasium was under a tree. There were five members on the faculty then: President J. W. Johnson, Dr. Thomas Condon, Professor Bailey, Dr. John Straub, and Mrs. Mary Spiller. The horizontal bar and rings were purchased by Dr. Straub, Mr. Houston, Mr. Lawrence, and Mr. Armitage, who each gave $2.50 to buy the paraphernalia. Mr. Armitage's mother made the bed-tick and filled it with straw for the mat. Mr. Armitage lives in Portland, but is in California at the present time.

1888

Martha Calef, ex-'88, and Myra Calef, ex-'89, entertained at their home in Eugene during the holidays for Mrs. Ida Calef Slawson, '02, of Tillamook, and Ora Calef, ex-'02, of Portland.

Mrs. Alberta Shelton McMurfey of Eugene is spending a few months in Los Angeles. Her address is 113 North Johnston Street.

1892

Mrs. Carrie Hovey Burden and Elma L. Hendricks, '03, sailed January 8 from San Francisco for a year's tour around the world. They are to be on the S. S. Belgenland, the largest boat that has ever made a world tour. They will visit the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China (where they will make an interior trip to Peking), the Philippine Islands, Siam, Java, India, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Spain. In May they will be in Naples. Mrs. Burden then plans to make her headquarters in Paris and to spend the remainder of the year on the continent with a summer trip to the Alps. Miss Hendricks' plans are indefinite after leaving the ship.

1897

Edwin P. Shattuck, lobbyist, Washington attorney, and friend of President Hoover who is attracting national attention in connection with the sugar tariff investigation, is an ex-member of the class of 1897. Mr. Shattuck was a well known football player while at the University. He has long been a prominent figure in legal and industrial circles both as an attorney and as a business director. In December, 1926, he was decorated by King Albert of Belgium with the Cross of Officer of the Order of the Crown, the Belgian counterpart of the French Legion of Honor, for his efforts in promoting goodwill between the United States and Belgium. The award was particularly for his interest in the new building program of the University of Brussels and his aid in the reconstruction of the Louvain Library. He also has similar orders awarded him by Poland, Finland, and Bulgaria. An account of his decoration was carried in "Commercial and Financial World," published in New York, December 11, 1926. At that time he was a member of the legal firm of Shattuck, Bangs and Winant, New York. He was a director of the A. R. A. Child Health Association and of the C. R. B. Educational Foundation, Inc. He was also director of the Pejepeot Paper Company and of the Wellsbach Street Lighting Company of America.

1898

"I lived in Friendly Hall in the days of the Templeton boys, Homer Angell, Lester Hulín, Dr. H. I. Keeney, and Clarence Bishop," writes Dr. Joseph O. Van Winkle of Jefferson, Oregon. "McClure Hall was just being built. I played football on the second team and participated in the 440 on the track."

This was in 1898. Dr. Van Winkle received his M.D. degree in 1905. He saw service in the World War, and is now an officer in the Oregon National Guard.

A newspaper story concerning the holiday plays in New York papers is of interest to alumni since it mentions the name of Clyde Fillmore, a graduate of the class of 1898. His name appears in the cast of "The Blind Widow," David Belasco's second production of the year, which was scheduled for the Hudson Theatre on Christmas eve. Mr. Fillmore is one of the few Oregon alumni who has made play producing and acting his life work. He has also been interested in the movies and in scenario writing. In the University he was known as Clyde Fogel, later taking Clyde Fillmore as his stage name.

1899

Clinton P. Haight, editor of the "Canyon City Blue Mountain Eagle," is to give an address on "Weekly Papers' Insides" at the twelfth annual press conference, to be held on the campus February 6, 7 and 8. Mr. Haight was graduated from the University in 1899.

George Gilbert visited the campus recently to see his son, Henry, who is a sophomore in the University. Mr. Gilbert is in the laundry business in Tacoma.

1901

Mrs. Sadie Atwood Martin, assistant matron at the Oregon Cottage, Children's Farm Home at Corvallis, is keeping busy trying to help keep twenty "real live boys out of mischief and going straight," she wrote on her alumni ballot.

Mrs. Vestella Sears Coops sends OLD OREGON the news from Federal Twin Lakes Ranch, Alberta, Canada, that she has a grandson. Canadians, especially of Alberta, are watching the struggles in the United States to organize pools, especially wheat pools, with much interest, Mrs. Coops said. "U. S. affairs appear much differently to me from this side of the line."

1902

The West Central Africa Mission is to give a pageant showing the history of the country since earliest discovery at their jubilee celebration in 1930 and Elizabeth Logan Ennis will be the director. Mrs. Ennis is the wife of Rev. Merlin W. Ennis, missionary in Africa. They reside at Missao de Eleude, Cuma, Angola, Africa. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ennis have three children, Jean, Charlotte, and John Logan.

1903

Chester C. Fisher sailed from New York on December 6 for Russia, where he is employed as specialist for the Soviet Government. He will be stationed at Tiflis, Transcaucasia, where a large irrigation system is being planned. Mr. Fisher was for many years an engineer with the federal bureau of reclamation and later was with the Mexican government as consultant with the Commission National de Irigacion. Mrs. Fisher resides at Alhambra, California.

1904

J. O. Russell, Oregon track man and catcher on the baseball team that defeated O. S. C. 8 to 5 in 1901-02, is living at 538 E Street, Salem. Mr. Russell attended the Oregon-Hawaiian game in Portland and thought it a "great game."

Just to show that Oregon alumni are not narrow minded, Margaret Bannard Goodall calls the attention of OLD OREGON to the fact that many alumni have sons and daughters going to O. S. C. as well as to Oregon. Alice McKinley Miller, '03, has a son attending Oregon State; T. L. Williams, '03, is another alumnus with a son at O. S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Goodall have one son at Oregon and one son at O. S. C.; Claude Wright, ex-'06, has two children at O. S. C. "No doubt there are many others," says Mrs. Goodall. "Why not call the roll and learn how many?"

1906

Mrs. Lizette Kerron, wife of Dr. Seth Kerron, '06, passed away at her home in Eugene November 30. Besides Dr. Kerron, she is survived by her son, James Walton Kerron, Eugene.

FORTUNE

TIME, INC. Publishers

NOW, after two years of investigation and preparation, TIME, Inc., announces the publication on January 25th of a de luxe monthly magazine. Its subject is Business. Its purpose is to reflect Industrial Life in ink and paper and word and picture as the finest skyscraper reflects it in stone and steel and architecture.

The magazine's name is FORTUNE, since it deals with the factors which control the fortunes of every man. Its price is $10 the year.

Business takes FORTUNE to the tip of the wing of the airplane and through the depths of the ocean along be-barnacled cables. It forces FORTUNE to peer into dazzling furnaces and into the faces of bankers. FORTUNE must follow the chemist to the brink of worlds newer than Columbus found and it must jog with freight cars across Nevada's desert. Fortune is involved in the fashions of flappers and in glass made from sand. It is packed in millions of cans and saluted by Boards of Directors on the pinnacles of skyscrapers. Mountains diminish, rivers change their course, and thirty million people assemble nightly at the cinema.

Into all these matters FORTUNE will inquire with unbridled curiosity. And, above all, FORTUNE will make its discoveries clear, coherent, vivid, so that the reading of it may be one of the keenest pleasures in the life of every subscriber.

The first number of FORTUNE will be sent only to Original Subscribers in the order of application. Subscription orders ($10 the year) should be sent to TIME, Inc., Subscription Department, 350 East 22nd Street, Chicago, Illinois. Mailed promptly, the order form below will enroll you as an Original Subscriber.

TIME, INC., Subscription Dept.,
350 East 22nd Street, Chicago, Ill.

GENTLEMEN:

You may enroll me as an Original Subscriber to FORTUNE, and send me a bill for $10 with the first issue.

NAME

ADDRESS

1907

Laurids Lauridsen is with the Portland Electric Power Company in Portland. He is married and has one child, three years old. Mrs. Lauridsen is a graduate of Oregon State College.

Theodore P. Holt is again in Mexico. He reports the climate extremely warm and the bugs entirely too plentiful.

1908

William Ray Taylor, M.D., is practicing in The Dalles. Dr. Taylor received his A.B. degree from Oregon and his M.D. from Northwestern. He has one son, William, fifteen years old.

Mrs. Cora Cameron Laurie's daughter, Margaret, is a freshman in the University of Oregon. Mrs. Laurie's address is 3102 Thirty-third Place, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

Ralph L. Oakley has changed his address to 1861 Waverly Street, Palo Alto.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stevenson expect to send a son and daughter to the University of Oregon next year. Mrs. Stevenson was Angeline Williams, '07, and was assistant to Professor Howe in literature for several years. They are living in Portland.

1910

At the annual convention of the American Bar Association, held during October in Memphis, Tennessee, Arthur M. Geary was elected to the general council of the association. One lawyer from each state serves on the general council.

The little theatre movement in Salem is expressed by the Salem Drama League, which presented "Wappin' Wharf," a pirate play, at the Grand Theatre, December 17. Oliver Huston, prominent in the league's work, played the leading role of the Duke. Mr. Huston also played the lead in "Jon," the play put on by the Salem group last year. The Duke was one of the three pirates who "were the hit of the evening," according to the review of the play which appeared in the "Capitol Journal." "Pirates themselves could not have blustered and strutted more convincingly," said the "Journal." "Lines that would have fallen flat if not handled in precisely the correct mood, were deftly tossed to an audience which chortled over each one," was a further compliment given the pirates. Nancy Thielsen's father, Fred Thielsen, appeared as the Sailor Captain in the play, and her mother was stage manager. Miss Thielsen is a student in the School of Music at the University and has sung title roles in several University music productions.

Cary V. Loosley, ex-'10, prominent stock man, contractor, and financier of Port Klamath, was judge and master of ceremonies at the Lakeview Rodeo, on Labor day. Kay's six foot six figure, on a magnificent stock horse with Spanish saddle and trappings, added much to the local color.

1911

John J. Kestly is now living at 530 Webster Street, Palo Alto.

Steven Scibird, ex-'11, is a state game warden. His home is in Stanwood, Washington.

"The New York Real Estate Securities Exchange, of which I am a member, starts functioning on December 16, and I expect to be quite active in its affairs," writes Clarence M. Eubanks. He asks that future copies of OLD OREGON be sent to his home address, No. 1, Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Dean H. Hayes, ex-'11, is with H. J. Barneson and Company, with offices at 320 Stark Street, Portland. The firm is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and other exchanges.

Conifred Hurd is teaching physical education in Seattle.

