On your vacation trip—use this oil that

CHANGES PING TO PURR

—by cleaning out carbon as you drive!

Get all the benefits of 100% Pure Paraffin-Base lubrication PLUS freedom from carbon knocks — at no extra cost!

During vacation driving...hot days...long pulls up mountain grades...that's when excessive carbon in your motor causes overheating, loss of power, damaging knocks or "pinging."

That's an ideal time, then, to switch to Triton Motor Oil. Because it is Propane-Solvent refined, 100% PURE Paraffin-Base, it forms practically no new carbon—allows your motor to burn away carbon deposited by oils previously used. Within 2 to 3 thousand miles carbon ping is greatly reduced or entirely eliminated.

Triton Pays Many Ways

You not only get the finest type of lubrication money can buy but you get a cooler, smoother motor, a more enjoyable car to drive. You get better gas mileage, increased power. And you save on repairs and operating costs.

Next time, try Triton!

"I use Triton in my mail truck and when the engine was overhauled recently after 92,420 miles, the main bearings didn't need to be taken up at all. This fact alone proves to me that Triton really reduces motor wear. It's a great oil."

WALTER A. HANSEN, U. S. Mail, Pasadena, Calif.

"Some three thousand miles ago I started using Triton Motor Oil in my 1937 Chevrolet. The ever present carbon knock has completely disappeared now. Triton has freed the rings and valves and decreased consumption because of its very low carbon deposits."

Two Local Groups Organized

After two enthusiastic organization meetings, the Lane County alumni completed reorganization plans, adopted a constitution and a new set of by-laws, and elected officers.

Dr. Edward Gray, ex-'18, president; Dr. Melville Jones, '29, M.D. '32, vice-president; and Eunice Elliott, ex-'36, secretary, will guide the affairs of the association during the coming year. The new officers with six more members to be picked by the president will form the board of governors as provided in the constitution. In addition to these officers, President Gray will appoint chairmen and members for the nine permanent committees of the organization.

The permanent committees include: student welfare and employment, student activities and sports committee, advisory committee on University policy, high school student counselor committee, membership, public relations, social, homecoming, and reunion and commencement committee.

The first meeting was held on August 3 in the Guild theater on the campus with Bill Bartle, '30, LL.B. '32, acting as chairman. Ron McCreight, ex-'29, president of the state association, told the group what part local clubs can play in the work of the association. After discussion from the floor, a committee was nominated by those present to draw up a constitution and by-laws and to nominate officers for the association.

Those named to the committee from the floor were: John Pennington, LL.B. '35; Rogers Kimberling, ex-'30; James Gilbert, '03; Mrs. Victor P. Morris, '39; and Claire Kneeland, '27.

The group reassembled on August 17 to consider the report of the nominating committee. The new constitution and by-laws were adopted and the officers elected. Dr. Gray announced that his board of governors and committees would be named soon.

The Dalles Club

Despite the blistering weather of 111 degrees, Oregon alumni in The Dalles and neighboring communities met at The Dalles hotel for dinner on the evening of July 27 to consider the organization of a local alumni club.

John Dick, president of the associated students and a Dalles resident, and Elmer Fansett, alumni secretary, were present to show the group the natural color motion pictures taken of the campus during the past year.

Those present resolved themselves into a committee to meet and draw up a constitution and by-laws for an association. The next meeting is planned for the near future with President Erb or other University official present to address the group.

The Cover

OLD OREGON is indebted to Bruce Hamby, publicity director for the Associated Students, for furnishing the cover drawing of Tex Oliver and much of the football material in this issue. The cover picture and team statistics all appear in DUCK DOPÉ—a magazine with the "inside stories" sent to all sports editors.

OLD OREGON readers are thus privileged to have all the information on the 1939 Webfoots in this convenient form.

Webfoot Rally

A slight rain failed to dampen the spirits of the "Oregon Family" when 4500 alumni, Dads and Mothers, students and prospective students of the University gathered at Jantzen Beach in Portland on August 23 for the annual "Webfoot Rally."

The affair started at 5:30 when the Portland unit of the Mothers club began serving a picnic dinner, the Portland Dads club served hot coffee to the group. The program was broadcast over radio station KEX and was composed of student talent and speeches by President Donald M. Erb and Coach Howard A. Hobson. Lon Kennedy, '38, acted as master of ceremonies. The group then spent the evening dancing.

