

Meet the Editorial Board

---

KAYLA DAVIS

Kayla is a senior in the Clark Honors College majoring in CDS (communication disorders and sciences) and minoring in special education. She works as a research assistant in the Optimizing Swallowing and Eating for the Elderly Lab where she is researching the impact of post-stroke swallowing disorders on caregiver burden for her CHC thesis. Outside of school, Kayla works as a personal support worker and enjoys knitting, playing piano, reading, and playing tennis in her free time. After graduating in the spring, she plans to attend graduate school to earn her Master's in speech-language pathology.

EMMA DORINSON

Emma is a senior in the Clark Honors College majoring in math and minoring in Spanish and economics. In terms of research, she will be exploring how the news around assets affects their price for her CHC thesis. Besides her editorial position for the journal, Emma works in the library as a writing tutor, and she will be teaching an introductory course on art history for first year CHC students. Emma's other interests include music, films, and traveling.

DAVID GRABICKI

David is a senior history and PPPM (planning, public policy, and management) major in the Clark Honors College. He has served as a research assistant for the Sustainable Cities Initiative working on a book project on designing streets for bikes and cyclists. His research interests lay at the crossroads between history and policy/planning. He is currently focusing on documenting a history of Oregon planning. His career goals vary by the day, but they center around transportation planning and further academic work. Outside of class or work, he can be found riding his bike around Eugene, reading, and bothering his friends.

JOSHUA PEARMAN

Joshua is a senior psychology major at the University of Oregon. He is a research assistant in the Social Affective Neuroscience Lab and Personality and Social Dynamics Lab, and is currently working on his thesis researching power, status, and group affiliation. He is interested in the science of teams in organizations, and hopes to both conduct and apply group dynamics research in the future. Outside of academics, Joshua enjoys reading sci-fi novels and watching films with his friends.

SHUXI WU

Shuxi is a junior majoring in anthropology, Asian studies, economics and international studies. Her research concerns globalization, urbanization, migration and new media. She plans to go to graduate school in anthropology. She is the associate director of the UO Associated Students of Undergraduate Research and Engagement and the vice president of the UO Anthropology Club.
