

Fear of "the Other" -- South Carolina

This is my tenth blog posting documenting the rise of hatred and intolerance in the United States under the heading Fear of the Other. The specific manifestations of fear and hatred in each state are different but the themes are depressingly similar. The fact that a former President continues to lead the charge to stir up this hatred is deeply disturbing.

Entries are, as always, illustrative and not exhaustive, and appear in reverse chronological order.
