Cover in Words

Throughout the nation last week practice started for what is predicted to be the greatest football season in history. The quartet pictured on the cover will lead the University of Oregon attack through a rugged nine-game Pacific Coast conference schedule. At top left is Jake Leicht, an All-American halfback on last year's Webfoot eleven; at top right is Jimmy Newquist, halfback, a regular on the 1941 team; bottom left shows Bob Koch, fullback, a regular in 1941 ho teamed with Newquist on the famed St. Mary's pre-flight team while they were in the service; and bottom right pictures burly Duke Iversen, quarterback, another regular of the 1941 team who is regarded as the best blocking back in the conference. A renown undergraduate, Anderson was student-body president, president of his freshman class, and held membership in Druids, junior men's honorary; Friars, senior men's honorary; and Scabbard and Blade, military honorary. The new alumni secretary saw combat with the infantry in the European theater of operations, holding the rank of captain, and was awarded the bronze star and silver star for meritorious service and the purple heart with two clusters for wounds suffered in action.

Letter From Alumni Secretary

IT was with great pleasure that I accepted this opportunity to serve you as your Alumni Secretary. Already I have met many of you on my recent trip throughout the State this past summer, and have heard your views and comments as to how our alumni association can build a better University of Oregon. I think we are all agreed that the value of a strong association is immeasurable, and it is our goal to make it so.

Right now the University of Oregon includes the largest student body and staff in its history. Our president, Dr. Newburn, an exceptionally fine leader, has a well-defined program which points toward an even greater faculty, more adequate facilities and buildings to accommodate our tremendous post-war development and an institution of increased usefulness to our community.

The coming Student Union Campaign will probably be one of the largest projects this association has ever undertaken, but we feel confident that we can count on you, because you were once a part of the University, and its growth and greatness rests directly in your hands.

The sole purpose of our alumni association is to stand behind its school, to serve it in any way it possible can. There are a hundred ways all of us can be of service. Last year's paid alumni membership reached upwards of 2,500 and this year your alumni officers are hopeful of doubling that figure. We believe that the goal can be achieved by presenting a program sufficiently inclusive and interesting as to appeal to all our members.

Before very long I hope to meet with each one of you, either here on the campus or on one of my field trips. We want you to feel that you are an integral part of our University, and at any time you might have any suggestions which would improve our standing, do not hesitate to call on us.

Sincerely,

Les Anderson
 Alumni Secretary.

Oliver Greet Record Football Turnout Reed, Winkleman, Join Coaching Staff

THAT the University of Oregon will have its best football team this fall since the era of the quad fence and turtle-neck sweater is something that not even Head Coach Gerald A. (Tex) Oliver, one seldom given to pre-season optimism, will deny.

But in the same breath it should be added that, like Oregon, every other school in the Pacific Coast conference will also have its best team in history this year. All of which makes for an interesting gridiron season but a rather difficult task in trying to figure which team will win the title and its New Year's day emolument, a Rose Bowl invitation.

At present the Webfoots can be pegged little better than a darkhorse, for the following reasons:

1. USC has the unbelievable total of 43 lettermen on its team, coupled with the experience and prestige of three straight Rose Bowl appearances.
2. UCLA is strong in all departments and, like the Trojans, have the advantage of having played football during the war.
3. OSC, WSC and Washington, all with larger turnouts than Oregon, will be exceptionally tough nuts to crack. Oliver rates the Beavers the best in the Northwest.
4. California, playing under a new coach, Frank Wickhorst, is stronger than most critics in the Bay area are willing to concede.

5. The Webfoots face what is probably the toughest schedule in the conference, playing nine straight games without a break.

6. Idaho and Montana, two teams who in former years could have been classed as "breathers," have good material, and the Vandals, who won the basketball championship last spring, are determined to keep winning.

7. Another schedule woe for the Webfoots, more important than number five, is that they play their last five games away from home, the last two against traditional opponents Washington and Oregon State.

Of the above reasons number one is probably the most important but none of the rest can be overlooked. No prognosticator has failed to pick USC for the championship.

OLIVER, who starts his sixth year at the Oregon coaching helm, will present one of the best starting backfields in the conference. The line, which contains few players of demonstrated ability, is the big problem, and if it can be developed the Webfoots might well become the surprise package of the conference.

The coaching staff has been augmented to take care of the largest turnout in Oregon history, numbering 90 players, which reported for practice September 3. Vaughn Corley, the veteran line coach, is back to resume his post. Ben Winkleman, ex-backfield coach at Stanford and head coach at San Jose State, replaced Mike Mikulak as backfield coach. Mikulak resigned during the summer to accept a commission in the regular army. Dick Reed, a former Oregon great who has helped coach the Webfoots in the past, was signed as end coach.

Heading the classy array of backfield performers is Jake Leicht, the speed demon who garnered All-American honors last year. He is slated for the left halfback role, where he will receive stiff competition from Jimmy Newquist, a 1941 regular. Newquist, a triple-threat ace, may be shifted to right half, keeping him and Leicht in the same combination.

Duke Iversen, one of the best blocking backs in the conference, will be at quarterback, and another 1941 regular, Bob Koch, at fullback.

Others who will see action in the backfield are Bill Abbey, quarterback; George Bell, Norm Van Brocklin, Aubrey Van Loo, Benny Holcomb, Bob Reynolds, Bill Behrens, Glen Wilson and Don Shaffer, halfbacks; and Bill Davis and Walt Donovan, fullbacks.

Oliver Greet Record Turnout

Tony Crish, a two-year letterman, is one of the few tested linemen available. He will probably get the starting nod at left end. John Kaufman, a standout last year, is back to fill a guard slot, and Brad Ecklund, a pre-war Frosh player, heads the center candidates.

The rest of the line is uncertain and competing for the starting nods are Wayne Bartholemy, Pete Torchia, George Dugan, Dick Brown and Art Milne, ends; Curt Deskin, Chuck Elliott, Don Stanton, Pete Miller, Harry Edwards, Bill Morin and Dean Sheldon, tackles; Ted Meland, Bill Murphy, Harold Lloyd, Steve Mazera and Tony Novacik, guards; and Don Martin, Joe Olsen and Bill Bayliss, centers.

Many newcomers reported in the opening turnout, including several freshmen who may see plenty of action before the season is over. However, Oliver has not had time to look over all his prospects and a starting lineup is the last thing he could possibly name at present. The squad includes 19 lettermen, 10 of pre-war vintage and nine from last year's team.

JV Teams Planned For All Sports

The University of Oregon will go ahead with a complete junior varsity program in all sports this year, starting with a football team that will play a three-game schedule.

Because of a conference ruling, which expires January 1, freshmen will be permitted to play on varsity teams, so athletic officials have decided on a junior varsity program.

John A. Warren, Oregon's capable and versatile coach, will direct the junior varsity football team through a three game schedule that includes a pair of games with the Oregon State junior varsity team and one with Southern Oregon College of Education.

Warren, whose phenomenal record as a high school and freshman coach is without an equal, guided the Oregon sport program practically single-handedly during the war. He coached the 1942 varsity football team, which was the only conference team to defeat UCLA, the Rose Bowl representative, and tutored the 1945 basketball team to third place in the national championships.