1912

Dr. Harold C. Bean died in Portland January 2, just five days after his fortieth birthday. His death was caused by complications following an operation performed December 26. He had been ill only a week when his condition became so serious that an immediate operation was decided upon. He entered the Good Samaritan Hospital on Christmas day. With the exception of his brother, Condon, of Seattle, all members of his immediate family were at his bedside when he died. His parents, Judge and Mrs. Robert S. Bean, '78, cancelled plans to attend the funeral of Mrs. Bean's sister, Ellen Condon McCormack, '78, who died in Eugene December 28, in order to be with him. Condon came from Seattle by airplane. Surviving Dr. Bean are his widow and two children, Janet Sharp, aged six years, and Harold Gilmer, aged nine months, three brothers, Condon, '03, of Seattle, Ormond, '09, of Portland, and Robert D., ex-'16, also of Portland. Dr. Bean was president of the state board of health and was on the faculty of the University of Oregon School of Medicine as assistant clinical professor of medicine. He was a prominent diagnostician in Portland, maintaining offices in the Medical Arts Building. He was a member of the Oregon State Medical Society and the American Medical Association. He belonged to Sigma Nu fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. He received his B.A. degree in chemistry at the University in 1912 and his M.D. degree in 1916 at Johns Hopkins medical school in Baltimore. He served there as interne and later as residential house officer. Early in the world war Dr. Bean joined the Canadian army and served in France until his transfer to the American expeditionary forces on the entrance of the United States into the war. After his return from France he practiced medicine in Heppner, and then came to Portland where he has specialized in internal medicine.

Byron Goodall, ex-'12, is in the U. S. immigration service and has recently been transferred from the Detroit office to Chicago, where his residence address is 3148 West Sixty-sixth Street, Apartment 11.

J. Earl Jones has recently been appointed commercial manager of the Seattle Light Company, now owned by the Central Public Service Corporation, with headquarters in Chicago. Mr. Jones has been engaged in similar work in Portland for many years, where he is well known in business and civic circles. He is a director of the Oregon Building Congress, a member of the City Club and Chamber of Commerce, and president of the board of trustees of the Western Baptist Theological Seminary. For four years he was president of the presidential board of the Hinson Memorial Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have three children. Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Linfield College.

Ethel Greene Landess is living in the outskirts of Portland.

1913

Carl S. Miles, ex-'13, is a fruit grower in Yuba City, California. He also has a cannery, canning peaches and prunes. His address is R. F. D. 1, Yuba City. Mr. Miles has two children.

Carlton E. Spencer has received notice of his promotion to the rank of captain in the judge advocate general's section of the officers' reserve corps.

Robert Benson Kuykendall, prominent Klamath Falls attorney and former president of the Oregon Alumni Association, died January 15 at 2:30 A. M. at the Eugene Hospital. He had contracted pneumonia in Klamath Falls and had been brought to Eugene a week before his death to be under the care of his father, Dr. William Kuykendall. Robert Kuykendall was prominent in student affairs when he attended the University. He was a quarterback on the varsity team and one of the greatest field generals Oregon has ever known. After his graduation in 1913 he attended Columbia University, where he received an LL.B. degree in 1917. During the World War Mr. Kuykendall enrolled at the first officers' training camp held at the Presidio, San Francisco, and after three months of training, was sent to Camp Lewis, Washington, to serve as a second lieutenant; and then as first lieutenant with Battery F, 347th Field Artillery, 91st Division. Lieutenant Kuykendall was overseas with the 91st all through the division's hard fighting in the Argonne and in Belgium. After the Armistice he served for a time with the American army of occupation in Germany. He was discharged from the army in 1919 with the rank of captain and went to Portland, where he began his law practice with the firm of Carey and Kerr. About three years ago he went to Klamath Falls to enter a partnership with his brother, Judge Delman V. Kuykendall. From 1922 to 1924 he served as president of the University of Oregon Alumni Association. His position at this time was very important as the gift campaign for the Campbell Fine Arts Museum was launched at that time. Surviving are his father, Dr. William Kuykendall of Eugene, two brothers, Delman V. Kuykendall, B.A., '98, Klamath Falls, W. A. Kuykendall, ex-'94, Portland, and two sisters, Mrs. Sibyl Smith (Mrs. Robert), '03, and Mrs. Mabel Kuykendall McCarty (Mrs. Roy Dell), '10, both of Portland. Robert Kuykendall was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. The funeral services were held in Eugene January 17.

1914

It is with regret that OLD OREGON records the death of Charles E. Widlund, ex-'14.

Fred S. Mathias is in stocks and bonds on Wall Street. He is with Bonbright and Company, 25 Nassau Street, New York.

Martina H. Thiele is an instructor in the English department at Benson Polytechnic School in Portland.

Dr. Delbert C. Stanard, M.D. '21, alumni representative on

Join

the Book-of-the-Month Club

now—while you can get

The First Book FREE

A special offer—see reason for it below

GREAT many people (we know) have been on the verge of joining the Book-of-the-Month Club, but have neglected to do so largely through oversight. This special offer is made, frankly, to overcome this procrastination by making it worth while for you not to delay longer. We suggest simply that you get full information at once about what the Book-of-the-Month Club does for you, and then decide once for all whether you want to join. The mere fact that more than 100,000 judicious book-readers already belong to the organization—that they represent the elite of the land in every profession and every walk of life—that not a single one was induced to join by a salesman or by personal solicitation of any kind, but did so after simply reading the facts about what the Club does for book-readers—all these are indications that it is worth your while at least to get these facts as quickly as possible, and then (if you want to) join and get your first book free. You assume no obligation in sending the coupon below for full information.

Six distinguished foreign authors now serve as an International Advisory Committee for the Book-of-the-Month Club. The function the individuals in this foreign group perform is to keep our judges advised about what they consider the significant new books published abroad, each in his own country. The Committee consists of:

FOR ENGLAND:

H. G. Wells
and Arnold Bennett

FOR FRANCE:

André Maurois

FOR GERMANY AND

AUSTRIA:

Thomas Mann
and Arthur Schnitzler

FOR SCANDINAVIA:

Sigrid Undset

Henry Seidel Canby
Chairman

Heywood Brown

Dorothy Canfield

Christopher Morley

William Allen White

THE EDITORIAL BOARD OF THE BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB

BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB, Inc.
386 Fourth Avenue, New York, N. Y. 1157

Please send me, without cost, a booklet outlining how the Book-of-the-Month Club operates. This request involves me in no obligation to subscribe to your service.

Name.....

Address.....

City..... State.....

Books shipped to Canadian members through Book-of-the-Month Club (Canada) Limited the A. S. U. O. Athletic Committee, saw the football game between Stanford and the Army, December 28. He remained in San Francisco for about a week to take special medical work at a clinic there.

Mrs. Florence Rees Baldwin is residing in Springbrook, Oregon, where she has been for the past eight years.

1915

Tom Boylen Jr. has changed his address from Echo to 2215 Garfield Street, Pendleton, Oregon.

Isle Ewbank Phelps, ex-'15, is primary teacher in the Pleasant Hill Schools, district number 1, Lane County. Her daughter, Evelyn, is 14 years of age, and her son, Robert, is twelve. They live at Creswell.

1916

Ernest E. Vosper, ex-'16, is vice-principal of the Oakland High School, Oakland, California.

Harold F. Humbert is minister of the Church of Christ, Hiram, Ohio, the only church in the township, serving Hiram College students and faculty as well as the community residents. The church building was reconstructed last summer. One of the features is the memorial window for President James A. Garfield, who preached frequently for the church when he was president of the college. At the ninety-seventh anniversary of Mr. Garfield's birth, Mr. Humbert gave the eulogy, reading a letter which President Hoover had written for the occasion.

McGregor L. Church was born on August 29, 1929, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Church. McGregor is their third son, one being eight years, and one two years of age. The Church home is at 868 East Twenty-first Street North, Portland.

Jewel Tozier is teaching physical education in West Seattle High School, Seattle. Her address is 2305 Forty-second Avenue Southwest.

1917

A son, Robert Bruce, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Potter on December 12 in Eugene. Mr. and Mrs. Potter live at the northern limits of Eugene on the Pacific Highway. Mr. Potter is a graduate of the University with the class of 1917.

Jeannette Wheatley Rowland and her family have moved from Boulder Creek, California, to 41 Van Ness Avenue, Santa Cruz, California.

The McKenzie River Blossom Farm, thirteen miles from Eugene on the McKenzie River, is owned and operated by Clinton V. Conley and Lola Barr Conley. The blossom farm has been established for three years and is considered to have some of the finest bulbs and flowers on the coast. The plants are all grown in the open, and the seeds and bulbs are sold for planting in all parts of the country. Tulips, narcissi and daffodils are the blossom farm's specialties. Mr. and Mrs. Conley live in Eugene at 1759 Franklin Boulevard, although they spend most of their time at the farm. Mr. Conley was an assistant in the department of chemistry at the University of Chicago after his graduation from Oregon. During the war he was meat inspector for the government at Bremerton, Washington. After the war he went to Cincinnati, Ohio, as research chemist for the university there. It was there that he and Mrs. Conley began growing flowers for their own pleasure. The demand for their flowers became so great that they obtained one-half acre of land and planted it with flowers and bulbs. The business grew. They decided to devote their entire time to raising flowers. The even climate of Eugene made them choose the University town for the location of the blossom farm.

As account executive of Doyle, Kitchen and McCormick, Inc., New York advertising agency, Milton A. Stoddard is writing and directing the advertising of the New Haven Clock Company as well as several other national accounts.

W. H. (John) Buell, ex-'17, of Hay Creek Ranch, near Madras, Oregon, spent the greater part of the past summer in Europe on business for the Baldwin Sheep Company, of which he is assistant manager.

Nathaniel Gould announces the arrival of David Nathaniel Gould on December 5, 1929. David is the Goulds' second son. The first, Glen Hazelton, aged six, is aspiring for Oregon. His first qualifications are in mastering the Freshman song. Mr. Gould is associated with his father, Aaron H. Gould, architect and engineer. The firm has offices in the Empire Building, Clifford and Washington Boulevard, Detroit, Michigan.

Lucile Watson Lotspeich is living at Kellogg, Idaho. Box 802 is her mail address. She has one son, Marvin Junior, who was three years old in November.

Myra McFarland Tschanz of Mackay, Idaho, recently visited friends in Oregon and Washington. She stopped in Eugene and also visited in Seattle. Mrs. Tschanz has three boys and three girls.