Student chairmen for the affair were Bob Hochuli, '40, and Martin Reig, '40; they were assisted by Bettylou Swart, '40. Mrs. C. C. Wintermute, president of the state Mothers club and Mrs. Herbert M. Clark, president of the Portland Mothers club, were in charge of the dinner and were assisted by Ann Wenworth Staley, '28. Dr. George W. Hoffman headed the coffee committee for the Portland Dads club of which Dean Vincent is president.

Registration day 1938. This year's enrollment is expected to set a new record.

Religion Department Starts Classes

Plans for a modern department of religion, to be administered by Dr. James Rodney Branton, an outstanding leader in this field, have been completed for the coming school year at the University.

Dr. Branton, who will come here from Linfield College where he was professor of religion, will head the department, and in addition coordinate other religious activity on the campus. He will also teach a course in the philosophy of religion, and courses in character education in the school of education.

Although still a young man, the new department head has had a brilliant educational and scholastic career. He was graduated at 20 from Mississippi College in 1926, and at 23 he received his bachelor of divinity degree. He then studied for two years at the University of Berlin, and in 1934 received the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Branton's teaching career includes two years as professor of classical languages at the University of Oklahoma, in addition to three years as professor of religion at Linfield. He has also specialized in psychology, and speaks several languages fluently.

The department of religion, already set up under the college of social science of which Dr. James H. Gilbert is dean, will offer courses in origins of religion, great religions of the orient, and the great religions of Palestine and Arabia. It will continue to be non-sectarian, and its aim will be to acquaint the students with the far-reaching influences of religion in the cultural history of the world.

Dr. Aitchison

Dr. Beatrice Aitchison, M.A. '37, of Washington, D.C., and outstanding expert in statistical and mathematical phases of economics, will become a member of the faculty of the University of Oregon this fall. She will teach courses in "Statistics and Applied Economics" and "The Mathematical Economists."

At present Dr. Aitchison is statistician for the Interstate Commerce Commission. The new faculty member received the degrees of doctor of philosophy and master of arts from Johns Hopkins University. Since then she has served as associate professor of mathematics at the University of Richmond and has been a lecturer in mathematics and statistics at the American University graduate school in public affairs in Washington. For a time she was also in charge of the statistical laboratory, graduate school of the department of agriculture.

A brilliant academic record won for Dr. Aitchison membership in Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity, Sigma Xi, science fraternity; Pi Lambda Theta, educational society, and Phi Delta Gamma, fraternity for graduate women. She is also a member of the Mathematical Association of America, American Statistical Association, Econometric Society, and the American Association of University Professors.

Dr. Aitchison was field supervisor for the WPA historical records survey in Oregon in 1936. She has travelled extensively abroad, and has spent much of her time in Washington, D.C. Her father, Clyde B. Aitchison, LL.D. '37, is a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Alfred Lomax Returns

Alfred L. Lomax, '23, professor of business administration at the University of Oregon, will return from a one year's sabbatical leave at the University of Hawaii, Honolulu.

Arthur G. Dudley, '34, assistant professor of business administration during Professor Lomax's absence, will continue as a member of the school's faculty. Mr. Dudley is now on an extended trip of eastern states, where he is contacting foreign trade firms and chambers of commerce regarding special problems of business administration. During the 1939-40 school year, Professor Lomax will devote one-third of his time to the geography department.

Moll to Australia

Professor E. G. Moll, member of the faculty of the English department, left August 15 for Australia, where he will serve for a year as exchange professor at the University of Sydney. Coming to the University from Sydney will be Miss Marjory Bannon, lecturer in English, who will take over Professor Moll's classes.

The return to Australia will be a true "homecoming" for Professor Moll, who was born in Victoria and spent his youth on that continent. He attended Concordia college in South Australia before coming to the United States to obtain bachelor and advanced degrees at Lawrence college and at Harvard university.

Anthropology Trip

Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department, returns to the campus after a summer spent in the ancient lake region of southeastern Oregon with a party of nine advanced students. The group invaded new areas in the search for evidences of the race of men who roamed the region thousands of years ago. The party, gone nearly two months, was able to bring back more than 500 archeological specimens.