Warren's freshman football record at Oregon shows 18 wins, 10 defeats and 3 ties; his even more impressive basketball record is 108 wins against 22 defeats.

The junior varsity football aspirants will workout with the varsity team until Head Coach Tex Oliver selects the varsity squad.

Newburn Reports On President's Education Board

Written for Old Oregon
By HARRY K. NEWBURN
President

PRESIDENT Truman, on July 13, appointed a National Commission on Higher Education to "re-examine our system of higher education in terms of its objectives, methods and facilities; and in the light of the social role it has to play." The President further expressed the hope that the commission would concern itself with the following issues among others: "Ways and means of expanding educational opportunities for all able young people; the adequacy of curricula, particularly in the fields of international affairs and social understanding; the desirability of establishing a series of intermediate technical institutes; and the financial structure of higher education with particular reference to the requirements for the rapid expansion of physical facilities."

THE commission chairman appointed by President Truman is Dr. George F. Zook, President of the American Council on Education; and the Executive Secretary is Dr. Francis Brown, director of the Division of Higher Education, American Council on Education. In order that the commission might have the full cooperation of all relevant federal agencies, Dr. John R. Steelman, director of war mobilization and reconversion, was designated to serve as liaison officer between the commission and the executive agencies of the government.

The commission personnel includes, according to the President, "outstanding civic and educational leaders, and will be charged with an examination of the functions of higher education in our democracy and the means by which they can best be performed." The membership, in addition to Drs. Zook and Brown, includes the following persons:

President Sarah G. Blanding, Vassar College.

President O. C. Carmichael, Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Chancellor Arthur H. Compton, Washington University.

President Henry A. Dixon, Weber Junior College.

President Harold W. Dodds, Princeton University.

President John R. Emens, Ball State Teachers College.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, Kansas State College.

Vice President Alvin C. Eurich, Stanford University.

Mr. Douglas S. Freeman, Editor, Richmond News-Leader.

President Algo D. Henderson, Antioch College.

Very Rev. Msgr. Frederick G. Hochwalt, Director, Division of Higher Education, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

President Lewis W. Jones, Bennington College.

Dean Horace M. Kallen, New School for Social Research, New York.

Harry K. Newburn, who starts his second year as President of the University of Oregon, reaped further honors for the University during the summer when he was appointed by President Truman to the National Commission on Higher Education. The commission personnel includes outstanding civic and educational leaders of the United States, and will report directly to the President. Old Oregon requested President Newburn to explain the purpose and objectives of the commission. His story is printed on this page.

Mr. Fred J. Kelly, former Chief, Division of Higher Education, U. S. Office of Education.

President Murray D. Lincoln, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Dean T. R. McConnell, University of Minnesota.

Dean Earl J. McGrath, State University of Iowa.

Dean Martin R. P. McGuire, Graduate School, Catholic University of America.

Mrs. Agnes Meyer, journalist and social worker, Washington, D. C.

President Harry K. Newburn, University of Oregon.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, President, Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

President F. D. Patterson, Tuskegee Institute.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Mr. Mark Starr, International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

President George D. Stoddard, University of Illinois.

Mr. Harold H. Swift, Chairman, Board of Trustees, University of Chicago.

President Ordway Tead, Board of Higher Education, New York City.

President Goodrich C. White, Emory University.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, President, American Jewish Congress.

Our first meeting, held in Washington July 29 and 30, was given over "to a determination of the scope and nature of the activities in which the commission should engage, and the methods of procedure which should be followed." Dr. Steelman brought the following message from President Truman:

"I want to welcome the members of the National Commission on Higher Education as you gather for your first meeting. I am sorry that I am unable to greet you personally at this time. I appreciate your acceptance of the difficult and significant task that I have asked the commission to undertake.

"We face national decisions that are as important as any that have confronted us since the federal union was formed. These decisions are made in a democracy by the people, and not by a government apart from the people. Their choices are governed in large part by their opportunities for education aimed at producing effective citizens.

"For this reason, I view the work of this commission as vital to our national welfare.

"I wish you well, and hope to discuss the work of the commission with you at a later date."

Mr. Steelman's own attitude toward the work of the commission was evident when he stated: "I am confident that this opportunity to chart the course of higher education for the years ahead is a public service of the greatest importance."

Plans Made for Record Number; 5500 to Enroll

Written for Old Oregon
By CURTIS E. AVERY
Registrar

IN terms of enrollment, the academic year 1946-47 will be the largest in the history of the University of Oregon. On September 1, approximately 5500 old and new students had been cleared for admission or for return to the campus, and presumably could be housed in Eugene or vicinity. The largest previous registration at the University was 3303.

The admission of new students is already 123 per cent higher than last year. In the student body of 1946-47 there will be approximately 2200 students who have never attended the University before. Approximately 3300 former students will return, some of them after an absence of three or four years. The freshman class will be the largest, with between 1700 and 1800 students.

The University has also set a new record in the number of applicants who have been refused admission. Because non-residents of the state may not be admitted unless they have distinctly superior high school or previous college records, the Registrar's office has been kept busy for the first time in its history saying "no." As of September 1, the number of denials was 444.

ALL estimates on the enrollment at the University are subject to change, depending upon the housing situation. The general policy since July 1 has been to let available housing be the determining factor in admissions of otherwise eligible applicants. As of September 1, there were approximately 900 applicants clear for admission on academic grounds but who had not received their certificates of admission and who will not receive them until they indicate definitely that they have places to live. These 900 applicants who are still "on the fence" are not included in the estimated totals given above. Should any considerable number of them find places to live, the enrollment would obviously approach 6000. At present, however, it seems unlikely that many of these will find housing. The situation in Eugene is acute and the housing facilities seem to be saturated.

During the academic year 1946-47, the men of the student body will be in the definite majority. Roughly, there should be approximately 3500 men and 2000 women. Of the men, approximately 60 per cent should be veterans.

THIS, then, is the situation on the eve of fall term registration. What has the University done to meet the demands of what appears to be a critical situation? It is not expected that it will be drastically necessary to change the time schedule of classes. All departments have cooperated fully in shifting their time schedules in order that greater use will be made of the Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday sequence, and earlier morning hours and later afternoon hours. At present it does not seem likely that it will be necessary to schedule Saturday afternoon classes or classes in the evening hours.

The erection of new quonset buildings has provided additional office and classroom space. Some classes will be larger Death came last May to Percy Paget Adams, assistant dean of the school of architecture and allied arts. Adams taught at Oregon for 47 years.

Curtis Avery Appointed New University Registrar

ANNOUNCEMENT was made in June of the appointment of Curtis E. Avery, an experienced administrator of veteran affairs, to the position of Registrar of the University, succeeding Earl M. Pallett, who was elevated to be Assistant to the President.

Avery came to Oregon from the University of Minnesota, where he had been on the staff since 1932 as assistant professor of English and editor of various University publications. During his last year at Minnesota Avery was Director of the Bureau of Veterans Affairs, administering to the personnel needs of more than 9,000 veteran students.

The new Registrar is a graduate of Pomona College and did graduate work in the school of journalism, Columbia University, as well as Yale and Stanford.

Avery served in the war for three years and ten months with the army air forces in Texas, India and Burma. He arrived in Eugene to assume this new position on July 15th.

than they have been in the past but probably not enough larger to impair educational efficiency. If the students cooperate fully in spreading their schedules into the days and hours not formerly considered most "pleasant," class crowding will be avoided and there will probably be no necessity for the drastic step of scheduling evening or Saturday afternoon classes.