1918

Lieutenant Jesse Dale Jewell, M.D., is one of the medical officers in attendance upon naval families at the U. S. Naval Hospital, San Diego. He is doing an extensive amount of gynecological surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Moxley (Iris Blewett, ex-'20) reside at 76 East Thirteenth Avenue, Eugene. Mr. Moxley, ex-'18, is with Wade Brothers Clothing Store. Their daughter, Edith Marie, is six years old now.

Clarence de Arcy Bean, ex-'18, will be a speaker at the annual convention of Oregon newspaper men at the University in February. Mr. Bean will appear on the advertising program and will represent the merchant's point of view. Mr. Bean operates a country store in Elgin, Oregon.

A. C. Hampton sent his subscription for OLD OREGON from Astoria, where he is superintendent of the Astoria public schools. His office is in the Shively School Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Oliver are living in Ferndale, Michigan. Mr. Oliver, ex-'18, is a commercial artist at the Advertisers' Bureau. Mrs. Oliver (Florence Glass, ex-'13) is a postal clerk in the Detroit post office. They have two sons, David, aged thirteen, and Eric, aged seven.

Juanita Wilkins Crews, ex-'18, is living in Columbia, South Carolina.

1919

Dr. Margaret Eunice Lamson gives her address as 261 Hamilton Avenue, Palo Alto.

I. Newton Carter, ex-'19, is county assessor. He lives at Toledo, Oregon.

Mildred Parks Stewart, San Bernardino, California, writes on her ballot that she often hears from Frances Stiles, also of the class of '19, who now lives at 611 Fairfield Circle, Westfield, New Jersey. Miss Stiles is holding down a job in New York City besides being society editor of the "Plainfield Daily Courier." She took a post-graduate course at the University of Michigan after leaving Oregon.

Melba Williams has charge of the public school music work at the State Normal School at Cheney, Washington. There are over 700 students in the school. Miss Williams is making plans to attend Columbia University next year.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Colton (Helen McCornack, '17) have a daughter, Genevieve, born November 9, 1929. Mr. and Mrs. Colton have two boys and two girls. Mr. Colton has offices in the Corbett Building, Portland.

Mrs. Hester Hurd Thompson and her family live in Springfield, Oregon. She has two children, Hester Jean, aged five years, and Donald, aged two and one-half years.

Frances Frater is head of the dramatics department of the Washington State Normal School at Ellensburg.

Marvin K. Holland was elected on the local council of the American Bar Association at the annual meeting of that group held in Memphis, Tennessee, in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Amspoker (Adah McMurphey, '20) reside in Eugene, where Mr. Amspoker is in the radio business.

1920

Wily W. Knighten is school principal at Kent, Oregon. He was at Fossil for two years.

The new announcer and manager of schedules for radio station WJZ, New York City, is Curtis A. Peterson. "Curt" has been with the company for three years and reports from New York indicate that he has acquired great popularity in radio circles. He was selected as the announcer to inform the United States of the entrance of the Graf Zeppelin into New York recently. Station WJZ is the headquarters of the National Broadcasting Company. Besides being an announcer, he frequently sings over the radio. He has a baritone voice. At the University he was president of the men's glee club, and after his graduation studied voice under Percy Rector Stephens, New York. He was head of the vocal department of Miss Mason's Castle-on-the-Hudson at Tarrytown, New York.

Grace Knopp is taking post-graduate work at Stanford University.

A Christmas wedding was that of Maud Lombard, '19, and Stanley Knapp, solemnized Christmas morning at the home of the bride's parents in Eugene. Members of the immediate families were present. The engagement was announced a short time ago in San Jose. The couple will reside at Villa

A few of the Nationally Famous Aviators Who Have Chosen

VEEDOL

Art Goebel
Martin Jensen

Commander Byrd
Dr. Hugo Eckner
Amelia Earhart

Eddie Stinson
Tex Rankin

The Same Oil for Sale by

E. C. SIMMONS COMPANY

Eugene Ford Dealer — 59 10th Avenue, East — Eugene, Oregon

INDEPENDENT DEALERS ALL OVER THE WORLD

WHEN LUMBER IS NEEDED

Whether it is Douglas Fir, Cedar, or Hemlock, that is needed for your building or repair work—the recommendations of the majority should be considered. We are the largest manufacturers of lumber in Lane county and are in a position to serve you at any time.

Lumber
Slabwood

Hogged Fuel

Lath Shingles

BOOTH - KELLY LUMBER CO.

Fifth and Willamette Streets

Eugene, Oregon

Telephone 452

Students know---

The importance of a good finish.

That's why many of the organizations on the campus get their ice cream from the Eugene Fruit Growers Association, because it tops off the meal—a good finish.

Each week there is a new special in both the brick and bulk. Special orders are made up at any time. Just phone 1480.

And, of course, don't forget our compact boxes of candied fruit are for sale at all the leading grocers.

EUGENE FRUIT GROWERS ASSOCIATION

Home of —

College Ice Cream

Phone 1480

Saroni, 55 South Sixth Street, San Jose, California. Mrs. Knapp received her master's degree at the University of Wisconsin after completing her B.A. work at Oregon. She is head of the physical education department at San Jose State Teacher's College. Mr. Knapp is studying for his master's degree at Stanford University.

Dr. Ralph F. Milne and Lola Green Milne, ex-'22, spent their vacation last summer in California. Dr. Milne, who practices dentistry in Powers, Oregon, attended the Pacific Coast Dental Conference in San Francisco.

1921

Harriett E. Rice, ex-'21, says the memories of the good time she had last Junior Week-end are helping her to get well after a long illness. She has been confined to her bed since July 1. Miss Rice was one of the founders of Delta Delta chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta on the Oregon campus. "I enjoy every page in OLD OREGON. Keep up the good work," she writes on her ballot. Miss Rice lives at 1212 West Fifty-sixth Street, Los Angeles.

Edmund F. Stade, ex-'21, is vice-president of the First National Bank of Salem. He lives at 866 Oak Street.

John Gamble is now in the personnel department of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, with offices in Seattle. He was on the campus recently in the interests of his company.

Peter Jensen is serving as superintendent of schools at Junction City.

George F. Guldager, M.D., ex-'21, left Eugene last month to study medicine at Tulane University graduate school. He will take an advanced course in diseases of children and obstetrics. On his way to New Orleans he stopped in San Francisco, where he attended the international Phi Chi medical convention. Dr. Guldager is a member of the grand chapter of Phi Chi. At the conclusion of the winter session at New Orleans he will go to New York and Boston. He will return home by way of Chicago, where he will visit the Mayo Clinic and do further work in diseases of women, children and obstetrics.

John F. Madigan, ex-'21, has returned to Eugene, where he is with the Crown Drug Company. He spent the summer in the Santiam National Forest. Mr. Madigan is a graduate pharmacist from O. S. C.

Howard E. Kelley is instigating a match between Oregon and the University of Minnesota. He writes on his ballot, "How about booking an Oregon-Minnesota game here in Minneapolis in 1930? Minnesota is angling for a West Coast team and from the looks of things, Oregon ought to trim the Gophers."

Waiva Dean Reese has moved from Los Angeles to Reisters-town, near Baltimore, Maryland, where Mr. Reese is auditor for the Export Steamship Company. Their third child, William Dean, was a year old in September.

Ray Fox is now branch manager for the General Motors Acceptance Corporation and has his office in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Irvin R. Fox and Dr. Charles D. Donahue, '19, were elected president and vice-president, respectively, of the Lane County Medical Society at its annual meeting held at the Osburn Hotel in Eugene recently. Both practice in Eugene.

1922

Delmer L. Powers, chief geologist for the Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company, was a holiday visitor on the University campus from Manitoba, where his company is carrying on oil field developments in the eastern part of the province. Mr. Powers has been in the Canada oil fields since 1926. He is now in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, his mail address being care Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company, Ltd., Herald Building. The Hudson's Bay Company is owned jointly by the old Hudson Bay Company of Canada and the Continental Oil Company of the United States. The exploration work in the lake region on the eastern edge of Manitoba was begun in 1926 and has been carried on continuously ever since. It is vastly different from work in the United States due to climatic conditions, snow and low temperatures. The Manitoba district covers a territory of some 850 miles east and west. The country is undeveloped, pack trains, horses, canoes, and even hikes into the wilds with one's equipment on one's back, being the means of transportation in some of the sectors. The cost of transportation adds considerably to the expense of the well drilling. The products, however, are of a very high quality. The country has both petroleum and natural gas in commercial quantities. The corporation owns about four and one-half million acres for exploration and development. Mr. Powers received his M.A. degree from Stanford in 1924. He is a member of Sigma Xi, science honorary society, the Alberta Society of Petroleum Geologists, the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, and the Geological and Mining Society of American Universities. He is married and has a daughter two years old.

Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Riddle (Katherine Kerr, '23) and their small daughter, Elizabeth, have left Ann Arbor, Michigan, and are making their home in Portland. They have lived in Ann Arbor since their marriage.

Henry M. Foster is professor of physical education and director of the department of physical education for men at the University of Washington. Mr. Foster received an M.A. degree from Columbia University. He and Mrs. Foster have one child, Liane, who will be a year old January 19.

Mrs. Esther Fell Hammond spent Christmas in Eugene with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond and their family reside at 905 North Riverside, Medford.

Peter L. Spencer is in the Philippines, with headquarters at Manila. He is in charge of elementary education and at present is making a survey of school housing.

Leo G. Hertlein, A.B. '22, M.A. Stanford '23, Ph.D. Stanford '29, has a permanent position with the Academy of Sciences as paleontologist. Last summer Dr. Hertlein spent the summer in Canada doing geological work with the Hudson's Bay Co. His address is Academy of Sciences, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Andrew J. Naterlin, ex-'22, and Miss Dorothy M. Schroth were married November 25 at St. Agatha's Church in Portland. After a wedding trip in Victoria, B. C., the couple is residing in Newport. Mr. Naterlin has attended the University of Idaho as well as the University of Oregon. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and of Sigma Pi Rho. Mrs. Naterlin is a graduate of St. Mary's College and Academy, Portland, and of the Oregon Normal School.

Maybelle Leavitt Barnhisel, ex-'22, is an advertising solicitor in Klamath Falls. Mr. Barnhisel is a graduate of the University of Washington.

Earl P. Conrad, ex-'22, is an attorney at Toledo, Oregon.

Leah Wagner Bounseville is a science teacher in the Burns High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Belt (Wave Lesley, '23) are residing in Newport. They were among holiday guests who visited the campus.

Garfield Madden, ex-'22, and Elsie McMurfhey Madden, ex-'21, are living in Tokyo, Japan.

1923

Charlotte Howells teaches physical education at Ballard High School, Seattle. Her sister, Harriett, '24, teaches at Broadway High School, Seattle.