The party spent a great deal of its time at "Cave Number Three" in the Summer Lake region, which gave the party many specimens of basketry, knives, sandals and other material. These artifacts will be checked this winter to see if new data can be added to that already gathered by Dr. Cressman and his previous parties.

The New Oliver Twist

By BRUCE HAMBY
ASUO Publicity Director

Oregon's football prospects for the 1939 campaign appear definitely better than a year ago but the Webfoots still rate in the "dark horse" category.

Coach Tex Oliver will have a better balanced squad with which to work and his material, on the whole, is of a more certain quantity. Eighteen returning lettermen, plus several experienced reserves, will give him a tested nucleus for 1939 operations.

Add to the stronger material the fact that Oliver's coaching system will be better instilled after his inaugural season and it is easy to see why Webfoot fans hope for an improved showing this fall.

Losses from the 1938 squad were fairly heavy but for the most part will be replaced with competent, experienced players. The team will be somewhat lighter but faster.

Regulars from the 1938 squad who will be missing are Nello Giovanini, guard; Bill Foskett, tackle; John Yerby and Lenard (Bud) Robertson, ends; Hank Nilsen, quarterback; and Jim Nicholson and Ted Gebhardt, halfbacks.

Nilsen, Nicholson and Gebhardt were backfield mainstays throughout the 1938 campaign and their graduation leaves the Webfoot ball-carrying department open for replacements. Although the backfield material is not as imposing on paper as it was a year ago at this time, several talented performers who fit in well with the colorful, effective Oliver offensive set-up were uncovered in spring practice.

Prospects for a strong line are much more promising than last fall. Lettermen are available at all positions and upcoming newcomers and holdover reserves form a capable reserve contingent.

Webfoot coaches were particularly pleased with the spring practice showing of "Big Jim" Stuart, 225-pound junior tackle, and Vic Reginato, veteran end. Smart, fast and aggressive, Stuart already is being compared with such former Oregon line stars as Bill Morgan, George Christensen and Del Bjork, all outstanding professional players. Reginato, who shines in all departments of play, should have no peers among Pacific coast wingmen this fall.

Another standout of the successful spring session was piledriving Frank Emmons, the 215-pound Beaverton buster. Emmons' great speed and terrific line smashing power stamps him as one of Oregon's greatest fullbacks in many seasons. In sprint tests last spring he was beaten only by Jay Graybeal.

Position by position, the Webfoots shape up as follows:

Center—Three experienced players on hand with little to choose between them. Jim Cadenasso and Al Samuelson alternated throughout the 1938 season with Erling Jacobson also seeing action. Any one of the three may open this fall.

Left guard—Best bet to start is Ernie Robertson, a reserve last fall but with much experience both in the line and backfield. A trio of promising sophomores will back him up. Ray Segale appears the outstanding first-year lineman on the squad with Bernie McCudden and Bob Davis also likely prospects.

Right guard—Cece "Ox" Walden, a two-year vet, should be outstanding this fall. He will have strong backing from Bud Nestor, letterman; Mel Passolt, holdover reserve, and Brick Wilson, likely looking transfer.

Left tackle—"Big Jim" Stuart, hailed as an outstanding candidate for all-star honors and a likely 60-minute man, is a cinch to start. Art Winetrot, holdover reserve, and Len Surles and Jack Sickel, are husky sophomores to back him.

Right tackle—Two capable senior lettermen are available in Ray Elroy "Swede" Jensen and Merle Peters. Either can start without changing strength of line. Bob Hendershott, converted end, best sophomore understudy.

Left end—Bob Blenkinsop, letterman who looked good in 1938, good bet to start but will have to beat out "Wild Bill" Regner, and Hymie Harris, top-notch sophomores, both in line to see much action.

Right end—Vic Reginato, two-year veteran, is one of best wingmen on coast. Jim Harris, sensational transfer prospect, and Willie Reynolds, scrappy reserve, will lend reserve strength.

Quarterback—Dennis Donovan was a virtual regular last fall, alternating with Hank Nilsen. Roy Dyer, outstanding sophomore blocker, will back him up, aided by Frank "Jack"

September 1939

Spratt, junior college transfer, and Bill Hawke, 1938 reserve.