The President's office has announced the appointment of more than 50 new members of the instructional staff to help in meeting the demands occasioned by

Death Takes Percy Adams After 47 Years at Oregon

CONCLUDING almost 47 years of active teaching at the University, Percy Paget Adams, '01, assistant dean of the school of architecture and allied arts, died Sunday, May 19, at Heceta Head on the Oregon coast.

Dean Adams first entered the University as a preparatory student 15 years after the school opened its doors and in 1899 he became a student instructor. He received his bachelor of arts degree in 1901, his bachelor of science in 1902. He became a full professor in 1914 when the art school was formed under the late Dean Ellis Fuller Lawrence and in 1922 was appointed assistant dean of the school of fine arts, (later changed to the school of architecture and allied arts).

He was to have retired from the University June 30, 1946, having served on the faculty longer than any other staff member.

the increased registration. Increases in the administrative and the clerical staff have also been made for the same reason.

THE Registrar's office has streamlined the registration proceedings to avoid the long lines and the milling crowds which would otherwise have made registration day strenuous. All students have been given individual appointments for registration and the period has been extended from September 18 through September 21.

It may be said that the University has the situation well in hand and is well prepared to meet the challenge of the increases in the student body.

HOSPITAL—Side Elevation, Cut-away View

OXYGEN TO BREATHE is the most important thing in the world to one who is ill and unable to get enough for life from the air alone.

The use of oxygen in medical practice has grown rapidly in recent years. Physicians have found it effective in the treatment of certain types of heart disease, shock due to wounds or injuries, following major operations, and for numerous other illnesses.

The need for extra oxygen is so frequent in hospitals that many of them, instead of depending on cylinders of oxygen brought to the bedside, now have convenient oxygen outlets in many rooms and wards. Oxygen is brought directly to the bedside through an unseen "pipeline" from a centrally located "bank" of oxygen cylinders.

Oxygen is a principal product of Units of UNION CARBIDE. It is supplied to hospitals—and in much greater amounts to industry for numerous mass-production operations—largely through The Linde Air Products Company.

Linde Oxygen is now so readily available that no one need ever be without oxygen for any purpose. Oxygen is but one of the many basic and essential products from UCC—materials which, all together, require continuing research and engineering work with over a third of the earth's known elements.

FREE: Physicians, nurses, teachers, and others who would like more information on the availability of oxygen, and on the various types of oxygen therapy equipment, are invited to write for a copy of the "OXYGEN THERAPY HANDBOOK." Ask for Booklet P-9.

400 Grads Return For Alumni Day

SOME 400 graduates, proving that Oregon spirit never dies, returned to the campus last June to meet their classmates once again and to relive happy undergraduate days in the University's first post-war Alumni Day.

Old, young and middle-aged, some dating as far back as the class of 1881 and many seeing classmates for the first time since they received their diplomas, they started activities Friday, June 15, with registration in Johnson hall.

Highlight of the day was the traditional alumni luncheon, held in John Straub hall, which featured a program of speakers from the various classes. Toastmaster was Ernest Haycox, '23, well known Oregon author and president of the Alumni Association.

Dr. Harry K. Newburn, President of the University, gave a brief welcome address and stressed the value of such gatherings. Anne Whitaker, '81, daughter of the first territorial governor of Oregon, was the first class speaker, followed by a classmate, Rev. Claiborne Hill, '81. In clear, distinct voices, they gave a picture of the University three years after its founding.

Virgil Johnson, '96, son of the University's first president and now director of the Freedman Home in New York City, spoke for his class and shared honors with William McClure, '96, a Seattle attorney.

Walter Winslow, '06, Salem lawyer, gave a brief resume of activities of the campus in his undergraduate days, and was followed by Walter Church, '16, Portland architect. Harris Ellsworth took time from his congressional duties to represent the class of '21, and Deloris Pearson Fawns, '26, motored from Fresno, California, to speak for her class. The last speaker was Ed Allen, '46, student-body president, who represented the June graduating class.

AFTER a reception in the afternoon in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Newburn, held in Alumni hall, the various classes adjourned to Eugene hotels for individual class banquets, and renewed acquaintances in a more informal atmosphere.

Events on Saturday included the annual meeting and breakfast of the State Association of University of Oregon Women at the Osburn hotel, and the semi-annual meeting of the Alumni Association in Guild Theatre, Johnson hall.

Sunday marked the 69th annual commencement at which graduates of the class of 1946 received their diplomas. The baccalaureate services were held in the morning at which Rev. Lawrence Nye, of the First Methodist church in Portland, gave an address entitled "Living Temples."

The traditional flower and fern procession at the site of the statue of the Pioneer Mother was held in the evening, followed by the commencement exercises. Dr. Newburn was installed as the eighth president of the University of Oregon at the commencement.

Dr. Newburn was installed by Aubrey R. Watzek, a member of the state board of higher education, and then delivered an address entitled "The Uncommon Man."

Annual Webfoot Picnic Held at Jantzen Park

WITH green and yellow crepe paper symbolizing the transformation, Oregon Webfoots took over Portland's Jantzen Beach park, Thursday, August 22. Approximately 1500 alums, mothers, dads, students and prospective students met to make up the largest crowd ever assembled at an Oregon picnic.

Jantzen's gates opened for the annual rally at 6:30 P.M. Members of Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary, greeted picnickers, then directed them to supper tables set up in the east grounds where hardworking dads in chef's caps and sophomore girls in Kwama uniforms served Oregon's hungry Ducks.

MUSIC by Jimmy Grier's band opened an entertainment program on the outside bandstand. In fast moving order C. Bob Moran introduced President Newburn, Hobby Hobson, basketball coach; Tom Oliver, football coach; Dean Women's Athletic and Student Body President Tom Williams. Interspersing talks by each of these persons were songs by Bonnie Campbell, the KGW quartet and a skit concerning the activities of entering coeds.

President Newburn emphasized the fact that Oregon's enrollment is expected to reach 5200 or more if the city of Eugene can provide housing. Oliver and Hobson discussed sports prospects in an enlarged university.

Webfoot couples continued the evening at a dance in the Jantzen Beach ballroom.

Student co-chairmen of the picnic were Ann Burgess and Gloria Grenfell. Their committee heads were Benny DiBeneditto, entertainment; Janet and Helen Hicks, decorations; Mart Pond, reception; and Roxie Sears, food. Portland and State mothers' and dads clubs supplied the food.

The class of 1926 at its reunion banquet at the Eugene hotel. George Hopkins was toastmaster and Harris Ellsworth, Oregon congressman, was the main speaker.

News of the Classes

Written for Old Oregon
By EDNA ZENGER, 46 and
GENEVA L. GARY

A visitor to the Oregon campus during Commencement was Dr. Arthur P. McKinlay, '93. For many years head of the department of classical languages at UCLA, he is now Emeritus and spends much time in writing. He and the two members of the class who live in Eugene, Judge Lawrence T. Harris, '93, and Mrs. Louis H. Johnson (Myra E. Norris, '93) with Mr. Johnson, '91, had a reunion dinner at the Osburn hotel on the evening of Alumni Day.