Clyde J. Buck has moved from Lyle, Washington, to 6742 Seventh Avenue Northwest, Seattle.

Dr. and Mrs. Hjalmar T. Gentle (Gertrude Tormoen, ex-'23) are living in Portland. Dr. Gentle received his B.S. degree from Oregon and his M.D. at the medical school in 1929. At present he is interning at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Mary A. Parkinson is a commercial teacher in Portland. Her address is 946 Clinton Street.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. La Roche have a young son, George Jr., born June 24, 1929. Mr. and Mrs. La Roche (Lenore Blaesing, ex-'22) reside at 392 Ashen Street, Portland. Mr. La Roche is an ex-member of the class of 1923. He is an attorney.

Robert George Tapp is a general science and biology teacher in the high school at Thompson Falls, Montana. He also leads the band and orchestra. He has one child, Dixie Lee, a year old.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaefer (Elsie Skoog, ex-'24) moved from Seattle to Tacoma in August. Their address is 317 North Fourth Street. He is with Baillargeon, Winslow and Company, Bonds.

Leafy Lucile Watkins, ex-'23, is now Mrs. Wayne Waite. She makes her home in Cushman, Oregon.

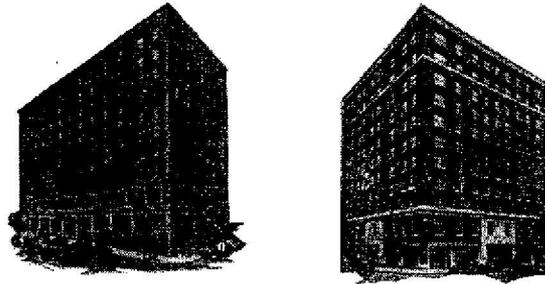

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vernon Simpson (Anne McCabe, ex-'26) reside at the Garden Court Apartments in Seattle. Mr. Simpson is an exporter.

Of interest to Oregon alumni is the announcement of the engagement of Frances E. Rose, ex-'26, and Kenneth Youel, which was told recently in Iowa City, Iowa, Miss Rose's home. The wedding will be in June. Mr. Youel visited in Eugene recently. He is on the staff of the "New York Evening Post."

Alberta Potter is teaching at Chico, California.

Eugene P. Walters of Corvallis has been made manager of the Southern Oregon district of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, succeeding Robert W. Earl, '21, who left Eugene January 1 for Portland, where he is assistant state manager

In Portland

The Heathman Hotels are a place where men and women of refinement and good taste feel at home, and where they see about them others of their own kind.

These hotels are famous for hospitality. Every commodity or service at your elbow, and all about you a sincere desire to see that you have a thoroughly comfortable and enjoyable stay in Portland.

- 530 outside rooms
- 5 hours of organ music daily
- Tub or shower baths
- A sincere spirit of HOSPITALITY
- Home of KOIN Radio Station
- The finest CUISINE in the west
- Ask our clerk for current copies of OLD OREGON and the Emerald.

The Heathman Hotels

G. E. HEATHMAN, Owner

GEO. M. KING, Mgr.

CHAS. C. PIERCE, Mgr.

PHONE AT. 5262

for the same company. Mr. Walters will maintain his headquarters in Corvallis. Mr. Walters was formerly in the insurance business in Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee M. Bown (Margaret Feli, ex-'22) live on the River Road in Eugene. Mr. Bown, ex-'23, is a deputy sheriff for Lane County.

Fred C. Dunn and Mrs. Dunn are now living at 767 Jerome Avenue, Astoria.

Announcement was made recently in New York City of the engagement of Dr. Elizabeth Torrey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Beal Torrey, to John Graves Andrews. The wedding will be in June at the Andrews' summer home on Lake Champlain. Mr. Andrews is the son of Brigadier-General Lincoln C. Andrews, ex-assistant secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Andrews, of New York. Dr. Elizabeth Torrey attended Reed College and was graduated from the University of Oregon. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She studied medicine at the University of California and was graduated in 1927 from the school of medicine of Johns Hopkins University. Since that time she has served on the house staff of the pediatrics department of Bellevue Hospital, and will continue the practice of pediatrics in New York. Mr. Andrews is a graduate of Yale. He was formerly a reporter on the "New York Herald-Tribune" and is now a partner in the firm of Locke, Andrews and Pierce, members of the New York curb exchange. He is a member of the Yale Club and Zeta Psi fraternity.

Viola Mae Powell, ex-'23, chooses far away Charles University, Prague, Czechoslovakia, at which to prepare for her Ph.D. degree. Her address is Prague English Grammar School, 5 Mikulandska Ulice, Prague II, Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Lorna Coolidge Miller and her family are planning to move to San Francisco, where Mr. Miller will continue his work with "Scribner's" magazine. They have two children, Barbara Lee and Howard Jr. They have been living in La Grande.

1924

Lewis C. Martin, ex-'24, is teaching and doing graduate work in Vienna University department of psychology. Mr. Martin has one daughter, Betty Lee, who will be two years old in February. His address is 1 Singerstrasse 16, Vienna, Austria.

Edna Thornber Adkins is keeping house and caring for her two children, Betty Carolyn, aged two years, and Preston Neville, who will be a year old in February. Mrs. Adkins and her family live at Monroe, Washington.

J. Alan Smith, ex-'24, lists his occupation as an airplane pilot. He lives at the Embassy Apartments, number 11, Alameda, California.

C. T. "Ted" Baker is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Medford. Ted takes an active part in all University of Oregon affairs at Medford. Mrs. Baker is an ex-member of the class of '25.

Frank C. Rice is district manager of the Haslett Warehouse Company, Portland.

Alice Frankson is a stenographer for the Charles F. Berg Company, Portland.

Maurine Weaver Mummey, ex-'24, is living at 1440 Minnesota Avenue, Portland. She has one son, Thomas, six years old.

"Had a wonderful time at Homecoming," writes Carl Jaquet on his Alumni ballot. Mr. Jaquet is with the Shepard Point and International Packing Companies, 510 Colman Building, Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Jaquet (Bec Wright, '24) are living at the Envoy Apartments.

Mrs. Lurine B. Coulter Leaf is living at St. Maries, Idaho. She has a small son a year and a half old.

Hugh A. McCell of San Francisco went to see the St. Mary's-Oregon game at Thanksgiving. Oregon alumni were represented by a large delegation, he reports.

Mark B. McCulloch, ex-'24, has been appointed chief clerk of the Shell Oil Company at Walla Walla, Washington.

Ralph Johnson, ex-'24, is married and is living in Hansard, British Columbia.

Virginia West is teaching at Klamath County High School in Klamath Falls.

Cecil Todd has moved from Devils Lake, North Dakota, to 2897 Arrowhead Avenue, San Bernardino, California. Mr. Todd writes that he enjoys every copy of OLD OREGON and says it seems more like an old friend than ever since he is in a new locality.

Harriet Howells is living in Seattle, where she is teaching physical education in the public schools.

1925

William S. Hopkins, who during the past summer and fall has been working toward his Ph.D. degree at Stanford University, has received an appointment to the Stanford faculty with the rank of instructor. Mr. Hopkins' major field is in economics. He will continue his work in that department toward his doctor's degree.

Beatrice Tidd has charge of physical education at Roosevelt High School, Seattle.

Harry Hulac is in Klamath Falls, where he is office manager of the Link River Electric Company.

Roy Wheeler Wade, ex-'25, and Mrs. Wade (Fern Cramer, ex-'24) are living in Pendleton. They have a young son, Gary, who will be a year old in February. Mr. Wade is bank teller for the Inland Empire Bank.

Edward Britts, ex-'25, is a salesman for the Pacific Power and Light Company, The Dalles. Mrs. Britts was Marian Smith.

Kenneth Alexander Moore, ex-'25, is district manager of the Motor Finance Corporation, Eugene. Mrs. Moore was Alice Jean Bailey, ex-'24.

Grant J. Williams is district attorney in Curry County. His home is at Gold Beach, Oregon.

R. J. Mowrey is with Condon Company, Inc., Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Alvin Rhodes (Tempe Goetchius, '29) have moved from Seattle to Everett, Washington. Mr. Rhodes is with the Northwestern Mutual Fire Association.

Eugene McKinney, ex-'25, is an ensign in the United States Navy and is with the S. S. Idaho, stationed now at San Pedro, California. Ensign McKinney is a graduate of Annapolis. He is a member of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Santiago Ynacay, ex-'25, gives his address as 1104 J. Barlin Street, Sampaloc, Manila, Philippines.

Ethel Smith, ex-'25, is teaching at Banks, Oregon.

Katie Potter is teaching at St. Marie's College in Idaho.

Mary Griffin of Portland is leaving in January for a two and one-half months' trip to Honolulu, Australia, New Zealand and some of the South Sea Islands. She will be accompanied by her mother on the trip.

Mildred Crain and Elsie K. Bolt are critic teachers in Monmouth and Independence in connection with the Oregon Normal School.

Always Buy ...

William's
Malted Milk Bread

"Good to the last crumb"

Hobard Dean Belknap, M.D., is a physician and surgeon, specializing in urology. His offices are in the Medical-Dental Building, Portland. Mrs. Belknap was Lucille Snyder, ex-'24.

Announcement of the engagement of Maxine Lamb, '26, and Clifford Constance was made on Christmas day in Eugene. Miss Lamb is now teaching at the Eugene High School. Mr. Constance is personnel assistant at the University of Oregon. No date has been named for the wedding.

Myron "Mike" Shannon is a teller with the First National Bank in Klamath Falls.

Henry E. Tetz, who had an attack of heart trouble recently, will be on the job again soon as principal of Grass Valley School. Mr. Tetz has been in Grass Valley for four years.

Dorr Bothwell, ex-'25, received first prize for her painting, "Samoan Child's Head," in an exhibition of the Society of Women Artists of California. She is living in San Diego.

1926

Staging for "The Novice and the Duke," a modern presentation of Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure," was done by Edgar Bohlman, '26. Mr. Bohlman is a scenic designer. He also did the designing for "Everything's Jake," by Don Marquis, directed by Walter Grunough and played in the New York Theatre Assembly.

"I am so busy working on an operetta that I hardly have time to think," writes Margaret Temp'ler, teacher in Woodburn, Oregon. "However, I am never too busy to read OLD OREGON," she adds.

George W. Hillis is president of the Oregon Equipment Company, representative for Remington Arms Company. His address is 372 East Main Street, Ashland.

Seward E. Owen is teaching in the University of Illinois pharmacy school at Chicago. Mrs. Owen (Evelyn Anderson, '28) is health director of the Harriet Hammond McCormick Memorial Y. W. C. A. in Chicago.