Left halfback—Jay Graybeal, the Pendleton jackrabbit, is back, stronger and faster than ever. Three other leading prospects are Leonard Isberg, triple-threat reserve; Doug Caven, 1938 frosh star, and Frank Boyd, promising junior college addition.

Right halfback—Two veterans and an outstanding junior college transfer assure plenty of strength here.

Bob Smith, hard-running senior, and Don Mabee, shifty runner converted from an end post, are the lettermen. Buck Berry, prize of the junior college influx, may surprise with his powerful running.

Fullback—Two outstanding veterans are available in Frank Emmons, the 215-pound race-horse, and Marshall "Bull" Stenstrom, sophomore line-smashing find of the 1938 season. Steve Fowler, fiery sophomore, is also being groomed for action.

Coach Oliver rates his prospects as stronger at every position, although there is still room for improvement and a need for more reserves in spots. The 1939 schedule, with no mid-season eastern trip, also appears due to help in the general outlook.

Practice will get under way Thursday, September 14, with between 50 and 60 varsity candidates due to report.

Record Enrollment Expected

An all-time high in enrollment at the University of Oregon has been predicted for September, when an expected 3600 students will flock to the campus to resume studies.

At least a 10 per cent increase in the number of enrollees is indicated by the number of advance applications that have been received to date. Discussing the potential "greatest year," and the September 28-30 registration, President Donald M. Erb said:

"More men and women of distinction have been added to the faculty, many constructive changes have been made in the physical plant, and further desirable developments are in prospect. The University of Oregon is prepared for a successful year."

To the new students he said, "Those of us who have been on the job this summer will welcome you to the campus in September and take pride in making you feel at home in this University."

Since 1934 enrollment has been increasing steadily. With 2386 enrolled in 1934, the University's low point was reached, a figure more than a thousand below the coming year's prediction.

1938-1939 Sets Record

The school year 1938-39 has broken all records for enrollment at the University of Oregon, with a grand total of 3644 full time students, the report of the registrar, Dr. Earl M. Pallett, to President Erb, shows.

The total represents an 11 per cent gain for the past 10 years, since registration in 1928-29 reached 3277. The mark this year is also substantially above that set in 1930, when it rose to 3359, and is well ahead of 1937-38, the previous high, at 3439.

During 25 years the enrollment for the institution has increased five-fold, from 732 in 1913. Continued gain is foreseen since the freshman class last year of 1166 was also an all-time high.

All of the 36 counties in Oregon, 33 other states, Hawaii, Alaska, District of Columbia and six foreign countries, sent the record number of 3644 students to the University of Oregon during the past school year.

With a total of 954, Lane county leads all others in numbers. Multnomah county, which sent 919 students, was second, and Marion with 123 was third. Other counties with more than 50 were Clackamas, Clatsop, Coos, Douglas, Jackson, Klamath, Linn, Marion, and Umatilla.

California sent 310 students. Washington was second with 72, and Idaho third with 40. Students came from as far away as Florida, New York, Massachusetts, and other states. Foreign countries represented included Canada, Russia, India, Dutch East Indies, and Philippine Islands.

Top. Louis Artau, popular music professor, whose specialty is musicology. Center. A woodwind trio and a clarinet trio practices for the band and orchestra. In the center of the clarinet group is John Stehn, leader of the band and woodwind instructor. Bottom. Rex Underwood, professor of violin and director of the University symphony orchestra which has appeared on many nationwide broadcasts.

Assistant Named

Les Harger of Sacramento, Cal., was recently named assistant educational activities manager for the University of Oregon after a special meeting of the activities board, it was announced here.

Harger will take office in September as assistant to George Root, educational activities manager. A former student of Sacramento Junior college, Harger first gained prominence on the Oregon campus as a drum major with the band.

Jason D. Lee, G. '37, LL.B. '39; Melvin C. Rooney, LL.B. '39; Hale G. Thompson, LL.B. '37; Robert L. Welch, LL.B. '38; Stanley R. Darling, G. '35, J.D. '39; Philip Hayter, G. '35; Carl G. Helm, Jr., LL.B. '39.