1895

Dr. Frank B. Matthews, '95, for ten years pastor of the Highland Baptist church, Portland, retired June 1 after 48 years in the ministry. Dr. Matthews, who was born near Carlton, has been prominent in the work of the Baptist church on the coast for many years. He has held pastorates in Corvallis, Roseburg, Redlands, Cal., and at the University Park in Seattle. He is a member of the board of trustees of Linfield college.

1898

Mrs. Edith Harris Martin, '98, is beginning her third year of teaching in the intermediate grades of Mosier, Oregon. Mrs. Martin attended preparatory school here first in 1892-94, then began her regular work in 1894.

1901

The memory of Brig. Gen. Condon C. McCormack, '01, has been honored by the army, by naming its new Pasadena general hospital after him. News of the honor was received by his widow, Mrs. Nina Wilkins McCormack, '05, who lives at 2140 Charnelton, Eugene. General McCormack had had 35 years' experience with the army medical corps, serving in the Spanish American War, and World Wars I and II.

1903

Chester C. Fisher, '03, reached federal retirement age this past July after serving almost continuously since his graduation with the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation. His long employment with the government was broken for several years when he was engaged as consulting engineer on irrigation in foreign lands; first, in the Virgin Islands; second, in Mexico; and third, in Russia. Since early in 1940 he has had charge of the project planning office at Salem, which covers Central and Western Oregon and Western Washington. He and Mrs. Fisher will continue their residence in Salem for the time being.

1908

Walter J. Moore, '08, water superintendent of the Eugene Water board, has been given the Fuller Memorial award, given annually by the American Waterworks association, in recognition of outstanding achievement in the field of water supply.

1912

Col. and Mrs. Aubery H. Bond, '12 (Faye Elizabeth Ball, '13) have returned from Puerto Rico where Colonel Bond was division engineer of the Antilles. They have been spending the summer at their home in Corvallis.

1916

The appointment of Dr. William H. Burton, '16, to be dean of the Harvard university graduate school of education was learned recently.

This was the first time a westerner has been named to a position of prominence in the Harvard education school. Dr. Burton was also made director of the Harvard University summer school.

1918

Lt. Col. Homer Kellems, '18, visited his mother in Eugene this summer while on a campaign to recruit high school and college teachers for GI schools in Japan. He is in the division of information and education of the War department. Colonel Kellems returned last summer from the Pacific, after setting up schools in India and China for the army.

1920

James Carter Brandon, '21, manager of the foreign trade and shipping department of Portland Chamber of Commerce, was elected vice chairman of the newly formed world trade section of the Western States council, at a meeting in Oakland, Cal., recently.

1921

Mrs. Maude Largent Houston, '21, has been appointed to the state board of regents by Governor Arnold Williams. Having long been interested in education, she served three terms in the Idaho state legislature and was a member of the education committee while there. She has also been a member of the Boise city school board.

Clares C. Powell, '21, is now president of the First National Bank of Monmouth and also is mayor of Monmouth. He is hoping to renew his contacts with the University and old friends now that war activities are over.

John H. Houston, '21, leading agent of the Equitable Life Insurance society of the United States in Oregon, was selected honor agent of his company for the year 1946. Mr. Houston was presented with the medal given with this award at a special luncheon meeting in Chicago, attended by delegates from all agencies in the central and western departments. He is a million-dollar producer of the T. Howard Groves state agency and has long distinguished himself as a leader in civic affairs. He is ex-mayor of Klamath Falls, past president of the League of Oregon Cities, past president of the Kiwanis club, past exalted ruler of the Elks, organizer and first president of his local Knife and Fork club, newly elected president of the chamber of commerce of Klamath Falls, and a member of the executive committee of the University of Oregon Alumni Association.

The idea of taking skis by plane into the isolated Diamond Peak snowfields originated with George K. Korn, '22, one of a party of four who were the first to ski on the slopes above timberline of this almost inaccessible area. Crosby and Dixon Perry-Smith, Ruby Frazier and Korn left Eugene about three in the morning one day last July and started the exhausting 10 mile climb from Cascade Summit. They reached the snowfields about 9:30—half an hour before the pilots of the plane had agreed to drop their skiing equipment. The unusual mid-summer expedition proved to be a most successful and thrilling experience.

Having left this country on July 1 for Leovetch, Bulgaria, Miss Elaine Cooper, '22, has assumed the duties of general administrator and dean of the American school there. Miss Cooper has been serving as head of the commercial department in the Bassick high school in Bridgeport, Conn., during recent years. She is being sent to the Bulgarian school by the women's division of the Christian Service group of the Methodist church not only as an administrative officer, but as a liaison officer between the Russian-controlled Bulgarian government and the school.

Dr. Oscar White Richards, '23, M. A., '25, is now chief biologist in the research division, American Optical company, Scientific Instrument division, Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Richards is the former Margaret C. Rosser, '25.

James B. Burleson, '23, has been elected city commissioner, City of University Park, Texas, a residential suburb of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. Frederike Dahlghen (Frederike Schilke, '24) is now working in the North Atlantic area for the American Red Cross. She is in the office of the area manager in New York City.

News has been received by Madame Rose McGraw of Eugene, that her daughter, Frau Rose Rocholl (Rose S. McGrew, '24), whom she had given up as dead, is alive and in Leipzig. Frau Rocholl had been living in Dresden with her husband and four children when Mme. McGrew last heard from her in 1943. When war came, their home was bombed and they were forced to travel on foot to Bavaria and thence to Leipzig, where Frau Rocholl is teaching to support her husband, who is ill, and children. Mother and daughter are unable to correspond, however, since Frau Rocholl is living in the Russian zone of the city.

Announcement has been made of the promotion of Victor S. Risley, '24, to vice president in charge of bonding of Durham and Bates, general insurance agency. Mrs. Risley is the former Catherine Henderson, '26.

Gala Homecoming To Be Best Ever

OREGON'S 30th annual Homecoming celebration hits the campus October 18, 19 and 20. Now in production, it is headed by Chairman Benny Di Benedetto. The wonder-packed event this year is being planned on a scale larger than pre-war celebrations.

"This year marks one of the earliest Homecomings in Oregon's history," stated De Benedetto, "and we're going to make it the best." He urged alumni to secure housing immediately if they plan to stay longer than one day.

Homecoming in the eyes of the alumni is when they renew friendships and form new ones. Alums returning to the campus this year will find the largest student-body ever enrolled at Oregon. Many changes have taken place on the campus; plans for the Student Union building have sped forward; and ground for a science hall has been cleared. They will see an Oregon which is growing to meet the demands of schooling in the post-war world.

Opening kickoff on the 18th will find alums and visitors registering in Johnson hall. Later the Alumni Executive committee will meet. Homecoming signs will be judged in the evening, followed by a noise parade and rally. The noise parade consists of floats made by the various living organizations, the winning float to be judged on the ability of its sponsors to make the most noise.

Saturday, the 19th, will find freshman traditions being upheld by the Order of O. a meeting of alumni for the nomination of officers and a gathering of alums and visitors for luncheon.

Oregon's Homecoming game with Washington State will begin with a dedication ceremony at 1:50 P.M. The event of the evening occurs at 9 P.M. when the Homecoming dance will be held at McArthur court, for which a "name" band is being secured. Sunday marks the end of all festivities, with dinners at living organizations.