Geraldine Troy is teaching English in the Klamath County High School. She lives at the McCarthy Apartments in Klamath Falls.

Everett Ogle is with the American National Bank in Klamath Falls.

Kenneth Wesley Parelus, ex-'26, is a special agent for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York working in Portland. Mrs. Parelus was Veola Johnson, ex-'25.

Dorothy Poill, ex-'26, is assistant buyer for Lipman and Wolfe Company's ready to wear department, Portland.

Ruth Jean MacGregor, ex-'26, is a clerk for the O. W. R. R. and N. Company in Portland.

Lelah Stone spent last summer in Europe. She is an elementary teacher in the Long Beach, California, schools.

Stuart S. Bothwell is now in the Seattle office of the Charles R. McCormick Lumber Company, having been transferred from San Francisco a month ago. His address there is Burlingame Hotel.

Fland Wooten is English director at the International School in Geneva, Switzerland. The school is operated primarily for the children of delegates and representatives of the League of Nations. It was founded in 1924 by officials of the League of Nations, the International Labour Office and other international organizations centering at Geneva. Mr. Wooten was a graduate assistant in the School of Education at the University of Oregon and an instructor in the University High School. He later did work at Stanford.

Eloise Buck is teaching in the Normal School at Ashland.

Madeline Reinhart, ex-'26, is now Mrs. Raphael H. Levine. Her home is at 331 Clifton, Majestic Apartments, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Nellie V. Moore, ex-'26, is an assistant in the order department of the University of Oregon Library.

The wedding of Irene Gerlinger, ex-'28, and William Swindells, ex-'26, was solemnized Saturday, December 14, in San Jose, California. Only members of the two families were present. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, Mrs. Swindells' parents, entertained at a large reception for the couple December 26 in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Swindells will live at 47 Vallejo Street, Berkeley. Mrs. Swindells is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Mr. Swindells of Chi Psi fraternity. He is a graduate of Lehigh University.

Lionel Haight is an assistant professor of business administration at the New Mexico College of A. and M. A.

John H. Roth, ex-'26, has changed his address to 1435 North Main Street, Los Angeles.

In Haiti the roads are so poor that important business is carried on by airplane, says Francis E. Taylor, ex-'26, who is legal advisor to the American assistant to the president of Haiti. Mr. Taylor visited the campus recently while on a six

McMorran & Washburne

PHONE 2700

AMONG our assets there is one we like to count above all others. It is not reckoned by dollars and cents; it is not measured by merchandise nor buildings nor real estate; it is not recorded in sales volume, nor can it be expressed in figures. But, it is an intangible thing—the most precious of all our possessions—and the only one money cannot buy—

Your Good Will

IN APPRECIATION OF YOUR CONFIDENCE, ALL THE MEMBERS OF OUR ORGANIZATION THANK YOU SINCERELY AND HOPE THAT IN THE NEW YEAR YOU MAY REALIZE YOUR HIGHEST EXPECTATIONS

YEAR IN YEAR OUT

1920 — 1930

1940 — 1950

The Students' Store Has Become an "Institution" on the Oregon Campus

Each year finds us stronger financially, which means greater buying power; stronger traditionally, which means accumulated knowledge of student needs.

With increased buying power backed by greater knowledge of what to buy, the Co-op is steadily growing in usefulness to Oregon students.

the
UNIVERSITY CO-OP

The Town Jeweler

Laraway's Jewelry Store is the jewelry store of Eugene.

Expert watch repairing done by master craftsmen
—at reasonable prices.

Seth Laraway
Diamond Merchant and Jeweler

Better Grades — With Less Work
USE A TYPEWRITER

ALL MAKES

STANDARD OR PORTABLE

FOR SALE OR RENT — STUDENT TERMS

Office Machinery & Supply Co.
1047 Willamette St. Phone 148

New Service Laundry and Dry Cleaning

MODERN EQUIPMENT

MODERN METHODS

FAIR TREATMENT

Call 825

839 High Street

weeks' leave of absence from his work. He told about a much used highway in Haiti, eighty miles long, which winds back and forth across one river fifty-six times and cannot be traversed in less than six hours. Poverty, ignorance and Voodooism are the chief problems to be overcome in Haiti, Mr. Taylor says. The Haitians are so poor that they buy their cigarettes one at a time, rather than by the package. Haiti has a tropical climate, but the heat is not so dangerous as in some equatorial countries, Mr. Taylor said. A peculiar ocean haze covers the island and diffuses the sun's rays so that sunstroke is neither frequent nor fatal. The country also has cool mountains where one may escape the heat.

Esther Wright Erickson is now living in Los Angeles, where her husband, Rev. H. D. Erickson, is pastor of the Atherton Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Erickson have twin boys, born April 13, 1929.

Kenneth Wadleigh and Miss Wilma Black of Everett, Washington, were married November 29 at the Christian Church in Everett. The couple will reside in Harrisburg, where Mr. Wadleigh is teaching.

1927

Marie Ann Schaefer, ex-'27, is still at Burns. She is teaching English and Latin in the high school. Miss Schaefer was graduated from U. C. L. A. in 1927.

Sol Abramson and Mrs. Abramson are planning to return soon to the United States, according to a letter received on the campus by George Turnbull recently. Sol is now city editor of the Paris edition of the "Chicago Tribune." In the letter Sol said that, while they find Paris very instructive and enjoyable, they question the wisdom of remaining away from this country permanently.

Grace Potter is supervisor of music at Deer Park, Washington.

"There are quite a few Oregon people living in, or near Los Angeles, and I wish there were more," writes Marjorie Merrick Wright. Marjorie and Emerson "Red" Wright, '28, were married last June in Hollywood. "Imagine the most beautiful spring weather in Eugene, sunshine, flowers, etc.—and that's what we lucky ones are having right now—in December!" her letter continues. Housekeeping in a bungalow court, combined with designing dresses for various manufacturers, is Marjorie's occupation. The Wrights live at 950 1/4 West Thirty-seventh Street.

Inez M. Tyler is doing case work for the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital in New York City. Her address is 46 West Seventy-fifth Street.

Dr. Thomas N. Page entered the United States Army last July as a first lieutenant and is interning at the Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio, San Francisco. Mrs. Page was Germaine Dew, '22.

Samuel Morton Fries, Jr., was born September 26, on his daddy's birthday. Samuel and his mother, Mrs. Catherine Switzer Fries, ex-'27, and his daddy and brother Billy, live at 701 East Thirteenth Street North, Portland. Billy is two and a half years old.

Dorsey E. Dent is teaching economics, business English, Latin, public speaking and coaching debate at Gresham Union High School. He is also freshman class adviser. Mrs. Dent was Laura A. Nelson, ex-'23.

Otto L. Vitus, ex-'27, is manager of a large service station in Eugene. He and Mrs. Vitus (Alice Olsen) live at 1127 Polk Street. Mrs. Vitus is on the staff of the "Eugene Register."

Ralph W. Watters, M.D. '27, is a physician and surgeon in Portland. He and Mrs. Watters live at 285 Fargo Street.

Marian Barnum is a critic teacher in Monmouth and Independence. Her work is in connection with the Oregon Normal School.

Mary C. Harding, ex-'27, is still working in the field of religious education. She is teaching in that department in the Eugene Bible University and organizing week-day church schools in the rural districts of Lane County.

Virginia Keeney, who has been visiting in Eugene the past month, is to study in Boston, continuing her architectural work. Her brother, Paul, '28, is in the school of business administration at Harvard.

Dr. E. F. Corneliusson and Mrs. Corneliusson live at 3323 Eighth Avenue West, Seattle. His office is in the Medical-Dental Building. Mrs. Corneliusson is a graduate of Good Samaritan Hospital Nurses Training School, Portland.

Joseph Bond of Klamath Falls spent Christmas visiting in Eugene.

Gordon D. Billingsley, M.D., is practicing in Miami, Florida, and is with the Jackson Memorial Hospital there. Dr. Billingsley received his M.D. from the University in 1929.

Tom "Bill" Short, ex-'27, was admitted to the California State Bar Association this last summer. He formerly had passed the Oregon bar examinations. Mr. Short lives in Long Beach, California.

Erma Laurel Parker became the bride of Frederick M. Burton on Christmas eve. The wedding was at the home of the bride's parents in Eugene. About twenty-five were present. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Burton will make their home at 2270 Columbia Street, Eugene. Mrs. Burton has been a teacher in the Eugene schools for the past two years. Mr. Burton is head of the Burton Saw and Supply Company.

Howard P. Staub, M.D., is at the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

Kate Francis Ede is supervisor of music in the grade and high schools at Heppner.

Herbert G. Kimball, ex-'27, is a public accountant with Price Waterhouse and Company, Los Angeles.

Ruth Wheeler Hurst, ex-'27, lives at 1930 Franklin Street, Toledo, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Hurst have one son.

Douglas and Marcel Villiger King are the proprietors of "Battle Axe Inn" at Swim, Oregon. Battle Axe Inn is "where you stay when you play at Mt. Hood," write Mr. and Mrs. King. They invite all alums to drop in and see them.

Edmund Veazie, who is with the Bell Telephone research laboratories in New York, spent about a month in Bermuda, where the climate was far better than even California can boast of, he wrote.

Gladys McCernack is librarian in the senior high school at North Bend.

Mildred Steen, ex-'30, and Carl Johnson were married in Oregon City in November, 1929. They are living in Camas, Washington, where Mr. Johnson is with the Crown Willamette Company.

Lillie Christopherson is teaching in the high school at Redmond.

Elton Schroeder stopped to visit Mr. and Mrs. Emberson Wright (Marjorie Merrick, '27) in Los Angeles on his way to Florida to see the game. Mr. Schroeder lives at Myrtle Point.

Marguerite Jackson is teaching English, Spanish and Latin in Canby. It is her third year teaching school.

Vesta Scholl was married June 9, 1929, to Frank M. Beer, '29. The couple is living at Aberdeen, Idaho, where Mr. Beer is teaching in the high school and coaching athletics.

1928

Don Ostrander is playing Villion in "The Vagabond King," and Bennie in "The Desert Song" for the United Lyceum Bureau. The bookings come from the extension bureaus of the Universities of Wisconsin, Kansas, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and Texas. Don is enjoying the work and writes that he hopes to set foot on Oregon soil again next spring.

The marriage of Sadie Coe and Clarence E. Shinn was solemnized November 26 in Walla Walla, Washington. The couple will reside in Walla Walla, where Mr. Shinn is in business.

Elizabeth Enright visited at her home in Eugene recently from Topenish, Washington, where she is teaching school.