Bernard B. Kliks, G. '37, J.D. '39; George F. Smith, G. '37, LL.B. '39; Minore Yasui, G. '37, LL.B. '39; Ralph M. Holmes, G. '37; Wallace L. Kaapcke, G. '37, LL.B. '39; Orval H. Etter, G. '37, J.D. '39; Frank Nash, G. '37, J.D. '39; Warren C. Gill, LL.B. '39.

Mother's Scholarships

Three graduates of Oregon high schools have been awarded Oregon Mothers club scholarships. Marguerite Grace Campbell, graduate of Lincoln high school of Portland; Maryjane Bovingdon, Oakland; and Ruth Louise Baker, Redmond, will have the use of funds raised by this organization of mothers of University of Oregon students.

Miss Baker received the D.A.R. award, graduated as an honor student, was president of the Girls' League, vice-president of her class, editor of the activities section of the school annual, and is interested in music and literature.

Miss Bovingdon's many activities in school included the office of class president, three year member of the executive council, class valedictorian, and editor of her high school paper. She also served as assistant superintendent of the city park and tennis court project.

A niece of the late Prince L. Campbell, president of the University for more than a score of years before his death in 1924, Miss Campbell was an honor student for four terms, and has shown keen interest and talent in both art and music.

All three scholarship holders will enroll in the University at the opening of freshman week, September 25.

water during the Ice Age, provided the party with many interesting geological specimens. They also explored the site of an ancient lake in the southeastern corner of the state near the Nevada line.

On the shores of ancient Alvord

Lake, the caves yielded signs of human habitation, leaf fossils and vertebrate remains—one believed to be the tooth of a rhinoceros.

Fossil remains of an elephant found by a highway crew near Jordan Valley were presented to the party and will form a part of the permanent collection of the Oregon Museum of Natural History located on the campus.

28 Pass Bar Exams

Twenty-eight alumni and ex-students of the University passed the examinations and were admitted to legal practise in the State of Oregon, the state supreme court has announced. Of the 28, 15 received their law degrees from the University this June; 5 received their degrees in previous years; and 9 took their law studies at other schools.

The supreme court announced that of the 95 applicants only 61 or 64 per cent were successful. Of the 17 students receiving their degrees from the University this spring, 15 or 88 per cent were successful. This continues

The Players on Oregon's 1939 Team

"Cat" Cadenasso (Jim). Martinez, Cal. 192. Senior. Played freshman ball at St. Mary's in 1935 before transferring to Oregon. Alternated as a regular last fall, will be a strong contender for regular post again in 1939. Nickname "Cat" very apt; he is fast, strong and exceptionally agile. Excelled in linebacking.

"Jake" Jacobsen (Erling). Portland. 187. Junior. After a season on bench as a sophomore, "Jake" saw considerable action last fall. He is a steady defensive performer and a sure passer. Has even chance to start this fall.

"Sam" Samuelson (Allan). Winlock, Wash. 195. Junior. Proved surprise of 1939 season and moved into regular post soon after first game. Strong, tall and surprisingly fast for his size and build, he is highly effective on pass defense. Has even chance to start this fall.

GUARDS

"Ox" Walden (Cecil). LaGrande. 193. Senior. Was regular right guard last fall and took "iron man" honors with 427 minutes playing time. Powerful, heady player, strong defensively. Missed spring practice while catching for baseball team. Appears sure of retaining berth.

Ernie Robertson. Eugene. 193. Senior. Ernie spent two seasons moving from one position to another before being set at guard a year ago. Saw a great deal of play last fall and is the favorite at left guard. A steady, hard-working player with much experience.

"Biff" Passolt. (Melvin). Sprague River. 188. Junior. Used sparingly last fall after season on bench. Added experience expected to make him a strong contender for regular duty. Scrappy, hard-worker, hard to move.

"Tuffy" Segale (Ray). Seattle. 195. Sophomore. One of the outstanding sophomore additions to squad. Showed to good advantage in spring practice and appears headed for stardom. Smart, strong and likes rough going.

"Red" Davis (Bob). Forest Grove. 188. Sophomore. A converted fullback who starred on the 1938 freshman eleven. Fits well in a guard position and may develop into first string player.