DR. PAUL C. PACKER

Dr. Paul C. Packer, who succeeds Dr. Frederick M. Hunter as chancellor of the state system of higher education. Before coming to Oregon Dr. Packer was dean of the school of education at the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Paul Packer New Chancellor

LEAVING his position as dean of the school of education at the State University of Iowa, Dr. Paul C. Packer will take over the duties this month as chancellor of the state system of higher education. Dr. Packer was elected by the board to succeed Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor since 1935, who had asked to retire, effective July 1, 1946. The chancellor's office is in Johnson hall on the Oregon campus.

President Harry K. Newburn received both his A. M. and Ph. D. degrees from Dr. Packer's school, and has this comment to make on the appointment:

"I have known Dr. Packer for almost 20 years and believe the state board of higher education has acted most wisely in appointing him as chancellor.

"I feel that the institutions of the higher system will prosper and the cause of higher education will be advanced materially under his leadership."

Dr. Packer has a wide national acquaintance with educators, educational foundations and the staff of the United States Office of Education. He served in World War II.

IN announcing the election of Dr. Packer, Willard L. Marks, chairman of the board, pointed out that the Iowa man will be assuming the role of chancellor at a time when the state system of higher education is undergoing "growing pains" in every department. Among the problems to be met are housing, obtaining faculty, providing classroom and laboratory space for additional faculty members and obtaining equipment.

According to Marks the system's enrollment is 225 per cent above that of two years ago and 65 per cent greater than the previous record established in 1939, which was 11,400 students.

Dorm Ready; Helps Housing Shortage

THE sprawling prefabricated dormitory for single veterans which has popped up on "sorority row" will take care of 620 members of Oregon's expanded student body as the largest single addition in helping to solve the housing crisis. While the dorm is designed for fewer persons, the extra quota of men will be crowded in temporarily by converting part of the one and two bed-rooms into sleeping porches, and part into study rooms. Occupants will eat at John Straub hall until the quonset cafeteria which the University is building directly behind the dorm is ready to feed them.

Married veterans will be able to move into 24-family dwelling units, containing two-bedroom apartments, added on Columbia street. Other housing, all provided by the federal public housing authority, will be ready by winter term, it is anticipated. Another two-story dorm is going up directly north of the music school. And at twenty-second and Patterson, 248 family dwelling units are being reconstructed and refinished.

THE dorms were moved here from Hudson House at Vancouver, and the family units, both one and two-story, from Bagley Downs at Vancouver, and the Giles Lake project at Portland, according to A. G. Patton, project engineer for the FPHA. Patton said the dorms contain recreation rooms and central lavatories and showers. The family units also contain showers and lavatories. Coal and wood boxes and clothesline areas will be provided, and the sites landscaped.

Permanent housing also will see some changes this fall. All of the pre-war fraternities, with the exception of Delta Tau Delta and Phi Sigma Kappa, will be in operation. The Phi Gamma Delta house has been moved from Alder street to face fourteenth between Alder and Kincaid. Campbell club, at 1335 Alder, remains the only men's co-op open. Hilyard house, women's cooperative, has moved from the Pi Kappa Alpha house at 1436 Alder to 1391 Emerald. Judson house, Baptist women's group, has moved from the Kappa Sigma house at 793 east eleventh, to the old Campbell club house at 1332 Kincaid.

THE only sorority moves are the Delta Zetas from the Sigma Nu house on eleventh to the recently purchased Delta Tau Delta House, nineteenth and University. The Zeta Tau Alphas, who were in Hendricks hall spring term, are building on the corner of fifteenth and Alder.

Villard hall quarters, nicknamed "Old Veteran's Home" last year, will house 80 freshman non-veterans students. Emergency quarters in Gerlinger hall will take care of 36 women. John Straub will house 144 women, in Alpha, Gamma and Zeta halls, and 128 men, in Sigma, Omega and Sherry Ross halls.

HOBBY INSTRUCTS AT COLUMBIA

Howard (Hobby) Hobson, University of Oregon basketball and baseball coach, spent six weeks of the past summer at Columbia University giving basketball coaching courses. He also did some further study towards his doctor's degree in physical education and some research work in basketball for a future publication. While back East Hobson watched Dick Whitman, one of his prize products, play for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Turnbull Now Dean; Thackery To Follow

Written for Old Oregon
By WINIFRED ROMTVEDT, '47
Managing Editor

ALTHOUGH he will retire in July, 1947, after 29 years with Oregon's school of journalism. George S. Turnbull has been appointed dean of his school for the coming year. He will be succeeded next July, following his retirement, by Russell Ira Thackrey, dean of administration and professor of journalism at Kansas State college. Both appointments were made at the July meeting of the state board of higher education.

Mr. Turnbull, who became acting dean of the school of journalism upon the death of Dean Eric W. Allen in 1944, received both his baccalaureate and master's degrees from the University of Washington. In 1905 he became managing editor of the Bellingham (Wash.) Reveille; later he served ten years on the editorial department of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Before coming to Oregon in 1917, he spent a year on the Seattle Times.

During the summers Dean Turnbull has worked on the San Francisco Chronicle, in the '20s, on the Oregonian in Portland, in recent years, and taught journalism at the University of California.

AMONG his writings is "The History of Oregon Newspapers," which critics consider the best history of a state's press. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity; Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary; American Association of University Professors and the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

Mr. Thackrey will come to Eugene from Manhattan, Kansas. He received both his baccalaureate and master's degrees at Kansas State college, and has done extensive work toward his doctoral degree at the University of Minnesota. He has served on the journalism staff of both schools, at Kansas State from 1923 to 1935, and at Minnesota, from 1937-40. He became head of the journalism department at Kansas in 1940.

On military leave for about 18 months, Thackery was a navy lieutenant and traveled in the Pacific combat zone as a writer. Back at Kansas in 1944, he became dean of administration.

Besides working on a number of newspapers, Thackery has been correspondent for such papers as the Kansas City Star, and has edited the Kansas Industrialist and the Kansas Magazine. In addition he contributed to the section on "Propaganda and Public Opinion" in the recent book, "War in the Twentieth Century," edited by Willard Waller.

The Kansan is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Quill club, American Association of University Professors, American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, American Association of Teachers of Journalism, American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Legion, Scabbard and Blade and Rotary club.

Dean George S. Turnbull, whose appointment as dean of the school of journalism was announced in July. Turnbull, who has been acting dean since the death of Eric A. Allen, will retire next July.

Russell I. Thackrey, presently a member of the journalism faculty at Kansas State College, who will become dean of the Oregon school of journalism next July following the retirement of Dean Turnbull.

Loye A. McGee, '29, has been appointed a special services officer at the Veterans Administration hospital at American Lake, Washington. In this capacity, he will be in charge of the hospital's educational, recreational and athletic activities. A veteran of three years in the navy, McGee has taught at Mamaroneck, N. Y., Western Washington College of Education at Bellingham, and the University of Oregon, where he was teaching health and physical education. His wife is the former Lottie Bennett, '30, of Pendleton, and they have two daughters, Sally Jo and Loy Anne.