Beatrice A. Mason is teaching part time in the high school and part time in the junior college at Marysville, California. Miss Mason received her B.A. in 1928 and her M.A. in 1929, both from Oregon.

Allen A. Bailey is teaching in the high school at Connell, Washington.

John Pete Motschenbacher, ex-'28, is an accountant for the California Oregon Power Company, Klamath Falls. He and Mrs. Motschenbacher and their son, Elliott Lee, aged two years, live at 239 Martin Street.

George L. Hill is in the advertising department of Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Sam Kinley, ex-'28, is prospering in the mortgage business in Portland. Sam is from Long Beach, California. He was manager of the 1928 "Oregonian" on the campus.

Herbert G. Kimball, ex-'28, is with Price, Waterhouse Company, accountants, Los Angeles. He recently passed the California Certified Public Accountant examinations. His address is 407 South Hope Street, Los Angeles.

Ruth Newton has had a story accepted by "Midland," a literary magazine published in Iowa. The story, "The Wedding Gift," will appear in the January issue. Miss Newton is secretary of the Bureau of Public Relations on the University campus.

Thomas Chapman, ex-'28, acts in the capacity of salesman, collector, truck driver and bookkeeper for the J. F. Hachett Furniture Company in North Bend.

J.C. PENNEY CO.

Phone 278 942 Willamette

ECONOMIES
That Will Appeal to the Thrifty
Shopper

WINTER TERM
New Classes Each Week

SHORTHAND TYPEWRITING BOOKKEEPING

Eugene Business College
It's a Good School — Ask About It

A. E. ROBERTS, President Miner Bldg.,
Eugene, Oregon
Telephone 666

Campus Store

The University Pharmacy

PACIFIC BUSINESS BUREAU

Financial Organization Research Problems
Campaign Management Publicity Service
Statistical Work

I. H. GERLINGER, President
Terminal Sales Bldg. Portland, Oregon

KODAKS — FILMS
CARL R. BAKER FILM SHOP
7th and Willamette

Printing and Developing Pictures is Our Business—
Not a Side Line

Maurine Lombard is teaching at North Bend High School this year. She was formerly teaching at Springfield High School. Maurine spent the holidays with her mother in Springfield.

Winifred C. Morris, ex-'28, and Glen Plass, ex-'30, were married December 27 in Portland. The couple will reside at the Wilder Apartments in Eugene. Mrs. Plass has been teaching at Prairie City, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. King (Maude Loomis, ex-'29) are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, born December 15, 1929, in Eugene. The little daughter has been named Barbara Ann. Mr. and Mrs. King reside at the Stanley Apartments, 72 West Broadway. Mr. King, ex-'28, is on the editorial staff of the "Eugene Guard."

John Black, ex-'28, lives in McMinnville, where he is engaged in newspaper work.

Laurence Osterman, ex-'28, is attending Northwestern School of Law in Portland.

Wesley Asbury, ex-'28, lives in San Francisco, where he is playing in a dance orchestra. Mr. Asbury was one of George McMurry's entertainers while on the campus.

Beulah Smith is teaching at Athena, Oregon.

Dorothy Straughan is teaching her second year in Adams, Oregon.

Herman Rademacher is a clerk for the Shell Oil Company in Portland.

Dick Godfrey, ex-'28, sports writer for the "Morning Oregonian," spent part of the holidays in Eugene on a short vacation.

Gibson Bowles and Mrs. Bowles have a baby girl born October 31. Mr. Bowles has been teaching social sciences in Parkrose High School, Portland, and is now teaching in Jefferson High School, Portland.

Vida Mae Hileman is teaching in the high school at Langlois, Oregon.

Ralf McCulloch, ex-'28, is with the Shell Oil Company in Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Naomi Hagensen Craven (Mrs. Bob) has a baby daughter, Phyllis Anne, who was born September 13. They live in Independence. Mr. Craven is with his father in W. H. Craven and Son, Books and Stationery and Confectionery business.

Florence R. Phelps is teaching English and history in Thurston High School near Eugene.

Frances Dodds is swimming instructor at the Y. W. C. A. in Tacoma.

Ruth Street is with an advertising firm in Portland.

Glen Radabaugh, ex-'28, will give a discussion of job printing in the newspaper office at the annual press conference to be held on the campus February 6, 7 and 8. Glen is doing job work for the "Roseburg News-Review."

Lucille Jackson has recently recovered from an illness which confined her to her home in Oregon City for several weeks. She was granted a leave of absence at the Estacada High School, where she teaches English and Spanish. She is teaching again now and is busy coaching the junior class play.

The engagement of Justine Ackerson to Carl F. Klippel of Summer Lake was announced during the holidays at Miss Ackerson's home in Eugene. The wedding will be in the early summer. Miss Ackerson is the principal's assistant at the Silver Lake, Oregon, schools.

Norma Lee Stamp is now Mrs. J. Lundsford. Dr. and Mrs. Lundsford live in Berkeley, California.

Charles J. Spere is a junior structural engineer in Dayton, Ohio. He is in the instructor's unit of the airplane branch at Wright Field, U. S. Army experimental station. His mail address is box 969.

Florence Beardsley, ex-'28, is a critic teacher in Monmouth and Independence in connection with the Oregon Normal School.

Jane Bodine, '26, and Dr. Edwin D. Warren were married in Portland December 28. They will reside in Lakeview. Mrs. Warren is a member of Chi Omega sorority and Dr. Warren of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Van Atta (Juanita Dietze, '28) are at Evanston, Illinois, where Mr. Van Atta is attending Northwestern University.

Judith Blom sends her subscription from Long Creek, Oregon, where she is teaching.

Dot Elizabeth Ward, '27, and John Renshaw were married Thursday, December 26, at the First Presbyterian Church in Portland. Evelyn Jacobs and Edgar Murry Burns, Oregon Medical School students, were the attendants. Mrs. Renshaw is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Mr. Renshaw of Chi Psi fraternity and Nu Sigma Nu. He is attending medical school and Mrs. Renshaw has been teaching. The couple will reside in Oregon City.

Florence Ross and Cliff Boggs were married in New Jersey early in July. They are living at 1504 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

Edwin Koupal and his family visited in Eugene from Sacramento during the holidays. Mr. Koupal is with the Southern Pacific Company in Sacramento.

1929

Frederick Beck writes to OLD OREGON from Waldport, where he is superintendent of the Waldport Public Schools.

Milton Simon is engaged in fruit growing in Forest Grove. He has several orchards to care for. Milton took his B.S. degree in economics on the campus.

Katherine Delanty is enrolled in the first year class of Johns Hopkins University Medical School at Baltimore, Maryland. Her residence address is 1813 Jefferson Street.

Eby Judy Neth is probation officer in the department of domestic relations of Multnomah County, Circuit Court, in Portland.

Frances Kight is teaching physical education in the Long Beach, California, secondary schools and also in the security department of the Hugh Evans and Company in Los Angeles. Her address is 1011 Ximeno, Long Beach.

Ruth Helms escaped injury in an automobile accident on the McKenzie Highway recently while returning from a visit in Eugene to Redmond, where she is teaching this year. The car in which she was riding skidded on wet clay on the road near Leaburg where construction work has been under way on the city of Eugene's new power project. The presence of mind of the driver of the car saved the car from rolling into the McKenzie River. He turned the car straight down the embankment into a tree.

Herbert William Lasselle is with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in Portland. He and Mrs. Lasselle live at 1040 Schuyler Street.

W. C. Winslow is an attorney at law in Salem. His offices are in the Salem Bank of Commerce Building.

Bruce Baker is attending University of Oregon Medical School at Portland. Theta Kappa Psi, Marquam Hill, Portland, is his address.

"The summer of 1929 saw us headed for South America," writes Beulah Buchanan. "We stopped in Peru, Lima, a lovely city with its Spanish people and with some of the ladies still wearing the lace mantilla. We visited Pizarro's Cathedral, where rest his remains in a glass case, and his heart in a glass bottle. Other stops were made along the coast. From Valparaiso we took the Andean Railroad across the mountains and, oh, the wonderful view of the snow capped peaks, as it was winter down there. We went down the other side to Buenos Aires, a wonderful city; on to Montevideo, past San Paula, Santos, largest coffee port in the world. Then one lovely day we sailed into Rio de Janeiro harbor and it surely seemed a beautiful city of dreams."

Chalmers Noce has resigned his position as sports editor of the "Eugene Guard" and will be on the advertising staff of the "Bend Bulletin."

Bob Warner is production manager for Adolph L. Bloch Advertising Agency, Portland.

Helen Joan Johnson, ex-'29, is in the collection department of the Pacific Finance Corporation, Portland.

Barbara Janzen is teaching in the high school at Ashland this year.

Grace Sylvana Edmonds is rehearsing a play with a stock company in Los Angeles at the present time. The production is to appear the first of the year. Her address is 2250 Moreno Drive.

Ronald M. McCreight is working for his degree in the University Extension Center in Portland. He is employed by the Jantzen Knitting Mills.

Frederick W. McCoy Jr., ex-'29, is with the States Steamship Company in Portland.

Paul M. Clark is with Blyth and Company, brokers, in Portland. His office is in the Pacific Building.

Claud F. Addison is an accounting instructor in Blair Business College, Spokane, Washington.

Harold F. Gulde is working in the traffic department of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company at Los Angeles. He expects to go back to Washington, D. C., soon on a job in the Census Bureau in a supervisory capacity, gathering manufacturing and distribution statistics. His address is 2967½ Glenwood Street, Southgate, California.

John Butler is a research assistant in the geology department of the University. He lives at the Sigma Pi Tau house.

Charles Spellman, M.D., is interning at King County Hospital, Seattle.

Eunice Payne is teaching music, English and social science at Burns High School.

Bernyce Hensley is teaching home economics and typing in the Burns High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Standard write from Cordova, Alaska. Mr. Standard is an ex-member of the class of 1929 and Mrs. Standard of the class of 1930.

Ronald Kretzer sent his ballot from Joliet, Montana. He is head of the science department in the Joliet High School, and has been there for two years. Joliet is nearly 5,000 feet in elevation and is "plenty cold," Mr. Kretzer says. He reports that it was twenty-six degrees below even before the middle of December. "I certainly enjoy OLD OREGON and I read it from cover to cover in search of a few of those homely faces that were most familiar to me while at the University."

Milton George has resigned his position on the advertising staff of the "Morning Oregonian" in Portland. He was in the display advertising department. He left during the holidays on a cruise to Hawaii, the Orient and to the European coast. He will be away for a year. On the campus Milton was business manager of the "Oregon Daily Emerald."