"Bud" Nestor (Francis). 188. Senior. Transferred to Oregon year ago last spring and quickly moved into contention at right guard. Broke in midway in season and won letter. Very aggressive and fast.

TACKLES

"Swede" Jensen (Roy). Eugene. 210. Has been a regular for past two years. Aggressive blocker and strong defensive player. Missed spring drill with injuries but is expected to retain regular job.

"Pete" Peters (Merle). Portland. 212. Senior. Regular past two seasons. A reliable veteran with speed and experience. Will have to beat out Jensen since being moved to right side of line this year.

"Big Jim" Stuart (Jim). Hermiston. 225. Junior. Rated "tops" among Webfoot linemen. Utilizes his weight with surprising speed and agility. Considered by his coaches as outstanding prospect for all-star honors. Can't get too tough for him.

"Dutch" Winetrost (Art). Grants Pass. 208. Junior. Was a non-playing reserve.

Built like a barrel but has unexpected speed and is cat-like in movements. Strong defensive player.

"Doc" Hendershott (Bob). Bend. 196. Junior. Did not see any action last year as an end, was moved to tackle last spring. Picked up his new duties quickly. Strong, rugged and fast. Former state prep pole vault champion.

"Silent" Surles (Leonard). Bend. 198. Sophomore. Outstanding among sophomore line talent. Showed well in spring practice and may move up with added experience.

ENDS

Vic Reginato. Klamath Falls. 190. Senior. Has been an outstanding player for the past two years. A fine pass receiver and ball hawk and has developed into a great defensive player.

Bob Blenkinsop. McMinnville. 187. Senior. Broke into lineup midway through 1938 season and is expected to carry on as first stringer at left end this fall. Also a fine basketball player; uses speed and ball handling ability to shine as pass receiver. Good defensive performer.

"Little Jim" Harris (Jim). Long Beach, Cal. 165. Junior. Transfer from Compton junior college. Light but fast and tough. A good all-around end despite lack of size. Will push Reginato for regular right end berth.

"Wild Bill" Regner (Bill). Portland. 188. Sophomore. Another find from freshman ranks. Regner has great all-around ability; fast, strong and a great pass receiver. Also a standout track man in the weight events.

"Hymie" Harris (Hyman). Seattle. 185. Sophomore. Regular freshman end last year. Stood out in spring practice chiefly on his brilliant defensive play.

QUARTERBACKS

"Irish" Donovan (Dennis). Portland. 188. Senior. The fiery red-head alternated with Hank Nilsen as a regular last fall and is certain to hold his job in 1939. A vicious blocker and tackler and a fine pass catcher.

Roy Dyer. Bend. 185. Sophomore. Played right half with 1938 freshmen but was moved to quarterback so his blocking ability could be better utilized. Is one of the best blockers on the squad.

"Jack" Spratt (Frank). Monrovia, Cal. 186. Junior. Transfer from Pasadena junior college, where he was football co-captain in 1938. Steady, hard blocker who may see much service in his first season of conference play.

John J. Blew, ex-'79

John Jefferson Blew, ex-'79, died in Bend, Oregon, on August 11 at the age of 78. Mr. Blew was a member of the first class to enroll in the University when it was founded. In the January, 1934, issue of Old Oregon, Henry Fowler, '14, included a short sketch of Mr. Blew in his account of Bend alumni.

"Oregon pioneer and pioneer of the University is John J. Blew, ex-'79, who sold his farm near Eugene and entered the prep department the year the University was established, entering University proper the year following.

"However, alumni records did not show John J. as an alum until year before Dean John Straub's death, when venerable Dean "discovered" his former student residing in Bend and made a special trip to visit with him after forty years separation. The reason for his name not being on records: Because after first regular year at University John J. decided to go places and do things, never received a degree.

"Blew had an eventful life as a railroader, later becoming interested in lumbering. For many years now he has held a responsible position with Brooks-Scanlon Lumber company, Bend. Blew recalls a chance meeting once with Professor Thomas Condon, who mistakenly believing Blew to be in hard circumstances, emptied his pockets and offered the resulting two dollars to the younger man. This occurred during Blew's railroading days. Blew has never been to a University homecoming."

Surviving him are his wife, Rose; his son, Emmett A. Blew of Portland; and a stepson, Harry E. Benford, also of Portland.