Essie Audrey Hendricksen, '29, recently received her M.A. in Government from George Washington University at the graduation exercises at which Miss Margaret Truman received her B.A. in history and her father, the President of the United States, was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Dr. and Mrs. Wesley V. Frick, '29 M.D. '31, of Dayton, Washington, spent the month of June in New York and Boston, where Dr. Frick attended post-graduate medical clinics. He is the president of the Walla Walla Valley Medical society for the coming year.

E. Irene Hollenbeck, '29, is now living at 1100 Chemeketa street, Salem, where she is employed as biology teacher in the Salem high school.

Amos Burg, '30, world adventurer, sailed through the waters of Puget Sound recently in a 40-foot sail-rigged boat, the Endeavor, on his way to Alaska via the inland passage.

The Endeavor is a 36-year-old veteran which has seen much use in life-saving work on the Columbia. Burg expects to return in October, completing a 3000-mile voyage which he will describe in a magazine article.

Lt. Col. Lawrence E. Parks, '30, was awarded the Bronze Star medal by the Ninth Service Command at Fort Douglas, Utah, for "meritorious achievement" while serving with an army replacement depot in British New Guinea. He served in the Pacific theater for 30 months. Mrs. Parks is the former Mabel E. Ringwall, '41.

Maurice D. Sussman, '30, has again established his law practice with offices in the American Bank building, Portland. He is associated with F. C. McDougal. Mr. Sussman's military duty included an assignment to the judge advocate's office, where he assisted the judge advocate and gave legal advice to enlisted men.

Sweet Home Union high school's superintendent since 1939, Gilbert A. Sprague, '31, has resigned to enter private business in Eugene. The school's student body was doubled during his tenure.

Maj. Harold James Kinzell, '41, left recently for Yokohama, Japan, where he has been assigned to duty with the regular army. He received his B.S. degree in 1931, and his law degree in 1933, later practicing law in Portland. Maj. Kinzell served in the European theater for 22 months and was wounded in the North African campaign. He then served as commander of the Holyoke, Mass., recruiting office after which he received orders to proceed to Japan.

Lt. Col. William H. Fowler, '31, is now head of the department of military science and tactics at the University. This position was formerly held by Maj. William S. Averill, who was transferred to the Fort Lewis separation center. Col. Fowler returns to Eugene from extensive combat duty overseas with the 44th division, which included campaigns in Eastern France, Germany, Bavaria and Austria.

Jack H. Stipe, '32, writes that he is out of the service and has recently been appointed chief of the social service division in the V. A. Department of Medicine and Surgery for Branch Office No. 2, which includes New York and Puerto Rico.

Prior to his discharge, Jack had been administrative officer for the military government staff section at Seventh Army headquarters in Heidelberg.

Word has been received of the death of B. R. Johansen, member of the U. S. diplomatic corps, in Japan. His wife, Lucy Norton Johansen, '32, and two small children are now in Tokyo.

Col. James L. Travis, '33, has been recently transferred from Washington, D. C., where he was working on the Flying Missile, to Mines Field, California, where he is in charge of 80 army personnel at the North American and Northrup aircraft plants.

Returning to the University of Oregon after 13 years is Dr. Paul Ellis, M.A. '33, as associate professor of economics. Following a graduate assistantship here at the University, Dr. Ellis was an instructor at St. Helen's Hall junior college from 1933 to 1935. His experience includes a period of service at the college of the City of New York and instruction work at Columbia University in 1942-43. He received his doctoral degree from Columbia in 1943. Since 1945 he has been professor of economics and head of the department at Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos M. Lawrence, '35, (Frances Wilson) are now living in Seattle where Mr. Lawrence is teaching at the Lakeside school for boys. They spent the summer at Sherwood Forest Camp on the Washington coast with their two sons, David and Abbott.

Ronald A. Gemmill, '35, has announced his resignation as a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the formation of the firm Gemmill and McCarthy, investigators, at 41 Sutter Street, San Francisco, California.

Lt. Col. Mark E. Cory, Jr., '35, has returned to Portland on terminal leave after almost six years' active duty with the army. Colonel Cory volunteered for service in September, 1940, and was first assigned to the 7th infantry at Vancouver barracks. Going overseas as a captain in October, 1942, he took part in three amphibious landings in North Africa, Sicily, and Salerno with the 3rd division. He holds the Purple Heart medal, won at Casablanca, the Bronze Star, the French Petit Fourragere, and numerous battle engagement ribbons and citations. Colonel Cory will make his home in Portland with his wife, Mae Schnellbacher, '35, and two sons, Gregory and Mark III.

Dr. Murray L. Johnson, '35 M.D. '39, reports that he is finally settling down to a restricted surgical practice after several years of post-graduate work in Baltimore and three years' service in the navy. He is located in the Medical Arts building, Tacoma.

Major Henriette Horak, '36, was named one of the four outstanding women in journalism this summer at the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional fraternity, held in Chicago. Major Horak, who served overseas with the Waacs, is currently employed in Washington, D. C. Before the war she did publicity for the California raisin growers.

Merle B. Nash, '36, was elected state president of the Oregon Junior Chamber of Commerce at their annual convention in Klamath Falls, May 24-26. Mrs. Nash is the former Elaine Sorensen, '36.

G. Bernhard Fedde, LL.B. '36, and nine other representatives of the American Friends Service committee sailed last May for relief service in Germany, where they are working with British Friends for an 18-month period in the British zone, conducting a feeding and youth program. They are providing Quaker relief to nonrepatriable displaced persons and to German nationals in the Ruhr area. Mr. Redde attended the University of Munich in Bavaria for a year on a Foreign Student Exchange fellowship and completed his law studies at Columbia University law school and the University of Oregon law school.

Luther A. King, MEd '36, is the new superintendent of schools at Oregon City. Mr. King has been in the Oregon City schools since 1918. In his early days with the system, he was a manual training instructor and athletic director. More recently he was principal of the Oregon City junior high school.

In the course of a 45-day furlough T/Sgt. Mary Graham, '37, spent a few days visiting friends in Eugene. She is with the WAC stationed in Shanghai, China, where she served as chief clerk on Stars and Stripes until the publication was discontinued April 13. She was the only woman to serve overseas on the staff of the army publication Yank.

The former Oregonian has spent three years with the WAC. She wears three battle stars and has spent two years overseas. Sgt. Graham graduated from the school of journalism.

Back to the staff of Bostford, Constantine & Gardner advertising agency following his discharge from the army, went Reinhardt Knudsen, '37. He was an occupational counsellor for discharged veterans and did public relations work and was assistant editor of the 2d division newspaper at Fort Lewis, Washington, while in the service, and was separated as a S/Sgt.

Prior to going into the service, Knudsen supervised production of the Kaiser company employee newspaper, the Bosn's Whistle, produced by his advertising agency.

Maluta E. Read, '37, was back at the University this summer taking education refresher courses after 20 months' duty with the army in psychiatric social work. She will return to Dinuba, Cal., this fall (Continued on page 21)

Student of the Month

BYRON MAYO

President of the Interfraternity Council

In his position as head of the Interfraternity Council, By Mayo carries a great deal of the responsibility connected with the first fall rush week for men since 1942. For this reason in addition to his long record of leadership and activities, By has been chosen as September's Student of the Month. He is a senior in journalism, president of the Alpha Tau Omega house, and a member of Friars, the senior men's honorary.