Richard M. Jones, ex-'29, publicity director of the Portland office of the West Coast Air Transport Corporation, will address a journalism class at the University during winter term. He will talk to the reporting class on airplane publicity.

Harold R. Allumbaugh, M.D., '29, has just opened his offices in the Harrisburg National Bank Building, Harrisburg. Dr. Allumbaugh has recently returned from the University of Chicago, where he took special work.

Grace L. Trawin is now residing in Fresno, California, where her father is pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Herman Kramer is teaching and coaching in the Senior High School at Silverton. Mrs. Kramer (Grace Chapman) is keeping house and caring for Billy and George.

Frances Perry is teaching English and music at Waterville, Washington.

Walter Erickson is a clerk for the Shell Oil Company in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark M. Taylor (Elizabeth Huston, ex-'27) are living at the St. Clair Apartments in Portland. Mr. Taylor is a clerk with the Shell Oil Company.

Miss Jean Findlay of Portland and Ryle Reddick, ex-'29, were married December 27. Mr. and Mrs. Reddick are living in San Francisco, where he is in the brokerage business.

Glen E. Brown and Miss Mary Rosalind Prince of Dundee, California, were married November 12 and are living in San Francisco, where Mr. Brown is employed by the Bell Telephone Company. He holds the position of assistant to the traffic manager. Mr. Brown has become an enthusiastic California man and writes that San Francisco is a great city for business opportunities.

William R. Frerichs, M.A. '29, is completing eighteen years of service as head of the German department at Linfield College. He has been granted a leave of absence for the year 1930-1931 in order to study abroad. He has made reservations on the North German Lloyd steamer Europa and will sail the latter part of April. He will study for his doctor's degree at a German university.

Florence Hill is doing diagnostic and remedial work in the North Bend City Schools.

Dorothea Lensch is taking advance work at Wellesley College. "I am working on an endurance criteria for women's athletics," she writes. Her address is 3 Waban Street, Wellesley, Massachusetts.

Malcolm Epley is news editor on the afternoon "Eugene Register." Mr. and Mrs. Epley (Jane Dudley) and Malcolm Jr. live at 1654 Fairmount Boulevard.

Dorothy Mielke, ex-'29, and Willard F. Allumbaugh, law student at the University, were married December 27 in Portland. Mrs. Allumbaugh was queen of the 1927 Portland Rose Festival. Mr. Allumbaugh is an aviation enthusiast and recently gave an exhibition of stunt flying over the Eugene airport. The couple will reside in Portland.

James Webb, ex-'29, is with K. Sugarman, clothier, in Klamath Falls.

Edith Dodge is the new society editor on the "Eugene Register." She will also be Springfield reporter. Edith has been reporting and reading proof on the afternoon edition of the "Register." Ruth Hansen, who has been proofreader on the morning "Register," is now reading the afternoon "Register."

The engagement of Lois Tuttle and Don J. Campbell, senior in the University of Oregon, was told in Eugene during the Christmas holidays. Miss Tuttle is teaching in the high school at Ashland this year. The wedding date has not been named.

The marriage of Josephine Price, ex-'30, and Joe Price, ex-'29, was solemnized November 29 in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Portland. Margaret Price, ex-'31, and Nancy Luckel, ex-'30, were two of the bride's maids. One of the ushers was Irving Brown, ex-'27. Mrs. Price is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Mr. Price of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Following a wedding trip to Victoria, B. C., Mr. and Mrs. Price are at home at 770 Schuyler Street, Portland.

Ida May Pope is secretary at the appointment bureau of the University of Oregon.

Paul Luy, ex-'29, has accepted a position as reporter on the staff of the "McMinnville Telephone-Register."

Verna May Linneberg and Paul Irving McCabe were married November 30. Mrs. McCabe is teaching English in the high school at Lorane, Oregon.

Laraway's Music Store

Everything in Music

RECORDS SHEET MUSIC

ROBERT W. EARL

Ass't Agency Mgr.

Equitable Life Assurance Society of U. S.

6th Floor, Porter Bldg.

Portland, Ore.

UNDERWOOD & ELLIOTT

Groceries and Delicatessen

S&H GREEN STAMPS

13th and Patterson

Phone 95

UNIVERSITY FLORIST

MEMBER, FLORIST TELEGRAPH DELIVERY ASSOCIATION

598 13th Avenue, East

Phone 654

H. W. WHITE ELECTRIC CO.

Electrical Contractors and Engineers
Brunswick Radios — Electrical Refrigeration

878 Willamette

Phone 254

"WE INSURE ANYTHING"

TROMP & MCKINLEY AGENCY

Rooms 26-28

First National Bank Building
Eugene, Oregon

The Pratt & Holden Insurance Agency

401-2-3 Miner Bldg.

GENERAL INSURANCE

We Have a Special Life Insurance Department

Irene Buckley is teaching physical education at the Idaho State Normal School at Albion, Idaho.

Lois Beth Scoffern sent her subscription from Clatskanie. She will be there until June as she is teaching mathematics in the Clatskanie High School.

Emmabell Woodworth and Wallace Larkin, ex-'30, were married December 28 at the home of the bride in Newberg. They will reside in Newberg, where Mr. Larkin is in business with his father. Mrs. Larkin is teaching in Newberg High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Church Jr. (Nona Proctor, ex-'30) have a baby daughter, Peggy Ann. Mr. and Mrs. Church live in Seattle.

The wedding of Marion Look, ex-'29, and James Francis Miller was solemnized November 18 in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Portland. Following the marriage a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Eleanor Look, '32, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Paul Clark, '29, was one of the ushers. Following a wedding trip to Honolulu the couple will reside at 435 East 14th Street North, Portland. Mr. Miller is a graduate of the University of Washington and is affiliated with Delta Tau Delta. Mrs. Miller is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Adelaide Fay Hypes has sent OLD OREGON announcement of the birth of a son, George Paul, on July 21, 1929, in Eugene. Mrs. Hypes' home is in Wasco, Oregon, where her husband, Rev. Gordon L. Hypes, is pastor of the Christian Church.

Dorothy Chapman is designing signs. She is with the Brilliant Neon Corporation, Portland, where her duties are to work up signs from the orders. "It is great fun," she says, "seeing our sketches created in tin, and finally hung."

Leona Hostetler, ex-'29, was married to Harold Clarke Mosher in Portland, October 12. The couple will reside at 721 East Flanders Street, Portland.

Ethel Marie Wicks is teaching at the Triangle High School at Blachly, Oregon.

Marion "Pod" Sten is at Stanford working for her master's degree. "Pod" spent part of the summer working in the public relations bureau on the campus. She is taking her master's work in the journalism school at Stanford. She is planning to write her thesis on the history of journalism on the Pacific Coast.

Olive Beck is teacher of English and home training in a three teacher rural high school in Thomas, Bingham County, Idaho. The school has sixty pupils enrolled. "I know of no other U. of O. graduates around here," writes Olive.

OLD OREGON is a "source of much joy to a new alum," writes Catherine Calouri from Enterprise. Catherine is teaching English, Latin and world history in the High School and has charge of the glee clubs.

David Foulkes is with the firm of Hirons and Mellor, architects, in New York City. He follows all of the Oregon football game reports and is quite proud of the season's results. His address is 10 Maple Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Russell G. Hendricks is teaching in the history department of the Eugene High School.

Eileen Palmer is among Oregon graduates studying advanced courses on the home campus. Eileen is in the English department.

Morris S. Temple is manager of the Dorion Hotel at Pendleton. He was among Homecoming guests.

Teaching economics, English, French and physical education in the high school at Hunter, North Dakota, is the problem of Wilma V. Parish.

Vernon McGee, ex-'29, is writing news and advertising for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in Portland. Vernon was on the staff of the "Emerald" while he attended the University.

John Byron Rice is a commission merchant in Honolulu, in partnership with his father. The company name is Rice Pacific Company, and it is located at 919 Maunakea Street, Honolulu, T. H.

Russell M. Richmond is an accountant for Grays Cash and Carry Stores, Eugene. He received his B.B.A. degree from the University last June.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace K. Cooke (Estelle Vadnaus, ex-'25) are both at the Union High School, Spray, Oregon. Mr. Cooke is principal and Mrs. Cooke is a teacher. Their daughter Elaine is five years old.

Evening football games between the University of North Dakota and South Dakota is just one of the reasons why Ruth Woughter finds Langdon, North Dakota, so interesting, she writes. Langdon is in the extreme northern part of the state, and is just a sixteen mile drive from Canada. Miss Woughter is teaching Latin I and II, citizenship, social problems and physical education in the Langdon High School.

F. Kramer Deuel is living at East 16th Avenue, Columbus, Ohio. Medford is his home town.

Mary Louise Dutton is working in an art store in Long Beach, California. Her home address is 493 East 16th Street North, Portland.

Werdna Isbell, Virginia Hunt and Eariel Gilbert, all of the class of 1929, are on the faculty of the Cottage Grove High School. Bert Kerns and Virginia Lounsbury Kerns, both of the class of 1928, are also on the teaching staff of the school.

Teacher and librarian at Llewellyn Grade School in Portland is the occupation of Bertha Singrey. Miss Singrey attended Tri State College and Albion Normal School in Idaho before coming to the University.

"I am teaching glee club, English, typing, or what have you at Waldport, Oregon," says Roberta Wilcox. Roberta saw the big game at Homecoming.

Are you planning a trip? We suggest that you consult OLD OREGON'S travel department for information as to routes or rates. This service is free to alumni.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hansen are making their home in Seattle, where Mr. Hansen is with the new branch office of Packer-Scott Company. Mr. Hansen is an ex-member of the class of 1929. Mrs. Hansen (Gladys Calef) was graduated in 1928. They reside at 4009 15th Avenue Northeast, Seattle.

George Henry Todd, ex-'29, has enlisted in the navy and is now at the preliminary aviation training field at San Diego. Mr. Todd's home address is 939 East 20th Avenue, Eugene.

Garrett B. Holloway is practicing law at Monroe, Washington. His address is Box 301, Monroe.

John A. Breneiser is teaching art in the elementary schools of the city of Santa Maria, California. He also teaches art in the night session of the Santa Maria Union High School.

Hubert Veltum, ex-'29, died from injuries received in an automobile accident August 4 on the ocean beach between Waldport and Yachats. A truck ahead of the Veltum car obstructed the vision, and when the car rounded it a pile of driftwood was directly ahead. The car overturned when Mr. Veltum tried to turn out around the driftwood. Mr. Veltum, a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, was a senior at Oregon State College.

Ruth Arbuckle is teaching high school at Sams Valley, Oregon.

