

Cover Art: “αλλος”

Olivia Black*

αλλος is a part of the Greek root word for "allergy." αλλος, meaning "other," has held significant meaning for me growing up with a severe allergy to milk. This illustration depicts me as a child during allergy testing. I feel this drawing is representative of the spirit of undergraduate academic endeavors because it represents overcoming the challenges of our past and working them into our identities of the future.

Medium: Digital art, iPad 9th Generation. Created with Procreate.

*Olivia Black (oblack@uoregon.edu) is an undergraduate student at the Clark Honors College and is passionate about environmental education and community engagement. Majoring in Environmental Studies and minoring in Earth Science and Creative Writing, Olivia ultimately plans to pursue graduate school and become a STEM educator.