CONGRATULATIONS TO BY MAYO, OLD OREGON'S FIRST STUDENT OF THE MONTH

Watch each issue of OLD OREGON for the outstanding man or woman chosen by a board made up of Dean Wickham, Educational Activities Director Dick Williams, Alumni Secretary Les Anderson, and Student Body President Tom Kay.

By Mayo, IFC Prexy, Selected First "Student of the Month"

UPON the shoulders of dark-haired, energetic and capable Byron Willard Mayo, president of the Interfraternity council, falls the task of directing the University of Oregon's first postwar fraternity rush week.

For that reason, and because of his outstanding activity and scholastic record, By Mayo has been chosen Old Oregon's first "Student of the Month."

When the war ended last fall and men began returning to the University, not a single fraternity was in operation. By last spring term all but a few were functioning actively, and this fall term each one will be back in operation.

FACED with the problems of postwar readjustment, Oregon Greek letter organizations will not return to the normalcy of the pre-war period. By unanimous vote of all its members the Interfraternity council decided to ban all forms of "hell week." This and other steps have helped ease fraternities into the pattern of a postwar campus.

In By Mayo the IFC chose an outstanding campus leader. Hailing from Washington high school in Portland, Mayo entered Oregon in the fall of 1940. He completed his freshman year and then spent the next four as a pilot in the marine air corps.

Last winter term Mayo returned to the University, and resumed his activities as assistant managing-editor of the Emerald. He was also named a member of Druids, junior men's honorary society, when the organization was re-activated last spring, acting as vice president.

Other activities included membership on the Junior Weekend and Food Conservation committees. He was also initiated to Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity.

After being elected president of his fraternity, Alpha Tau Omega, the Interfraternity council chose him as its leader, and he capped his achievements by being selected for Friars, senior men's honorary. This fall he is slated to work on the Homecoming committee.

Mayo, who now calls Seattle home, is a journalism major, and is interested in advertising. He has a 2.81 cumulative GPA.

In his spare time activity Mayo likes skiing, flying and writing. During the past summer he did test flying at the Sand Point naval air station.

Looking ahead with confidence to the ensuing year, Mayo expects more men to be pledged to fraternities during the year as war veterans complete their courses and leave school. Fraternities will be larger than ever before in their history, and have cooperated with University authorities in pledging to their fullest capacity to help alleviate the housing shortage.

Rushing Pamphlets Published

Pamphlets concerning fall rushing were published by the Panhellenic association and the Interfraternity council. The purpose of the pamphlets was to acquaint rushees with the different aspects of rushing.

According to Golda Wickham, dean of women, 299 women were cleared for rushing by the August 24 deadline. Throughout rush week the girls will be housed at Susan Campbell and Hendricks hall. Men who rush will stay at John Straub hall.

Law Students Pass Again

For the seventh consecutive year each University of Oregon law student who took the state bar examination passed. Privileged to practice law in the state now are the following Oregon law alums: George Luoma, LeRoy Elliott, Gerald Kabler, John Hathaway, and Herman Hahner.

James Buell, who took the examination by special permission, is a student in the law school who will complete work for his degree in December and then will be entitled to practice.

Haycox Gains Honorary Degree

Ernest Haycox, '23, nationally prominent Oregon alum, was honored by Lewis and Clark college in Portland this summer. The event occurred when the college conferred the honorary degree of doctor of literature upon the author. Portlanders also saw the world premiere of the film version of Haycox's new book, "Canyon Passage."

She's walking straight into GORDON'S . . . of course.

This year's class of feminine freshmen will enter a post-war Oregon of many changes. But they'll soon learn from their older sisters that the synonym of "Gordon grooming" and "good grooming" never changes. When she walks into Gordon's, the co-ed finds style in everything, from sweaters to date dresses - from cosmetics to underthings.

Ever see a picture of Tomorrow?

That's what this young lady is looking at. She's a brand new co-ed—an Oregon co-ed. The picture she sees is fine and clear, because this young lady is planning her own tomorrow. The picture includes many thing—dates, classes, new faces and places. Playing a vital part in all these plans is her appearance, her wardrobe. The co-ed who looks into tomorrow chooses her all-important wardrobe from the Bu-Tik. There she will find the perfect clothes, the RIGHT clothes. The Bu-Tik welcomes her.

Reunions Planned Preceding Webfoot Football Contests

Plans are now being formed to hold alumni reunions in three cities preceding Oregon football games, according to Alumni Secretary Les Anderson.

There will be a reunion in San Francisco Friday, October 4, on the eve of the California game at Berkeley. Another reunion is slated for Los Angeles Friday, November 1, the night before the Webfoots tangle with USC.

A cocktail party will be held in Seattle on Friday, November 15, with Oregon meeting Washington in its traditional inter-state feud the following day. Marshall Hopkins is in charge of arrangements for the Seattle reunion, and President Harry K. Newburn has made tentative arrangements to attend.

Oregon coaches will be present at all three reunions.

President Newburn's Report On Education Commission

five major areas were segregated for study and report as follows:

1. The basic responsibility of higher education in our democracy and in international affairs.
2. The organization and expansion of higher education based on national needs.
3. Ways and means of providing educational opportunities for all in terms of the needs of the individual and the nation.
4. Financing higher education (including the provision of physical facilities).
5. Providing personnel for higher education.

EACH commission member will be assigned to one of the above studies, and efforts are being made to secure the services of outstanding authorities to prepare the manuscripts under the guidance of the proper subcommittee. When tentative proposals are ready they will be presented to the entire commission for discussion and modification. It is assumed that at least two years will be devoted to the task of preparing the final reports for submission to the President.

The full commission will meet three times yearly, and the next session will be held in Washington, December 9-11.

to resume the teaching position she held there prior to her military service.

Wilbert E. Moore, who received his masters degree here in '37, has written a book on the place of the individual in a changing industrial society. The book, "Industrial Relations and Social Order," was published by the MacMillan Company, N. Y.

Vernon S. Sprague, '37, has been named assistant professor of physical education in the University. Following his graduation from Oregon, Mr. Sprague took graduate work at the University of Southern California and the University of Michigan. In 1942 he received his master's degree at Michigan. He entered service in 1942 and served until early this year.

Back to his alma mater, this time on the teaching end, comes Edwin C. Robbins, Jr., '38, this fall. He was appointed instructor in economics soon after his discharge from the army where he was a lieutenant in the quartermaster corps.

Robbins served as a graduate assistant here from 1939 to 1940 and was a teaching assistant at the University of California for a year. He received his MBA degree from Harvard University in 1943.

Mrs. Signe Rasmussen Asendorf, '38, visited this summer in Portland with her mother and recently returned to Berlin, Germany. Mrs. Asendorf met and married Werner Asendorf, '38, a German exchange student, while attending the University. She went with him to Germany where her two children, Charlotte, and Irene, were born. The children are remaining in Portland with their grandmother, expecting their parents to return to this country eventually.

Mrs. Anabel T. Allison (Anabel Maude Turner, '38) has her hands full with a new by-the-hour nursery for shopping or theater-going mothers in downtown Portland. Clients are between the ages of two and six years and lunches and naps are observed under Mrs. Allison's direction.