Berniece Razor is in Portland at the University of Oregon School of Social Service, making a time survey for the school. Miss Razor was formerly in the extension division offices on the campus.

Mabel Gray is a health teacher in the Portland Public Schools. Her address is 726 Hawthorne Avenue.

Laurence J. de Rycke is a research assistant in the School of Business Administration on the campus.

Alice Gorman is at Grants Pass this year teaching English in the high school.

Agnes Palmer is teaching in Grass Valley.

Luola Bengé, permanent class secretary for the class of 1929, is teaching in the Junior High School at Medford. Her address is 5 Corning Court.

An event of July 13 in Salem was the marriage of Eunice Parker, ex-'27, and John Bell Jr., '29. For their wedding trip the couple spent several weeks in British Columbia and in California. They are living in the Peterson Apartments in Eugene.

Luella Elliott was married to William Rehffuss on June 29 in Astoria. Mrs. Rehffuss is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music society for women, and of Pi Lambda Theta, women's honorary education society.

The marriage of Miss Edna Mae Minion to Carl Hanson was solemnized in Eugene on July 3. Mr. Hanson is with the Bell Telephone Company in New York City, where they are making their home. Mrs. Hanson was formerly assistant to the county treasurer of Lane County.

Francis Bacon is on the campus and is working part time in the English department.

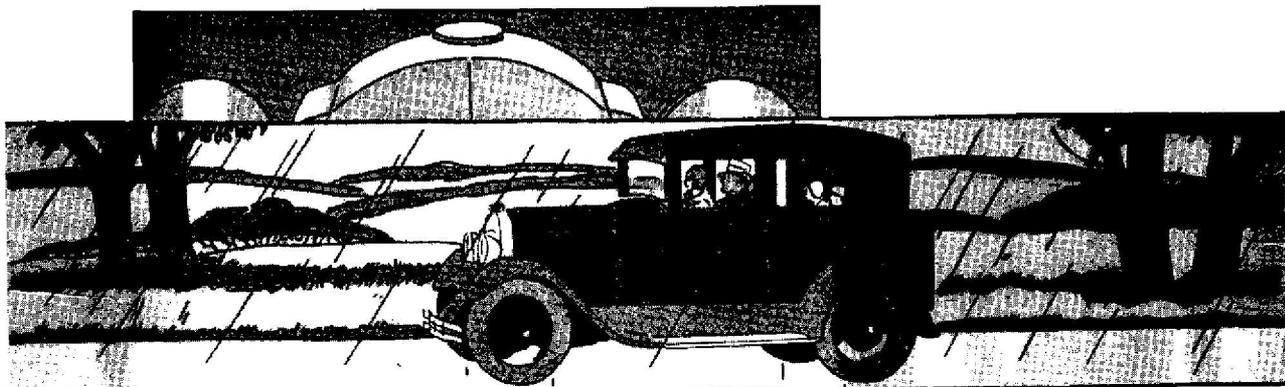

Ruth Jackson is a part time assistant in the English department on the campus.

Nellie McDonald, ex-'31, and Paul Angstead were married August 17 in Lakeview.

Nettie C. Toole wants her OLD OREGON sent to her at Fossil, Oregon.

Eida Russell is teaching in the Kessler School, Longview, Washington. Her address is Monticello Hotel, Longview.

Elizabeth A. Dimmitt is teaching science in the Union High School at Seaside.

Full-choke your motor —for quick cool-weather starting with this finest motor fuel.

FORGET the bugaboo of crankcase dilution when you use Associated Winter-Grade Gasoline. All of it burns in the Associated 1-to-1 mixture—one part gasoline to one part air.

The government's practical tests point to a full choke gasoline as the ideal fuel. With Associated Winter-Grade your motor starts quicker on less gasoline.

Just pull your choke-lever way out and step on the starter. You'll get immediate response.

Then return the choke-lever to accustomed driving position and drive away smoothly, with even acceleration and steady power.

Ready now—this resultful gasoline for winter use—at the red, green and cream stations and garages everywhere.

ASSOCIATED WINTER GRADE GASOLINE

Refined and Marketed by the Associated Oil Company, together with Associated Ethyl Gasoline, Cyclo Motor Oils and Greases, Burnbrite Kerosene and other "Sustained Quality" products

ENJOY WINTER SPORTS THIS SEASON

Bayard Taylor Merrill is a champion Oregon Dad. He claims his distinction by virtue of having four children, Marian, Ruth, Charles, and Jean, all attending the University with him during the year 1926 and 1927. Mr. Merrill is teaching at Junction City High School this year. He received his B.S. degree in education from the University in 1929. He has also attended Oregon Normal School and Washington State College.

Christine Holt has been made principal of Ukiah High School, Ukiah, Oregon. When the principal resigned, Miss Holt, who had been assistant principal, stepped into the position. Audrey Hall, also of the class of '29, has the position of assistant principal for Miss Holt.

Bill Dallas is working in San Francisco for the Equitable Life Assurance Company.

Dorothy Baker, who left her home in Salem a few months ago for eastern journalistic fields, has already won first place, and consequently the $100 cash award, in the national essay contest sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national journalism society. Dorothy was president of the campus chapter of Theta Sigma Phi her senior year and was active in publication activities at Oregon. Dorothy left her home a short time ago leaving a note asking her parents not to worry about her. After several days of silence she wrote from the Middle West saying that she was faring "beautifully." Since then she has told of interesting experiences working for the Western Newspaper Union and on the "Omaha World-Herald." She is now on a newspaper in Hopkins, Minnesota. She plans eventually to go on to New York City. She spent part of the summer in Eugene proof reading on the "Eugene Register."

1930

Jack Dawsett, ex-'30, is attending medical school at Portland. He stays at the Nu Sigma Nu fraternity house.

The engagement of Miss Ruth Eleanor Richmond to Ira Woodie, ex-'30, was announced recently. The wedding will be an event of the spring. Mr. Woodie is athletic director and football coach at La Grande High School. Miss Richmond has been with Pratt and Holden, insurance office, in Eugene for the past five years.

Virginia Johnson, ex-'30, became the bride of Thomas Duncan Robertson, Saturday, August 24, at the First Congregational Church of The Dalles. Mr. Robertson is a student in the University of Oregon School of Medicine.

Frances Kuhl, ex-'30, is secretary to the manager of the Bank of California in Portland.

Keith Ingalls is employed in the office of the Clyde Equipment Company at Portland.

Helen Bell, ex-'30, is attending the University of Washington for her senior year's work.

Frances Belle Simkins, ex-'30, became the bride of Elmer J. Gibson in Portland September 30. Mrs. Gibson is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. They will live in Seattle.

Robert G. F. Byington, ex-'30, is in Oakland, California, with the Foster and Kleiser Advertising Company.

Don Flangas, ex-'30, is with Hunt, Hatch and Company, commission merchants, in San Francisco.

News from Long Beach, California, tells of the wedding of Dorothy Belle Simpson, ex-'30, and Harley Osborne Fortner of Knoxville, Tennessee, which was an event of October 21. Mr. and Mrs. Fortner will make their home at Nokomis Circle, Knoxville. Mrs. Fortner was prominent in music, being a student of the cello at the University. Mr. Fortner is an attorney in Knoxville.

Laurence Thielen, ex-'30, is with the Carr Direct Mail Agency, Portland.

George Nelson Signor, ex-'30, has been making plans for an Oregon alumni dinner and gathering in Dunsuir, California, to include alums in all northern California. George is working for the Golden Rules Stores, Inc.

Jessie Boyd, ex-'30, is attending Cornish Art School in Seattle this year.

1931

Bessie Schoenberg, ex-'31, is studying dancing in New York under Martha Graham, nationally recognized dancing teacher. Miss Schoenberg has a tuition scholarship of $500 and a living scholarship in the Neighborhood Playhouse School for this year. She is taking drama, dancing under Miss Graham, music composition and singing. She is now in the "sacred circle of 14," the pick of Martha Graham's students, and she has been chosen as one of the three to be the exponents of Martha Graham's type of dancing.

Dorothy Fraley, ex-'31, and Evans W. Van Buren were married November 7 at the home of the bride's parents in Portland. Jane Fraley, sophomore at the University, was her sister's only attendant. Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren are making their home at the Hamilton Arms Apartments in Portland. Mrs. Van Buren is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She has been connected with "The Spectator" in Portland since April.

Mayhew Carson, ex-'31, and Miss Edna Greene of Hood River were married June 5, 1929. They are residing in Hood River.

Ada Allman, ex-'31, is attending Baldwin's Secretarial School in Portland.

Eli Hall, ex-'31, is principal of Rose School, Roseburg. Mrs. Hall was Marie Gilkeson, '26. She teaches freshman English in the high school.

1932

Clyde Kershner, ex-'32, is with the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, lumber firm which has recently built a new large plant in Klamath Falls.

Miss Spofford Is in St. Paul

MISS MARTHA SPOFFORD, for many years continuations cataloguer of the University of Oregon library, is now librarian and professor of cataloguing at the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minnesota. She left for St. Paul last July.

Miss Spofford was with the University for about thirteen years, although during that time she stopped work several times to travel abroad. Many trips to Europe have made her a seasoned traveller, and her good advice to anyone on the campus contemplating a "first trip" was eagerly sought.

Miss Spofford was a graduate of the University of Vermont. She received her library training at New York State Library School. Upon coming west she travelled over the state of Oregon for a time establishing and cataloguing small libraries. She then went to Pacific University, where she was librarian. She came to the University of Oregon from Pacific.

----- Clip Out and Mail to -----

OLD OREGON

Travel Service

Eugene, Oregon

WHERE are you going next year?

WHEN do you plan to make the trip?

WHAT transportation line do you prefer?

NAME..... CLASS.....

ADDRESS

CITY..... PHONE.....

THESE FAMOUS air transport lines are served by Richfield exclusively. Richfield provides power, speed, dependability to meet every conceivable flying condition. To more than satisfy the grueling demands of day-in and day-out aviation service, Get the super qualities of Richfield Gasoline for your own motor...ask for Richfield Ethyl if you drive a high compression car. At any station with the blue and gold Richfield shield.

RICHFIELD

COME ON, let's get going . . . now these essayists . . . who wrote Sartor Resartus? . . . Who cares? —Have a Camel. . . . You'll care . . . when you hit the exam tomorrow . . . curfew shall not ring tonight . . . somebody bring a pot of coffee from the Greek's . . . and another deck of Camels . . . thank heaven, the Camels never fail us. . . . Come on, let's get going. . . .

Earnest seekers after knowledge learn in the wee, small hours that Camel's goodness never palls; that the last Camel is as good as the first.