Winner of the Anna Louise Raymond foreign travel scholarship in 1942, Fredrick H. Heidel, '38, has been appointed instructor in art here on the campus. He has exhibited in several famous art galleries, and was granted a BFA degree from the Art Institute in Chicago and was subsequently an assistant to Boris Anisfield there. From 1945-46 he was instructor in drawing and painting in the GI university in Biarritz, France.

Dick Knight, '38, former manager of Commercial Credit corporation in Eugene, has recently gone to TWA in New York as an executive. His wife is the former Margery L. Kissling, '37.

David A. Silver, '38, LL.B. '40, has announced the opening of offices for general law practice in the Russ Building, San Francisco. Mrs. Silver is the former Winifred L. Green, '42.

Capt. Paul E. Wilson, '38, has been discharged after three and a half years' service with the army. A motor transport officer in the European theater of operations, Captain Wilson went overseas in September of 1943, participating in every battle from the Normandy beachhead invasion on D-day, to VE-day.

James M. Vieth, '39, returned to Ohio State University this past spring and wrote his master's thesis on "China," where he had spent the last two years with the Fourteenth Air Force, and received his master of arts degree at the June 7 convention.

Alexander I. (Al) Simpson, '39, who has been coaching the Medford Black Tornado football team for the past two seasons, has been selected to take over the post of football coach at Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland.

Mary Boyce, '40, is now an occupational therapist at the U. S. Veterans hospital in Portland. She was formerly a teacher at Roosevelt high school.

A new partnership has been formed between William P. Hutchison, '40, and Lawrence N. Jolma to practice as certified public accountants and tax counselors in the Dekum building in Portland.

Mrs. Anna Marie Huffaker Jacobson, '40, has joined her husband, Capt. Payton C. Jacobson in Panama. Captain Jacobson is stationed at Howard Field, in the army air force. Mrs. Jacobson spent about six weeks this past summer with Donald C. Kirkpatrick, '40, is now representative of J. Henry Helsler and company, investment counselors, in Klamath Falls. Mrs. Kirkpatrick is the former Margaret L. DeBolt, '42.

Harold M. DeCicco, '40, is now associated with his father in the firm of M. DeCicco & Son, tire jobbers for the state of Oregon and Southwest Washington. Harold was flying for the air transport command in China, Burma and India until his release from the service. Prior to this he was with the training command for two years as an instrument flight instructor.

Burton Boroughs, '41, who was released from the army this summer, has been appointed head coach and director of physical education at Sweet Home high school. Mr. Boroughs coached at Nehalem and Molalla high schools before entering the service.

Stanley Minshall, '41, who was a graduate assistant in the physics department, has left for Los Alamos, N. M., where he has been named to the staff of the Los Alamos scientific laboratory, in connection with development of atomic energy.

Capt. Bill Gray Fendall, '41, reports that he expects to be released as public relations officer of the Fourth Air Force soon—meanwhile he has been checking up on Oregon alums in the Bay area. He sees James H. (Jimmy) Leonard, '41, who is working for the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, quite often; he visited with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Schrick, '43, (Betty Jane Biggs, '43) in Yuba City, where they are editing and publishing the Yuba City Herald; also saw Joseph (Joe)

Callahan, '41, who is on the staff of The Examiner, San Francisco.

Lt. Col. Frederick B. Ehlers, '41, is now on terminal leave after five years' service in the army. He and Mrs. Ehlers (Eleanor Collins, '41) and their son, Frederick Douglas, are now at home at 2547 Eberlein street, Klamath Falls. Colonel Ehlers is associated with the Swan Lake Moulding company, as appliance manager.

Theodore Pilip, '42, has joined his father in the firm of V. M. Pilip, Inc., painting and decorating firm. He was a member of the 1942 championship baseball team and has served in the navy in the Southwest Pacific during the war.

Evelyn C. Johnson, '42, has been working as a copy-writer for the Joseph R. Gerber Advertising company in Portland since graduation. Also in that company are William D. (Bill) MacGibbon, '42, Francis D. Wieden, '43, and Roy N. Vernstroms, '40.

Walter L. (Pat) Keller, '42, completed his terminal leave as a captain in the army air corps in June. He is now working in Sacramento, associated with an architectural firm.

Capt. Harold J. Shearer, '43, has been employed by the Oregon Trail council, Boy Scouts of America, to serve as field executive with headquarters in Eugene. Captain Shearer entered professional scouting upon graduating from the national training school for scout executives and as active at Omaha, Nebraska, prior to entering the armed forces in 1942. He went overseas in 1943, and saw service in North Africa, Italy and Austria. He is on terminal leave at the present time. Mr. and Mrs. Shearer (Elaine Unterermann, '35) will make their home in Eugene.

Maj. John B. Harding, '43, army air forces reserve officer who served 19 months overseas as a pilot and operations officer, has been sworn into the regular army at Rome where he is serving as base executive officer in the air transport command.

The two Campbell boys, Don and Phil, '43, evidently didn't get enough of the Pacific ocean during their service in the marine corps, so they signed to go to Hawaii in a 56-foot yacht, the Pagan. They set sail from Seattle May 12, and about 1000 miles out, ran into a calm for six days. Not very long after that they hit the other extreme and fought high winds and 50-foot swells. They reached their destination in 29 days and joined the merchant marine to get passage back to the States.

Don was a first lieutenant in the marines and Phil, who completed two years on this campus and one on the University of Washington campus, was a technical sergeant in the corps.

Wilbur M. Osterloh, '43, received a scholarship to attend New York University, school of retailing, this year. He was accompanied by New York by Mrs. Osterloh (Erros Penland, '42) who may resume teaching in the east.

Captain Donald W. Treadgold, '43, arrived home in Eugene recently after being placed on terminal leave at Fort Lewis, Washington. He served in the infantry, spending the last two years overseas. While in service Captain Treadgold was awarded the European-African-Middle East campaign ribbon with four battle stars, a bronze arrowhead for invasion of Southern France and the Bronze Star medal. He will attend Harvard University this fall.

Wilma Jean Pimentel, '43, is teaching commercial subjects in Sacramento junior high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Kitchen, '43, (Helen Angell, '42), are on their way back to Cairo, Egypt. Jeff will be assistant chief of the lend lease division of Middle East Africa foreign liquidation commission.

Since their romance took them half-way around the world, they have seen quite a bit of the Near East. When Mr. Kitchen took a job in Cairo, Helen quit her job with the Readers Digest in Pleasantville, N. Y., and followed him there, to be married in the English Cathedral.

Mrs. Kitchen edited the Emerald in 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Tugman, Jr., '43, (Gerd Hansen, '45) are now in Seattle where Bill is attending the University of Washington to complete pre-medical requirements.

Dorothy J. Gustafson, '43, is teaching physical education in Klamath Union high school.

William H. C. Wood, '44, has returned to civilian life after serving three years in the navy as a pharmacist mate third class. He was stationed at St. Albans hospital, Long Island, N. Y., for a year and a half and then served on the yard mine sweeper 371 in the Pacific. Wood has gone to New York to attend the Academy of Dramatic Arts.

The youngest medical officer ever to head the neuropsychiatric department of the army air forces convalescent hospital at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Washington, is Lt. George A. Ulett, Jr., M.D. '44 M.S. '44. After interning in neuroanatomy at Multnomah county hospital, he was selected for a nine-month residence in Boston City hospital's Harvard neurological unit.
